FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1924

Over one billion bushels of wheat valued at about two billion dollars have been exported from the United States during the last seven years.

10,000 automobiles from other states have registered in the state of Oregon during the month of June. This number is larger than the number for the five preceding months.

The Oregon tuberculosis association was represented at the 1924 convention of the National tuberculosis association held at Atlanta, Georgia, by Seal Sale Director Rowan Wheelodon, in May. The 1923 Christmas seal sale had raised a sum of $4,422,000 and it was urged that health education be made a part of the regular curriculum of the school system.

Miss Marian Colley, of Washington, Georgia, a delegate to the democratic national convention at Madison square, New York, gained a lot of publicity, when it was believed that she had turned the tie vote on the Klan measure in the platform to one not favoring the insertion of the plank. But a recount showed that the bill had already failed in acceptance by four votes.

GREELY FAVORS LAW TO PREVENT FIRES IN FOREST

"How to Get to the Tenth Case" was the theme of a talk Monday noon at the weekly luncheon of the members forum of the Portland Chamber of Commerce by Colonel W. B. Greeley, chief of the United States forest service. The tenth case, he explained was the logger, the camper, the smoker who flitted with the menace of forest fire. Most persons, Colonel Greeley asserted, are careful in the woods, but he said steps—probably legal—must be taken to eliminate the danger that attends the activities of those who disregard the unwritten and the written laws of woodscraft.

The speaker lauded the awakening conscience of the public in the last decade, but asserted that more drastic action was needed to conserve the timber of the country. He cited the new McNary forestry law and commended its provisions. He predicted the law would be actively effective next year and that extensive appropriations would be forthcoming to further its usefulness.

Colonel Greeley urged the lumber industry to take greater precautions against fires, calling attention to recent disastrous fires in California, which were started by a careless logger who operated a donkey engine in territory where it was in violation of the law. He commended the sentiment of industry generally in its eagerness to co-operate with the state and the federal government in forest fire prevention, but asserted that this sentiment must be turned into action in the timber lands to achieve fullness.

DEMOCRATS FINALLY CHOOSE DAVIS

On the 103d ballot, John W. Davis, of West Virginia, was chosen as the democratic candidate for president on the withdrawal of McAdoo and Smith.

Mr. Davis gathered 835 votes and Underwood, his closest rival, 108. Davis has been in public life a long time and was not working for the nomination. He is considered a courageous liberal. Several years ago when in congress, as chairman of the national convention he put the first women suffrage plank in the platform of any party. He is said to be friendly towards labor, and since retiring from public life he has been a member of the same law firm that Grover Cleveland worked with after his retirement for public life.

METHODISM IS UNITED AGAIN BY AGREEMENT

Southern Methodists have voted overwhelmingly to accept the proposed plan for unification with the Methodist Episcopal church devised by a joint committee of the two organizations and adopted by the northern general conference recently in Springfield, Mass. Opponents, most of them in favor of unification but not under the particular plan recommended, could muster only 75 votes against adoption while the unificationists polled a total of 297. A two thirds majority was necessary for acceptance and it had been cast when the secretary still had nearly 100 delegates to poll.

5 FEET BY 14 INCHES SIZE OF HUGE TIRE

The largest tire in the world is being built at the Goodrich factories in Akron, Ohio. The tire, designed by the engineering division of the United States army air service, with whom Goodrich engineers collaborated, will measure more than five feet high with cross section measurement of 14 inches. Goodrich engineers estimate that the building of this tire, which is the first of a set, will require approximately 75 yards of fabric, 52 inches wide, several pounds of steel wire for the bead construction and approximately 70 pounds of compounded rubber. If this amount of raw material was applied in the construction of 30x3 1-2 inch tires, it would make thirty-five of them. However, more rubber would be needed in the construction of the small automobile cases, for a smaller proportionate amount of rubber is used in the construction of airplane tires owing to the small amount of wear experienced by the tread.

8 MEASURES WILL GO UPON NEXT BALLOT

The ballot at the November election will contain four initiative and four referendum measures. Of the referendum measures three were referred to the people by the legislature and on one the referendum was invoked by the people at the instance of the Associated Industries of Oregon. This latter measure is the act prohibiting the sale of milk and butter substitutes and is known as the oleomargarine and condensed milk bill. The measures referred by the legislature are: A measure requiring a literacy test for voters; an amendment measure providing for the condemnation of roads and waterways for the transportation of materials beneficial to irrigation and drainage; and a proposed amendment to the state bonus and loan act extending its benefits to veterans of the Spanish-American war. The four initiative measures that will go on the ballot, completed petitions having been filed are: A measure providing for a board of neuropathic examiners; a measure making operation under the workmen's compensation act compulsory, initiated by the Oregon Workmen's Compensation league; a measure initiated by C. C. Chapman for the repeal of the state income tax; and a bill to abolish the public service commission.

TURKEY STALK RATTLED

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ledgerwood are raising 500 turkeys this season at their ranch on Boomer Mill says the Myrtle Creek Mail. To protect the birds from the coyotes and other varmints they herd them out on the range, as one would sheep. The turkeys have a penchant for locating rattlesnakes, and Mr. Ledgerwood's son and daughter have killed some sixteen rattlesnakes recently which were stalked by the turkeys. Once the turkeys come upon a snake they let out a series of loud cries and begin milling about the reptile. This movement naturally confuses the creature and it coils up ready to give battle. At about this stage of the performance the turkey herders arrive on the scene and kill the snake, which enables the turkeys to again turn their attention to the storing away of the grasshopper crop and the converting of the same into choice eating for the Thanksgiving and Holiday seasons only a few months away.—Roseburg News Review.

EX-EVANGELIST SLIPS ALONG MUD

David Eugene Olson, who held revival services for the Tillamook Christian church about sixteen years ago is spending a very enjoyable vacation camping with his family on the banks of the Wilson river at the James Williams farm. They were initiated into ways of Tillamook tide flats recently when the boat they were rowing on the bay got stuck on the mud flats and was left high and dry several hundred yards from Bay City. Not caring to wait for the tide to rise they pushed the boat ashore on the mud and called upon the Tillamook-Rockaway truck line to haul the boat to its proper resting place up Wilson river.

THREE DEPORTEES WILL RETURN ON JAPANESE LINER

When the Japanese steamer Ginyo Maru of the T. K. K. company departs late this week from Portland for the Orient with a full cargo of grain, she will take with her three deportees, under arrangements made by the Oregon-Pacific company with the United States immigration service. Two of these deportees will be Chinese who deserted from ships in the Portland harbor recently and the other will be a Japanese sailor who left a ship in this port in April, 1920. The Ginyo Maru has completed lining and is at the Globe mill taking on a cargo of 6500 tons of wheat. In addition to this being the first wheat cargo loading in the new cereal year, the cargo also is an unusually large one.
