3. To urge the improvement of a port for Tillamook City.

ANTI-PREPAREDNESS SENTIMENT

Condemnation of the national preparedness program which has been planned for September 12th, is coming from some of the pastors of the state and their flocks. To please these people it would be necessary to go back to the old days, of blindness to the absolute necessity of national preparedness, which existed before the World War; back to the malingering which cost the lives of thousands of American boys in the battlefields of France—when it was found necessary to send untrained men to the trenches to stop the Huns in their fanatical march to conquer the world.

If these pastors are mentally big enough for the positions they hold and their congregations broad minded enough to carry on the Christian religion, why aren't they intelligent enough to realize that armed resistance may some day preserve the very bible upon which their religion is founded? Why aren't they able to see that physical force alone will protect them against powers which even now threaten to engulf the white man's civilization?

The idealist who can see no dangers lurking in the rosy pathway he trods as he goes blithely along his way of life, calls loudly for the police when suddenly confronted by the armed thug, purposed on taking his life and property. Will this nation have to stand idly by waiting for an actual invasion before a move will be made to organize its power for defense?

IS THE STAGE PROPERLY SET?

The stage is all set for the Elks convention. It is expected to be the greatest affair ever held in Tillamook. The stage is all set—but it is feared that the curtain is doomed to rise over a setting that has not been properly groomed for the drama. The local Elks committees report that the people of Tillamook city, owners of the great theater that is to house the wonderful affair have not tidied up the stage, and that the audience will be obliged to gaze upon a rather unkept setting.

The drama is a sort of a co-operative affair wherein the visitors, the local Elks and the local people take turns at being players, spectators and stage setters. The report comes that the city, the great stage, has not been given proper attention, and the supposition is that the people of the city have, for the most part, failed to concern themselves with their turn at arranging the scenes, because they feel that the work will be done for the benefit of some one else, and they are unable to see that it is their duty to clean up the town for the purpose of pleasing the eye of the visitor. From a standpoint of numbers of visitors, the editorial convention recently held successfully in Tillamook was a small affair as compared with this convention coming next week. The editors left with unlimited praise for Tillamook county, its industries and people, but very little favorable comment was heard in regard to the appearance of the city. With 6,000 men within the doors of this co-operative play house, observing eyes will take in the arrangement and neatness of the setting. They will be here to do some work but uppermost in their minds will be the enjoyment of their annual festival set aside for fun making, and they will carry home with them their impressions of the beauty or the lack of beauty in the stage setting. Co-operation is difficult unless all parties take their various turns willingly and energetically, and since all other requests have been met with in this manner it is hoped and expected that unsightly spots will be eradicated within the next few days. This is the wish of the hard working local committees who have unceasingly toiled, neglecting their own work, in assuring the success of the convention. Practically every other request has been granted, but the committee members are anxious that the stage be properly and neatly set before the curtain is drawn next Thursday morning. In short it is sincerely hoped that any untidy spots of the city and vicinity be thoroughly polished and put in neat order for the benefit of the city's good reputation.

SPARKS AND FLASHES

Forest fires grow without watering. A friend who let his camp fire get away now refers to himself as a "finished camper"—Says the judge did the "finishing" with a lecture and a fine.

Don't start anything you can't finish,—forest fires, for instance.

Great fires from little sparks are spread.

The trees of to-morrow are the seedlings of today.

"Those Carless Camper Blues"; sung by the C. C. Quartette. Tune: Fifty Dollars and Costs.

Good intentions never put out fires.

Did you leave your markers on the Great Tin Can Trail last time you went camping?

SAFETY: Putting out the last spark. Recommended for smokers and campers.

Happy the camper who knows his fire is out.

FIRE: "A faithful servant, but a mighty dangerous master."

OLD-TIME TILLAMOOK

35 years ago, Theo. Steinbilber, Editor August 9, 1889 Mr. W. Eberman, of Stillwell & Eberman, left for a short visit to Astoria Wednesday.

The State officers have finished making the appropriations among the several counties, of the interest on the permanent school fund. The total number of school children in the state reported by the superintendent is 93,098, total fund appropriated $130,377.20 of which Tillamook gets $1,179.40, having 836 children enrolled. Next time it will be twice that number.

H. V. Alley, of Onion Peak, was in town Monday, and being an old "type" naturally gravitated towards the "type shop," where he stood up the case and showed us that his hand had lost none of its cunning, by setting a few sticks. Mr. Alley's hands are not as soft as when setting type, but he is sure of three meals a day which is more than the average typographical artist can bet on.

Report says that the work is progressing well at the light house. Still we think that the 1st of September will not see it finished.

August 10, 1899, 25 years ago, Fred C. Baker Editor.

The kid ball players of this city played a like team from Bay City on Sunday and beat the visitors with a score of 12 to 32.

H. J. Blaesing, representing the Blaesing Granite Company, of Portland, was in the city the first of the week. He is quite a cyclist, riding the entire distance from Portland to Tillamook in 14 hours.

A high school course was begun for this district last fall with arrangements being made for a two year course. Classes in first year high school work were conducted during the last term.

The Board of County Commissioners, composed of County Judge Goodspeed and Commissioners Bodyfelt and Alley, is in session this week.

The surveyors who have been working on the Wilson river surveying over the Coast range for the United Railways Electric line, reached this city on Tuesday with the survey.

Roy H. Ogden, better known as "Bull Moose" skipped out of the country, much to the regret of the hotel men. It is supposed that he left on the Argo and left the steamer at Astoria.

Jesse E. O'Neil, the popular young druggist at Clough's drug store, was married on Sunday at high noon to Miss Blanch Smith at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, parents of the bride, of this city.

Know the Whole Story Before You Invest

Sellers of fake stock have to be good talkers. Otherwise they couldn't sell a single share or make a single dollar.

The fact that an investment sounds good, therefore, is not proof that it is good. It may be merely the skillful talk of the salesman that makes it appear promising.

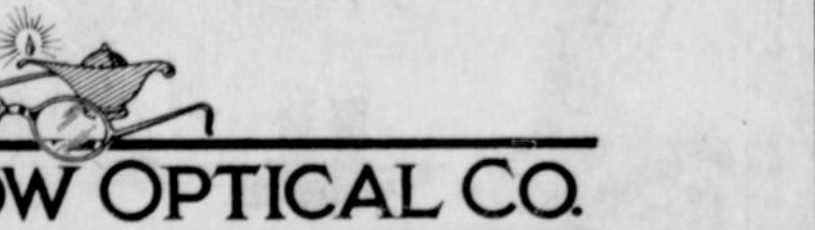

Before investing, make sure that the investment is as good as it sounds. We'll be glad to help you get the facts.
