We understand that surveyors are at Netarts endeavoring to find a more suitable route for the electric railroad to that place, as the previous survey was not thought to be satisfactory. There is some talk of the electric road going from Netarts to Bayocan park along the coast instead of around the south side of Tillamook bay.

FORTY ROUND CARD GIVEN HERE FRIDAY

Friday evening the forty round boxing card was one of the best that was ever staged in the city. All the preliminaries, and especially the light weight fight between Cracker Warren and Phil Bayes, were exceptionally good. The two main events, scheduled to last 10 rounds were ended by knock-outs. In his fight with Young Whitney, Billy Gardeau, of Weiser, Idaho, both at 140 pounds, had a tough man to stop, and was apparently taking good wallops on the head and face until the end came suddenly when Gardeau sent a well timed terrific smash with his right to Young Whitney's jaw when the latter ducked in the early part of the fourth round.

These two men had fought to a draw earlier in the year, both taking a lot of punishment. Friday night the fight started with Whitney landing smashes with both hands to the head and face. In the second Gardeau was against the ropes for several seconds but was taking the punches with out a great deal of worry. The third round found both men landing husky blows and both were taking them with no apparent sign of weakening. Whitney coming out with his prominent grin. The fourth started off as vigorously as ever and the K. O. wallop came without a previous sign of the fight's ending. Young Whitney who was giving his man a stiff fight went out for several seconds.

The semi-final was a good fight. Clark Johnson of Tillamook was considerably out weighed by Bert Tribby of Marshfield. Fans saw a wonderfully muscled young fellow in Tribby whose shoulders and arm muscles were massive. He out weighed the Tillamook boy by 12 pounds. At the start it looked as though Johnson's chance was small. Tribby started confidently with the first round ending in a draw. In the second both men took some terrible punishment with Tribby having a slight edge. His long reach and superior weight had Johnson worried and bleeding. The smaller man had abandoned his foot work and was standing up, giving and taking with opponent. Tribby's round. In the third Johnson came back strong and the look of confidence left the face of Tribby. He looked groggy but the grind was too severe for Johnson, who left an opening through which Tribby landed a heavy blow to the face that stopped Johnson's rally near the end of the round. The fourth was a good slug fest with Johnson doing some wonderful fighting. In the fifth it looked like Tribby was weakening under the strenuous milling. Both took a lot of punishment with Johnson having a slight edge. The sixth was the fastest, most furious and hardest grind ever witnessed in a local ring. Both landed haymakers, jabs and everything but kicks and bites. The round ended with both boys looking tired. Early in the seventh Tribby landed a jolt that sent Johnson to the canvas. The smaller boy was too game for he came back up immediately without waiting for a count of eight or nine. Knocked down again he staggered to his feet immediately to be bowled over for the third time. Referee Gruman gave the decision to Tribby.

The fastest fight of the evening was a pair of light-weights, Cracker Warren, Portland, 130 pounds, and Phil Bayes, Salem, 126 pounds. Bayes is one of the fastest and gamest boxers ever appearing locally. He rushed the fighting most of the way and followed up his leads all through the fight. Warren had a good eye and kept Bayes folted up all the time. Both boys worked hard, traded blows and fought every minute. The decision, a draw, was accepted heartily by the fans.

Lewis Johnson, 168, Tillamook, and Tommy McCarty, 166, Portland, went a six round bout of good fighting. The turning point was probably when McCarty charged into Johnson's corner at the beginning of the fourth to make quick work of the local man. Johnson ducked and landed several husky wallops that evidently weakened McCarty. Johnson was given the decision.

The Hallowell kids of Rector, George and Walter, weight about 80 pounds went three two minute rounds for a certain raiser. Putt Mathews took a count of ten in the third round of his scheduled four round bout with Troy Hines. Fred Hallowell, Rector, and Jack Snyder, Tillamook, 60 pound fans and were awarded a draw.

Moose Norbeck, wrestler with the A. B. C. shows announced his offer of a dollar a minute to any one staying with him on the mat. Lester Ketchell of Oakland, California challenged Bert Tribby after his bout with Clark Johnson. L. V. Jenkins, Chief of Police, Portland, and Harry White, Tillamook's chief, fought a one round verbal battle to a newspaper decision which is a secret. Incidentally Chief Jenkins said that Clark Johnson put up the best fight he ever saw from a nineteen year old boy.

CHEESE FROM NAPLES

The movement of cheese to the United States from Naples, Italy, is reported fairly good. American buyers have been taking quantities of the 1923 cheese. Prices are nearly 10 cents a pound less than the prevailing prices during April, 1923. Naples exporters of cheese state that they are feeling keenly the competition that is developing in South America. It is said that Italian cheese is being made in Argentina which is nearly as good as the Italian product and sells for considerably less. Italy exported, during the first two months of 1924, 3,804,000 pounds of cheese compared with 1,568,000 pounds the first two months of 1923, more than half of it coming to the United States.

