BUILDINGS TOO SMALL

Petition Filed to Create New Union High School District for North End

That there has been a great increase in the population of the county during the past year is clearly evidenced by the necessity of providing additional rooms in many of the schools of the county.

In an interview with County Superintendent Lamb this week it was learned that a number of school districts have been forced to enlarge their buildings while others are contemplating additions to relieve the overcrowded condition of the schools.

A third room has been added to the school house at Maple Leaf. This building was constructed only two years ago but the district has already outgrown it.

Two rooms were added this term to the Garibaldi school, making a total of eight rooms in the building.

The Wheeler school has been enlarged by the addition of three grade rooms and a gymnasium.

Another room has been built on the school house at Oretown which has heretofore had but one room.

At South Phairie work is being pushed on the new two room building which is being constructed at an estimated cost of $7000. The frame work is all enclosed and ready for plastering. The old building which is at present being used in this district was constructed in 1890. It will be torn down as soon as the new structure is ready for occupancy.

A $2000 play shed has been completed at the Pleasant Valley school.

Nehalem union high school district is calling for bids on a new $6000 high school building.

A petition has been filed looking to the organization of a new union high school district in the north part of the county which will include the Wheeler-Brighton, Rockaway, Balm and Barnsdale districts.

It is understood that the Bay City district is contemplating the enlargement of their building soon.

According to Superintendent Lamb the average yearly increase in the number of school children in the county for several years past has been 10 per cent and it is expected that it will at least be that great this year.

It is estimated from the increase in the number of school children in the county that the present population of Tillamook county is between 15,000 and 16,000.

JUSTICE COURT BUSY WITH USUAL GRIND

Velma Farnham, employee of the Tillamook Herald, was arrested for driving an automobile without a tail light and with only one headlight last week.

Miss Farnham with two companions was driving on the Fairview road when one of the deputy sheriffs noticed the condition of the car and started in pursuit. He signaled for her to stop and displayed his officer's badge but instead of stopping Miss Farnham speeded up and passed the officer. After repeatedly trying to stop her he followed her in to town where she drove in to a service station and appealed to the proprietor for protection from a man who was following her, but was informed by him that inasmuch as her pursuer was an officer he could do nothing for her. Miss Farnham appeared before Judge Stanley Friday and was fined $2.50 and costs.

Wesley Sutton also came to grief when he was discovered with a quantity of mash in his possession. He pleaded guilty to the unlawful possession and manufacture of mash and was given a sentence of 30 days in jail and a $600 fine. He was allowed liberty until October 18 to arrange his affairs.

TELEPHONE COMPANY MOVES TOMORROW

Equipment for New Building Valued at $13,000 Will Put in Use This Week

All lines of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company will be cut over from the old to the new central office equipment in the Goynes building on First street at midnight of Saturday, October 18.

New equipment valued at $13,000 has been installed in the new office, the Western Electric company being in charge of the work. Fred Pye had the contract for the carpenter work necessary, and the new quarters have been made most complete in every detail.

In order to make the change with the least possible inconvenience to patrons, the phone company has during the past week connected each subscriber line to the switchboard in such a way that it does not interfere with the present service. At the appointed time the change to the new board can very quickly be made by pulling a few wires, leaving the operators at the old office with no lines to serve and those on duty at the new switchboard waiting for the transfer with all the company's lines and subscribers on that equipment.

Under the new system one feature that will be noticed is what is known as audible ringing. The calling party will hear the operator ringing the called party and the necessity of the operator informing the one calling she is "ringing them" will be eliminated.

Six thousand dollars is being expended by the company in reconstructing their outlying plant. This includes the placing of fifty-two poles and 8200 feet of aerial cable. The rearrangement of the outside plant will continue after the cut over to the new office.

An invitation has been extended by the telephone company to its patrons to make an inspection of the new quarters and equipment after the opening date.

BIG MUSICAL REVUE SECURED FOR CITY

One of the brightest and most picturesque revues of the season is promised at the Coliseum next week when Managers Partridge and Morrison will offer to their patrons the famous Novelty Revue.

