CHEESE PRICE DROPS WITH OVER-SUPPLY

Heavy Production Wide-spread, is Statement of Local Man

IDAHO IS FORMIDABLE

Checks for September Milk Expected to be Issued About 22nd of This Month

Cheese declined three cents in price since November 5, according to Carl Haber-lach, secretary of the creamery association. Since then it has been hovering off a little better, but the market still seems to be without life. There is a heavy production all over the country as is evidenced by the receipts.

Receipts Wisconsin warehouses since January 1, 1923, totaled 243,000,000 pounds against 228,000,000 pounds last year, 209,000,000 pounds in 1922 and 191,000,000 pounds in 1921.

Cold storage holdings in the United States total 73,000,000 pounds against 62,000,000 pounds last year and 58,000,000 pounds as a five year average.

Cold storage holdings of butter on October 1 were 153,000,000 pounds against 96,000,000 pounds last year and 115 year average of 103,000,000 pounds.

Receipts in San Francisco for October, 1924, included 157,000 pounds from California, 243,000 pounds from Oregon, and 175,000 pounds from Idaho. In Los Angeles for the same month receipts included 150,000 pounds from California, 312,000 pounds from Oregon, and 451,000 pounds from Idaho.

Receipts of butter in San Francisco included 1,481,000 pounds from California, 46,000 pounds from Oregon, and 131,000 pounds from Idaho. During the same month, Los Angeles receipts included 1,896,000 pounds from California, 101,000 pounds from Oregon, and 477,000 pounds from Idaho.

The above will show at a glance that Idaho is becoming a formidable competitor of Oregon in the California markets.

Cold storage holdings of Tillamook cheese aggregate about 9,000 boxes at this time. Current receipts are well above current requirements while it is expected that cheese will move better within the next four or five weeks.

It is expected that the checks for September milk will be out about the 22nd of this month. Quite a little of the cheese is in storage and patrons are being paid at today's prices on September cheese in storage. Because some of the cheese sold for higher prices than today's market, September butter fat prices will be higher than they will be for October.

REV. THOMAS JENKINS IS NEW PASTOR

The Episcopalians in this vicinity were agreeably surprised when informed that Rev. Thomas Jenkins, pastor of St. David's church in Portland, had resigned to take up mission work in the diocese, and had been given charge of the Tillamook, McMinnville and Hillsboro missions. He will also act in the capacity of general missionary of the diocese.

He is greatly interested in Sunday school activities. Under his able management and direction, it is expected that the three missions will make much progress in the near future. The Reverend gentleman will commence his work in the mission field the first of the new year, but no announcement has been made as to how often he will visit Tillamook. Archdeacon J. C. Black will sever his connection with the Tillamook congregation the first Sunday in next month, who has been an earnest worker for the mission here. He had made many friends during his monthly visits here, and there is some regret at his leaving.

Cloverdale Contestant Leads In The Race For Buick Six

Mrs. Claude Stott of Cloverdale Polls A Big Vote That Places Her Name First Among Workers For The $1425 Standard Buick Six

Contestants	Towns	Votes
MISS HELEN LEONARD, TILLAMOOK	TILLAMOOK	746,200
MISS RUTH LEWALLEN, HEBO	HEBO	746,400
MRS. CHARLES STEPHENS, MOHLER	MOHLER	747,900
MRS. CLAUDE STOTT, CLOVERDALE	CLOVERDALE	748,000
MISS VELMA WATSON, TILLAMOOK	TILLAMOOK	746,800

This arrangement is in alphabetical order with the rules pertaining to votes as issued stating contestants can build up a reserve vote when possible.

(By Frank Kane, Contest Manager)

With over 250,000 votes cast to her credit during the past week Mrs. Claude Stott of Cloverdale, takes the lead this week in the Headlight subscription and popularity campaign.

In Cloverdale territory the booster friends of Mrs. Stott have set about to try and bring the Buick six to Cloverdale that will have for its purpose the best advertising medium Cloverdale has had in many days.

The fact that Mrs. Claude Stott has always taken the initiative in all events for the betterment of Cloverdale prompts the people there to take an active part in Mrs. Stott's success that will at the same time give Cloverdale the edge on the other communities in that they carried off the high honors in the Headlight campaign.

Not to be denied with the wonderful vote gains as made by the Cloverdale contestant is the consistent vote gains made by Mrs. Charles E. Stephens of Mohler. Here is another ardent contestant that has a world of well wishers that are daily rallying to the support of this popular worker.

When taken into consideration that the smaller communities are more than holding their own with the Tillamook contestants, one has to marvel at the tremendous vote cast for the out of town contestants.

From these facts the question remains and will remain for that matter, right up to the closing hour of the campaign, will the out of town contestants carry off the major prizes.

Hebo, Mohler and Cloverdale will make a determined bid for the first grand prize. That much said is a settled fact so with the campaign to close in a few more days there can be no telling for sure whether the Buick six will go to an outside town or remain in Tillamook.

The fact that Miss Ruth Lewallen surrendered the lead this week to Mrs. Claude Stott is by no means a reflection on the work of the popular

HATE AGAINST NEGRO LANDS MAN IN JAIL

Deep-rooted prejudice against associating with a black man was the reason advanced for Roy L. Smith's downfall when he was brought into the local justice court this week, charged with larceny of personal property.

According to the story told by Smith to the court officials he had been working at one of the lumber camps in the county and was assigned to bunk with a negro. In his discomforture he went on a drunk and stole a revolver belonging to another person, which act landed him before Justice Stanley. He was fined $30 and costs of $27.90.

Two traffic violators were levied fines in court this week. Arthur Madison was fined $10 and costs for speeding, and S. S. Arnold paid $2.50 and costs for a minor traffic offense.

Possession of intoxicating liquor got D. E. Krumlauf into trouble, for which he paid the county $75 to be cleared. John Walker paid $50 for a similar offense.

Clarence Hanenkrat and Ike Wells were charged with unlawful operation of set nets, for which Hanenkrat paid a fine of $50. Wells plead not guilty and will face trial later. William Bradt was fined $25 for unlawful hunting.

Three minor boys were brought before the justice court for hunting after sundown, and were fined $25 each. One paid his fine and the other two were released to raise the money.

Contestants will realize the wisdom of getting the long term orders when and where it is possible. At this time the two year subscription gives 6000 votes while the one year subscription only gives 2000.

This means that the two year subscription is equal to three one year subscription orders, when taken into consideration that the Buick six is worth $1425 there is absolutely no reason at all for you to neglect this golden opportunity to receive the late model standard Buick six to be awarded on the coming December 6th.

Contestants reporting their business to apply on the second vote period will have until NINE P. M. Saturday, November 22nd, to make their final report. Will say that if you are at all ambitious to succeed in this campaign your business between now and the close of the second vote period will place you in line for the first grand prize and the high honor that will naturally go to the winner.

A few ten year subscriptions will not go amiss.

Ven. J. C. Black, Archdeacon of the Episcopal church is in the city for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Culberson spent several days in Portland this week.

Rev. Father Plasidus closed the program with a few remarks after which the women and girls of the parish served ice cream and cake to all present.

Dancing was then the order of the evening with an orchestra composed of Leone Drews, John Plasker, Eldon Stuart, Frank Burgett and Ernest Berry furnishing the music.

With a companion, young Strom had gone duck hunting on the bay. Strom was seated with his gun on his lap, rose up and looked toward land and in some manner the trigger was pulled and the charge entered the young man's face, piercing thru the brain. He died before medical aid could be summoned. His companion, it is reported, was so close to Strom at the time of the accident that the powder burned his face and he at first thought that he was shot.