ELK'S CONVENTION

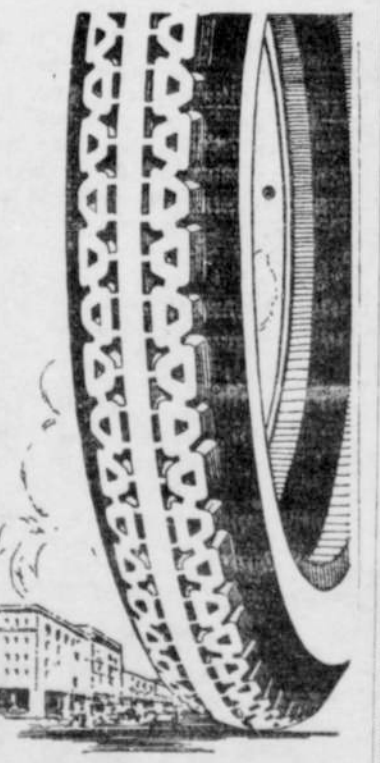

(Continued from page 1) was chosen first vice-president. David Kuratli, Tillamook lodge No. 1437, whose efforts have been efficient and untiring in the convention just past was chosen second vice president and G. E. Sanders, Albany third vice-president. Austin Hayden, Klamath lodge was re-elected treasurer.

Denton Burdick, Bend, next speaker of the house of state representatives, Homer Ross, McMinnville, and C. L. Sweek, Heppner, were chosen as trustees. Frank D. Cohan, who materially aided the Tillamook lodge in their convention arrangements, was given a unanimous vote of appreciation and thanks from the Tillamook and state lodges and was re-appointed secretary.

The sea-food barbecue Friday noon, the motor-cycle polo Saturday afternoon, which was won by the Portland Motor company team by a score of 4 to 2, the rodeo, A. B. C. attractions, sight-seeing trips, deep sea fishing and clam digging excursions, fights and dances were enjoyed by all who attended those features. The convention as a whole was a success in everything but finances. The local unit went to a great expense in putting the convention over and the committees' work was all appreciated.

One of the prettiest features of the convention was the parade that was held Friday afternoon. Bands of the lodges of Tillamook and McMinnville, the A. B. C. and Hobbs' orchestras and drum and trumpet corps from Portland, McMinnville and Salem lodges furnished music for the marching. Prizes were awarded as follows: Largest attendance, McMinnville; best industrial float, first prize, A. F. Coats lumber company, second prize Tillamook County Creamery association; tallest Elk, Drum-Major Lundenhauser, McMinnville; shortest Elk, Joe Germit, Miami, Arizona; bathing beauties' contest, first prize, Miss Mae Allen, Rockaway, second, Miss Mary Lamar, Tillamook; fattest Elk, Rollie Watson, Tillamook; best clown, Harvey Weber, Portland 142; oldest Elk, draw between John Leland Henderson, Tillamook, and Charles Ray, Clowdale.

Mr. Cook of the Webfoot Weekly film service, connected with the Oregon Daily Journal covered the entire convention and the pictures will probably be run locally in the near future. The horse-shoe tournament scheduled for 3 p. m. was cancelled and forfeited to the Oregon City team when they proved themselves to have a habit of tossing ringers and double ringers at will. In the trap-shoot the team from the Salem lodge won the trophy that was awarded by the Tillamook lodge. Their score was an average of 91 birds out of 100. The Portland team was a close second with 90. Tillamook took third place with 84, Corvallis fourth with 83, and McMinnville fifth with 75. This contest took place Saturday with each team represented by four men. On Friday the individual meet was held. Jess Troeh of Portland won first prize, a handsome three piece silver set donated by Backus and Morris of Portland for the individual high gun score. Mr. Troeh's score was 166 birds out of 175. Ten prizes each day were awarded the trap-shooters by local merchants and the men who participated and the committee in charge wish to express their appreciation for the efforts and donations that made the tournament a success.

"A History of the World War," a motion picture now in preparation by Alfred Powers, of the University of Oregon Extension Division, will be released in September. Mr. Powers is cutting the scenes most important historically from about a dozen official war reviews, which he is re-arranging, re-titling, and re-editing to form a six-reel film, to be included in the University Loan Collection. This film will satisfy a specific demand on the part of the schools, American Legion folk, and other organizations interested in historical subjects," stated Mr. Powers. The picture will show life among the men in the various forms of service during the war; famous battles, including Chateau Thierry, in which the American forces were active; leaders in the war, Wilson, Poincaire, Pershing and others; the machinery used in war; camouflage; and scenes which have historical significance.
