TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1913.

Some rather unpleasant events have transpired during the past few days in connection with the investigation that is being held in regard to our street and sewer improvements. In fact there has been more or less unpleasantness in connection with our late improvements from the very beginning of the work. At the outset it was generally thought that only the business district and a few main streets of our city would be paved and nearly every one was in favor of this. However, when it came to letting the contract, a much larger area was taken in regardless of the remonstrance meeting and regardless of the remonstrance petitions which were presented to the council. It will be remembered how certain citizens plead with the council against the paving of certain streets but to no avail. Now we realize that in order for the council to do its work properly and make a good job of its undertaking it was obliged, to a certain extent, to take the "bull by the horns" so to speak, however, it has been admitted by the mayor and some of the councilmen involved that the paving was carried altogether too far. Much blame has been placed upon the old council, and perhaps rightfully, but others have been to blame to some extent and we believe that all should take their share of the responsibility. In looking over the situation and studying events which have transpired since the letting of the contract, we believe we can see where the press of the city made a mistake in not supporting the citizens to some extent in their protest before the contract was let. Had the press assumed the proper attitude at that time the council might have been influenced thereby. The Herald is willing to take its share of the blame as a matter of misjudgment on our part. Now then, there are others who are to blame to some extent, and they are those who had much at stake but put up a comparatively mild protest at that time.

In regard to the detective work and other investigations that have been done in connection with the pavement, we believe that some sober second thought should be given this phase of the situation before those responsible for the same are criticized too severely. The people have got a right to know whether their pavement has been laid according to contract or not, before they are asked to pay for it. This is, as we have said before, merely a business proposition. In regard to the detective work that has been done we will state that there are two distinct points which should be considered in regard to this matter. In the first place a contract was let which included the laying of an asphalt road and a reasonable amount of pavement against the promise of a large sum of money. In addition an excessive amount of asphalt was used. What was the result? A very poor road which will not last for a long time because of greater porosity, but because of lack of judgment. There are others apparently, who do not think as we do in regard to these matters, who, considering the foregoing in connection with the fact that it is an every day occurrence among of graft discoverers where large corporations have here and there, disbursed, in some cases, the best money of the country, have thought that a thorough investigation might be a good thing and have acted accordingly. We believe they were within their rights in so doing. It is to be deplored that an honest man should be put to so much trouble and to such a grilling as Mr. Knudson was put to. However he will no doubt realize after careful thought that the more severe the investigation, the better it will be in the end. In fact proceedings have now reached such a stage that the stronger the light is turned on and the more thorough the investigation, the better it will be for everyone. If there has been any dishonesty in connection with this matter we want to know it. If we have a bad job of pavement we want to know it. Right will wrong no man.

Women Destroy Valuable Plants.
London.—Millant suffragettes destroyed many valuable plants and did other damage, reaching a total of $5000 in the hothouses of the Kew Horticultural Gardens here. Thus they developed another part of their plan of campaign to force the government to give the vote to women.

A SHETLAND PONY FREE.

Every school boy and girl will be delighted to know that they are going to have an opportunity again this year to win a Shetland pony at the State Fair. The Portland Union Stock Yards Company are giving the pony and it will be a nice one. Nothing in all the prize list at the State Fair last year attracted anything like the attention that the Shetland ponies did.

This pony will be given to the boy or girl who makes the best exhibit of live stock at the State Fair next fall. That exhibit must consist of at least one trio or pen of chickens or ducks, two pigs and a sheep. The boys and girls who compete for the pony will have an opportunity to compete for several other valuable prizes also. In the poultry contest there will be good prizes for the winning trio of each breed. J. M. Garrison offers $500 cash to the boy or girl making the largest and best exhibit of poultry; the State Poultry Association gives a fine cup for the best pen of birds (one male and four females); "Poultry life also gives a fine cup for which they can compete. Hauser Bros. give an air gun to the child raising the most poultry by June 1st; and the Northwest Poultry Journal gives a year's subscription to every prize winner in the poultry department; the boy who fits and shows the best sheep will get a good cash prize and the one who does the best in the pig feeding contest, feeding and exhibiting two pigs and furnishing an account of the same, showing cost, profit, etc., will receive a liberal prize which we will tell you all about in another story, and in the prize list which will soon be published. The total value of prizes offered the children at the state fair this year will be over $3000.

Now boys and girls don't you think it will pay you to try to win this pony and some of the other prizes above mentioned, all of which you can compete for while trying for the pony. Get busy with your chickens, pigs, lambs and gardens.

The questions requested from the State Department were delayed on account of the blocked train and were not received until after the time for the examination. I had brought a few lists from the capitol while there at State Board meeting; hence the reason for a number of districts receiving but one copy of the questions, with instructions to have questions written on the blackboard.

Respectfully,
W. S. Buel, County Supt.

CLOVERDALE NEWS.

From Courier:
James Burke and Burt Hudson started clearing the ground yesterday for their garage and auto repair shop.

James Holcomb, with his wife and son, reached Cloverdale Tuesday evening from Wenatchee and Wednesday morning took charge of the Cloverdale Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb are pleasant people to meet and we feel confident they will be much appreciated in Cloverdale's only headquarters for the traveling public. We welcome them to our city.

The sound of the blacksmith's hammer can be heard once more in the Cloverdale blacksmith shop. For the past four months the shop has been closed the greater part of the time for the want of the services of a smith. E. C. Whitfield, who recently sold his shop at Estacada, Ore., re-opened this institution last Monday and is now serving those who require the services of a blacksmith.

Rev. Hayes, of Portland, reached Cloverdale last evening and will be among us for the next ten days holding revival meetings and giving lectures illustrated with stereopticon views. Saturday evening a lecture will be given at the Meda school house. Nightly meetings will be held here with the exception of Saturday evening.

Shortly afternoon Monday, Guy Allen, Elwood Squires and Guy Smith went out in the breakers in a small flat bottom fish boat which they had taken across the sands from the river over the board walk. They intended to go out to Haystack rock fishing and had not gone far before a large swell caught them and filled their boat. Before going out Smith had removed his shoes and put on a life preserver, this precaution the others did not take and when the boat filled they could not reach them. Smith says they clung to the boat for some time and that he tried his best to save one of them and that if he had not relinquished his efforts when he did and made for shore he would have perished with them. The boat and life preservers were picked up on the beach later in the day, but neither of the bodies have yet been recovered evidently the undertow had taken them far out into the ocean. Squires came here to visit with the Allens shortly after the holidays. His home is in Indiana where he has a grown-up daughter and two other children. His age was 41 while that of Allen was 26. Smith is about 26 years of age and when he reached shore was nearly exhausted. He is part owner and has charge of the gasoline launch Jack Rabbit.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen, parents of Guy, are almost frantic with grief over the sad affair, and have the sympathy of the entire community.

Lake County Deal Closed.
Klamath Falls—A deal which has been pending two years was closed when the deeds to the lands held by the Oregon Military Land Grant company were filed here by the Oregon Land Corporation.

This land was originally granted for the construction of the military wagon road across the Cascade mountains to Lakesview, in Lake county. The grant lies north of the Klamath Indian reservation that within the reservation having been exchanged for lands outside. There are about 50,000 acres in Klamath county and the deeds call for a consideration of about $4 per acre. Much of the land is said to be fine timber, some is good pasture and some good for agriculture. What their plans are for handling the lands are not made public.
