HONOR THE PIONEER

We of today can scarcely realize the untold hardships suffered and the tremendous amount of work necessary to make a new country fit for coming generations to live in.

The story now being told of the early settlement of Tillamook county is the Headlight by one of the county's first settlers is of intense interest to all residents of this county at the present time.

Warren N. Vaughn passed to his reward several years ago, but the personal account he left of his party's adventures when they attempted to establish a settlement in Tillamook county will live forever. It is one of the few authentic first hand records made of this vicinity at that time.

It is not too early to begin thinking about Christmas presents, and incidentally shopping around a bit to get in before the last minute rush.

We feel perfectly safe in predicting that the weather next week will either be dry or rainy.
