OUR EDITORIAL POLICY

- 1. To advocate, aid and support any measures that will bring the most good to the most people
2. To encourage industries to establish in Tillamook county.
3. To urge the improvement of a port for Tillamook City.
4. To insist on an American standard of labor.
5. To be politically independent, but to support the candidates for public office who will bring the most good to the people of Tillamook county and of the State of Oregon.

VOTERS SHOULD HAVE WORD

Special committees and small groups of citizens should exercise care in dealing with public problems so as not to bring discredit upon themselves and others.

While the county tax burden and the large amount of outstanding warrants are serious questions, they are questions which must be handled by the voters at large, and not a dozen or so who might get together for the purpose of curing the nation's ills.

Properly, the large-hearted citizens should get their figures together, then present them to the entire voting population in a public manner.

Publicity is the great panacea for what troubles the country at large. Once the truth is known by Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer they will straighten the matter out satisfactorily.

PRESIDENTIAL CHANCES

While our dear Bob La Follette is not expected to glean many votes in Oregon at the coming election, still there is a chance that he will get a few that should go to a better man.

With Wisconsin Bob in the presidential chair this country would see at least four years of the hardest times yet known in its history.

OUR FUTURE FARMERS

News of Tillamook walking away with the boys' and girls' club prize at the state fair only substantiates our faith in the county and the people who compose its population.

The youngsters who are responsible for the big success will in a few years be the prosperous dairymen and substantial citizens ruling the affairs of this county, that is if we are able to keep them here.

Close application and a thirst for knowledge, with the faithful cooperation of a club leader, have put this county at the top in another line of endeavor.

THE SHEARER HILL
How much longer are the good people of Garibaldi going to tolerate the death trap, know as Shearer hill, says J. U. Smith of Cherry Tree Camp. The elimination of this steep grade and curve is of as much importance to the people of Wheeler, Brighton, Rockaway, Bar View and all of the county as it is to Garibaldi.

to traffic next spring. The work should be done this coming winter while traffic is light. If your commercial club is unable to prevail, permit me to suggest that the ladies who drive automobiles hereabouts (and the percentage appears high) organize a committee to present the matter to road authorities, because they (the ladies) are not unlikely to kill their engines on this steep grade combined with a sharp curve on the edge of a high cliff.—Garibaldi News.

With the income tax law held valid by the supreme court more interest in the repeal will be manifest between now and election. Its adoption at a special election last November by a slight majority vote with a very light vote cast by the electorate may work its undoing at the next election. Many voters who voted for it then under the representation that it would be a panacea for the tax extravagance have changed their attitude toward it and its retention as a law is now questionable.—Sheridan Sun.

EXACTLY
R. G. Dun & Co. has this to say about the trade situation in Oregon: "Retail business is of fair volume and is expected to improve now that the vacation season is closing. Jobbers continue optimistic because of the higher prices ruling on most agricultural products. Labor is well employed in most parts of the state."—Oregon Statesman, Salem.

VOTERS: REGISTER!

The registration books for qualified electors will close on October 4th. After that date those who wish to vote at the November election will be compelled to resort to other means provided by law in order to express their preference for candidates or measures.

A big intelligent vote in Oregon this year means getting back on the map of state sanity. It means the defeat of radical men and radical measures. Oregon is put to the test this year just as surely as the old Beaver State has ever been up against a critical situation in its history, and the privilege of the electoral franchise is its greatest gift to its citizens who want to see Oregon grow and prosper.

Register! Then Vote!—Oregon Voter.

The industrial and business outlook for this section the coming year is getting brighter every day. Mills are all operating and camps have practically all resumed operations the past thirty days. This will give a large number of men employment and assure them of steady work for some time. Dairymen have not had a very good year and if the winter is some time, dairymen have had a mild winter will not be forced to purchase much feed and will probably show a satisfactory profit at the end of the year. Considerable revenue is now coming to owners and pickers of blackberries of which there is an excellent crop at a fair price. Fishermen have had steady run of salmon and the price being a little better than last year have no doubt made about as much money. The heaviest run is yet to arrive. Other lines are also in a healthy condition and indications are that business will be normal or better the coming winter.—Wheeler Reporter.

J. G. Smith has a big white cat which he is considering having examined by the humane society for possible movie material. This cat was given away and taken far into the country, but it came back. The question now arises whether it would not be possible to bob said cat's tail, ruffle its fur in the opposite direction and then be able to interest some movie corporation in him. Jim says he is at loss to know whether the party he gave the cat to treated him so badly that he simply couldn't stay, or whether it was the homing instinct that caused it to return home. Whatever its peculiarities or possibilities, will, of course, be brought out when

The Stage for Manhattan will leave Tillamook at 2:50 P. M. and arrive in Tillamook 9:40 A. M. excepting Sunday. Till further notice. M. J. Maddox, manager.

The American Legion, founded and dedicated to the good of soldiers of the world war as an order non-political, is facing a serious problem this year. The Legion, on its inception, was suspended by many as the probable or perhaps eventual body which would swing political elections.

Teddy Roosevelt himself a politician, promptly denied there was any political trend in the Legion and his word was seconded by others of prominence in the original birth. This year, however, after one presidential campaign passed without internal dissension, there is promise of possible trouble, for it comes from the east that some would make the Legion over into a single voting body if possible.

The Legion must be non-political as a body, for if there was an order or a recommendation that all vote one way, it would be a signal for disintegration.

Other warriors of the United States have been able to keep their organizations free from political bossism, and the Legion, stronger than any that have gone before, can maintain its unit neutrality of political schemers do not break in and disrupt. There is danger, however.—Coo's Bay Harbor.

BRYAN BOOSTS DEMOCRACY

Of course, it was to be expected that William Jennings Bryan, on his recent speaking tour in Oregon, would boost everything and everybody democratic from presidential candidate down. To them all he paid high tribute—Milton A. Miller for senator, Congressman Elton Watkins for re-election, Jefferson Myers for state treasurer, and others. Thousands were turned away from Bryan's speech at the public auditorium, Portland, but other thousands heard him over the radio. Bryan is respected by all, is a good rather than a great man, and his speeches are interesting rather than convincing.—Gresham Outlook.

The recent visit of Mars to the Earth failed to disclose or establish any definite facts regarding that terrestrial body. Notwithstanding revelations of powerful telescopes the visible evidences of a supposed artificial canal are vague and without satisfying foundation, and all conclusions as to inhabitants are conjectural. The fact remains that beyond Mars there are suns and worlds millions of times larger than the earth, in spaces that human thought cannot grasp. If inhabited it is also probable that, like earth people, they are unable to solve the simplest problems which their neighbors have to face. We do know, however, that everything in this uncharted universe moves on a definite system, no accident, no chance, created by some invisible intelligence beyond the power of man to understand. It may be that ere Mars makes another visit 100 years hence, this invisible creative intelligence will disclose some simple means of communication, but it will not be until the race is fitted for it mentally and spiritually.—Western World, Bandon.

A FARMERS' SPOKESMAN

In Oregon the Granges of Columbia county have called together the various other farm organizations and have initiated a movement to finance and send to the state legislature at its next session an active man to represent all the farm organizations and to work for whatever projects will benefit the rural interests, as well as to oppose those which are adverse to the farmer's welfare. The undertaking has been enthusiastically received by the farmers, whose response is very general.
