A MOVE FOR MORE CIRCULATION

Front page stories this week announce the Headlight's subscription campaign, which will be of more than passing interest to residents of Tillamook county.

Prizes are to be given away to the persons turning in the largest number of paid subscriptions before the campaign ends in December. Someone is going to win the big automobile, and others will win five lesser prizes which are being offered. Why not you?

In undertaking this campaign the Headlight has in mind the benefits to its readers and advertisers. Of its readers because with a larger circulation we can publish a better paper; and of the advertisers because their messages will be carried into more homes. When the final results are tabulated at the end of the campaign everyone will be better off than if the campaign were never put on. Otherwise it would have never been started.

Our goal is a circulation of between 3500 and 3500, which is entirely within reason for a county the size of this one. To grow from a circulation of a few less than 1400 to one of 3500 in a few weeks is a herculean task, but we have confidence in the result.

The Headlight has secured as campaign manager Frank Kane of Denver, Colorado, who has had many years experience in circulation promotion work to be used to good advantage in the coming campaign.

UNSUSPECTED GROWTH

News articles this week regarding the growth of the county schools state that it has been estimated that the present population of this county at present is roughly 15,000 people. In January of this year the Headlight from various sources, gathered information from which it estimated the probable population at near that figure.

In view of the fact that the government census report in 1920 gave this county a population of something less than 10,000, the present estimated number is almost phenomenal. Tillamook county has never been or never will be a "boom" country. Its growth will always be substantial and safe—a good thing to tie up to.

MR. LINDSEY FOR COMMISSIONER

The cause of E. H. Lindsey, on the ballot for county commissioner, is gaining much support; which is as it should be.

The Stage for Manhattan will leave Tillamook at 2:50 P. M. and arrive in Tillamook 9:40 A. M. excepting Sunday. Till further notice. M. J. Maddox, manager.

TILE YOUR FARM ASK THE MAN WHO HAS TILED TILLAMOOK CLAY WORKS

Mr. Lindsey is not only a well known and practical farmer but he has had considerable engineering experience—something which would be very valuable to a county commissioner, who should have a working knowledge of road building and roads. Those really interested in the welfare of Tillamook county, and who are not actuated by selfish purposes, are carrying the gospel of Mr. Lindsey's election throughout the county, and the farmers are rallying to his support.

WOULD BREAK DOWN TARIFF PROTECTION

Washington, October 16—With the wool growers of the country protected from the importation of competing cheap wool by the republican protective tariff, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, is officially on record in favor of completely breaking down the tariff wall protecting this great American industry.

The wool grower hasn't any too easy a time of it, anyhow, government figures show. Yet, while he was a member of congress John W. Davis made a speech in the house declaring that it was fallacious to believe that the life of the wool growing industry depended on tariff protection.

The democratic campaign book, commenting on this same speech of Mr. Davis, says: "No veteran orator or tariff expert

I have taken this action only after much persuasion by my friends and many prominent people, who placed my name on the ballot by petition, though at the time I filed for the primaries I had no intention of trying to run independent in case I was defeated in May.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP IN ITALY

Here is the language of Mussolini in criticism of government ownership in Italy:

"In justice to Italy all major owned and operated public utilities of the state must be returned to private ownership. Users of public utility service are securing that service at the cost of taxpayers who do not use it. Farmers who do not use electricity are taxed to support the great hydro-electric companies owned by the state, while people who do not ride on trains or use them very heavily for freight must pay taxes to maintain roads used by heavy travelers and shippers.

"Railroad workers practically own the state railroads and operate them for their own good. Numbers of employees and wages have increased out of all proportion. Service is poor, rates are three times as high as they were seven years ago, and there are deficits where there were profits."

REPUBLICANS PAY BILLS It is as true as it ever was that while Democratic administrations incur debts, Republican administrations pay them.

Accepting the fact that the government owed $24,000,000,000 as the heritage of the war and a Democratic administration, the Harding regime, intraditional fashion, set about to pay that debt. One of the first steps was the re-establishment of an economical rule by enactment of a budget law and the reorganization of Congress' methods of handling appropriation bills.

Not only has the machinery of Congress been coordinated with the machinery of the budget bureau, but Congress observes the spirit of the budget system quite as closely as it does the letter. This fact was stated by Director Lord of the budget bureau at the semi-annual meeting of executives, June 30, as follows:

"That there has been a meeting of minds of the budget authorities and Congress is clearly shown by a comparison of estimates and appropriations. In the estimates prepared for the fiscal year 1922, the last annual estimate prepared free from budget control, the executive agencies asked for $1,312,925,813 more than Congress gave. Estimates for the fiscal year 1923, the first under budget control, were $162,528,008 more than the resulting appropriations. For the fiscal year 1924 the estimates exceeded appropriations by only $7,828,198. Again this year Congress practically ratified the budget, the excess of estimates over appropriations being but $10,047,095. In a budget totaling $3,622,125,959 this result is extraordinary."