The management states that "This organization of talented performers comes with the reputation of being one of the smartest and cleanest shows on the road this season. Consisting of a six piece orchestra, a male trio, a singing comedienne, and a sensational dancer, the Novelty Revue has the jazz and pep so often lacking in shows of this caliber.

"Irresistible music, melodious singing, picturesque dancing and rollicking comedy have all been blended into a program that will hold an audience throughout the sixty minutes that the Novelty Revue holds the stage."

EXTRA FINE PEACHES ARE GROWN HERE

L. Stuiwenga brought to the city yesterday some peaches which had been grown in his orchard. It seems that the Stuiwenga children had planted some peach seeds about four years ago and in time one of them sprouted into a seedling tree. This fall when Mr. Stuiwenga was in the orchard he noticed some fruit on the ground under this seedling peach tree, which proved to be well grown peaches, of a size and shape seldom seen even in peach countries.

Mr. Stuiwenga thinks there may be possibilities here in this fruit.

All the remaining assets of the Nehalem Valley bank, insolvent, were sold on Tuesday, October 14.

These assets were comprised of loans and discounts from the savings and commercial departments of that institution. The offers of purchase are now in the hands of the Honorable George H. Bagley for consideration.

In connection with the office of city treasurer both Harry Thomas and W. Thomas Coates are being mentioned. MARKED WILD GOOSE IS SHOT BY HUNTER

While hunting geese on the bay Wednesday Leonard Burke killed a brant which bore an aluminum leg band with the words "notify Biol. Surv. 303061" stamped upon it.

The bird is apparently one which has been marked by the United States biological survey to trace the flight of migratory birds. Since the treaty between Canada and the United States regarding birds and game was passed a few years ago, an effort is being made to determine the distance of the flight of the various migratory birds.

COURT CONCLUDED ALL CASES FRIDAY

Sedore - Muscott Damage Suit is Decided for Defendant

FAIR THIEVES PAROLED

State Accident Case is Decided in Favor of Plaintiff, Edward J. West

Circuit court concluded Friday afternoon for the October term. The case of W. Sedore vs. L. C. Muscott, which occupied the greater part of Friday, aroused a great deal of public interest, particularly among the residents of the south part of the county where the altercation took place.

Sedore brought suit for damages against Muscott following a fist fight in which Sedore claimed to have received two broken ribs and other injuries. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendant.

Charles Cruthers, arraigned for the unlawful possession of mash plead guilty and was fined $1000 and sentenced to spend one year in the county jail. On payment of $500 he was released during good behavior. The case against Ivan Langley, who was jointly indicted with Cruthers, was dismissed.

The charge against Sife Johnley and Delbert Jarman the two who robbed the fair building of prize exhibits, was changed from larceny of a public building to simple larceny to which they plead guilty. A sentence of one year in jail was passed upon them. They were paroled on this sentence on the payment of $100 for the costs of the action against them and $100 to the county fair board for damages.

Robert Schneider indicted on charges of unlawful operation of an automobile and failure to render aid or assistance to an injured person was given until November 5, to plead. Schneider, it will be remembered, ran over Claude Morse on the highway south of town last May, injuring him so badly that his life was despaired of for some time. The case was tried before the justice court at that time and a settlement was reached between Schneider and Morse but Schneider failed to comply with the agreement.

Edward J. West was given the verdict in a case against the State Industrial Accident commission. West was injured while working at the Whitney camp in June of 1923 and received compensation from the commission until September of that year. The jury recommended that he be given full compensation from September 4, 1923 to July 1, 1924 and 50 per cent disability from then till October 9, 1924 and until disability ceases.

Rudolph Zweifel was given a judgment of $166.15 and costs against E. A. Ball.

Olga Myers was given a divorce from Richard E. Myers.

Lela A. Leach was granted a divorce from Henry Leach on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. These parties were married on February 9, 1924. Plaintiff was awarded her maiden name of Lela A. Hecker. This divorce was one of the rapid fire variety, the decree being granted the same day as the complaint was filed.

William Graves and his son, Gerald, spent a few days this week at the home of Mr. Graves' relatives near Independence. While in the valley Mr. Graves was fortunate enough to bag some pheasants.
