Improvements Numerous At Tillamook.

Many New Residences Being Erected, Business Block Going Up.

Tillamook City is now experiencing a building boom which far surpasses anything this city has previously enjoyed. Business blocks are being erected; many dwellings are being built; cement walks are being laid and the Catholics have begun the construction of a fine new church.

Mr. M. Melchior has the contract for the construction of the new Catholic Church which will be 52x98 feet over all. The foundation has already been laid, and workmen are now busy at the other work. The new church will be a fine edifice, modern in all its construction and an ornament to the city. It will be built of brick, and will cost approximately $10,000. The money has all been subscribed for the new church.

Fred Poorman has just completed a fine five room bungalow, located near the Catholic Church.

David O'Donnell, who recently moved here from Buxton is building a five room bungalow with all modern improvements, near the depot. He intends building two more near the one he is now building and two more in the west end of town. Mr. O'Donnell has great faith in Tillamook.

Clyde Clements is building a fine new home on his property in the west end of town, and we understand that he will build another later on.

Chester McGhee, is building a fine two story residence on First Street in the west part of town. This building will have nine rooms and will have all modern improvements.

The following property owners are building new cement walks: W. C. King, Dave Martiney, Beals, John Brant, Wade, T. H. Goyne, First National Bank, W. A. Williams, Knights of Pythias. The cement work is very extensive and includes many blocks.

The new bank and hotel building is nearing completion; the I. O. O. F. Block is now being rapidly erected and work on the new Masonic building is now under way.

A terminal warehouse site was purchased by Mr. Daniel J. Fry of Salem, Oregon on Thursday. The tract is a very choice one for the purpose and is located on the East side of the railway track and on the North side of the county road. A contract was immediately entered into with Mr. J. F. Stranahan, architect, for a large warehouse on the right, the cost of the same when completed will be about $2500, and is to be completed by the 15th of August. The capacity of the warehouse will be about 50 cars of general freight. Rollie W. Watson, took a long time lease on the completed property.

STRANDED WHALE.
A large whale has been cast ashore on the sand spit at N-tarts. It is 70 feet long, the jaw bone measures 22 feet long and 14 feet wide. Measurements were taken by Dr. Sharpe who sought to be an authority. The sea monster is quite a sight and many have gone to Netarts to see it. A number of the militiamen are planning going out there next Sunday and may practice their sharp shooting abilities on the sealions that are so plentiful on the rocks about Netarts.

LOYAL BEREANS VISIT TILLAMOOK.
The Loyal Borean Class of the Church of Christ of Carlton, 16 strong, left on Monday, June 30th on a hike to Tillamook.

The party consisted of the following: Edwin Stiffin, Wm. Fishback, Len Fishback, Elmo Hoffman, A. M. Hoffman, T. S. Stalleop, Newt Livingston, Ivan Gillam, Rolla Woodman, Miss Zetta and Mildred Bodie, Miss Mildred Simpson, Miss Effie Smith, Mrs. Nina Stalleop, Mrs. J. E. Limpus, chaperon, all of Carlton; Miss Helen Horning of Corvallis.

The party was entertained by the Loyal Son's Class at parlors of the Christian Church Wednesday evening.

COMMUNICATION.
The following communication is from C. W. Talmage who is taking his vacation in Southern Oregon:
Mule Creek, Curry Co., July 5, 1913. Ed. Herald:
Mule Creek enters into Rogue river on the North side about half way between Grants Pass and Gold Beach. It is in the Siskiyou Forest Reserve. We reached it by trail through the reserve, running down the river. I will not try to describe the trail. Much would have to be left to the imagination any way. Rogue river (and it is a mighty stream having an average fall of 40 feet to the mile) tore its way, in ages passed, through the Coast Range. The trail is hewn, and dug, and gouged along the brink and sides of its gorge, and over and around the ridges, that's all.

SANDLAKE CELEBRATES THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

On Friday morning of July 4th, 1913, a crowd of Sandlakers, fifty-nine in number, met at the home of John Whalin where they were royally welcomed and highly entertained. In spite of the heavy mist in the morning, the crowd was happy and good natured as the picnic crowds on Sandlake are noted for.

At nine a.m. the parade of vehicles and teams began to cross the bridge at Mr. Whalin's place and continued to come until after 10:30 a.m.

L. T. Edwards, the professional photographer of Sandlake, was there with his camera and took several snapshots. The Sandlake people were pleased to have in their midst Lawyer Huntington and friend Mr. Allen of Portland and Banker Wilson of Walla Walla, Wash.

At eleven a.m. the ladies of the Sandlake cooking club began to prepare the table to receive the many dainty and wholesome luxuries prepared by them the previous day. Anyone who has enjoyed these picnic dinners prepared by the ladies can well imagine what a treat was in store for those gathered around the table to partake of the feast.

After partaking of this most excellent repast the people were served to ice cream which was donated by George Ladd and was appreciated very much by all.

After the ice cream was served to all, the people enjoyed listening to the oration of Lawyer Huntington which was very interesting and instructive and enjoyed by all. He ended his oration by thanking the people for their kindness to him and his friends and to show their appreciation of his oration, the people all joined in giving regular old fashioned cheers.

A very pleasant day was enjoyed by all and best of all in our celebration there was no intoxicating drinks of any kind among the people of which we are justly proud.

Mr. Bert Mapes entertained the

The morning sessions are scheduled for business and the afternoons enjoyed by sightseeing and entertainments provided for them. Druggists Lamar, Clough and Koch of Tillamook attended the convention. Many of the delegates spent some time in Tillamook. The convention closes this evening and has been voted a very successful one. The delegates all being pleased with place and manner in which they were entertained.

Tillamook Beseiged And Taken

We Have Capitulated to the Third Regiment, O. N. G.

Ideal weather conditions and the enthusiastic co-operation of officers and men is going to make the Third Regiment's annual encampment a record breaker for work accomplished along the lines of instructions and drill ordered by the war department and Col. Martin. From the sounding of reveille at 5:30 to the blowing of taps at 10 o'clock, there is something doing. The routine of work has gone along without a hitch, as if it was the everyday business of the guardsmen. There has been a large number out to the camp each morning and evening to watch the drilling and exercises. The problems in actual warfare that are worked out before the peoples eyes are a revelation and gives one an insight of modern open tactics that are so different from the old mass formations.

The sanitation, cooking and equipping are exemplified. Each man is taught and must become familiar with proper care of his physical condition.

The dress parade and guardmount exercises between six and eight are not so well attended as they would be if the public knew how impressive and interesting they are.

The regiment breaks camp Monday morning at 6 o'clock and will immediately re-train and start for their respective homes. Six of the companies are from Portland and one each from Salem, Corvallis, Oregon City, and Woodburn.

The Commissary.
As everything else in the army the commissary is systematized to a very fine point. By experience the officer in charge knows just how much rations are used and these are issued to the quartermasters of each company. At the present prices it is estimated that each man will consume about 29 cents worth of food a day and each company is entitled to food to that amount. For instance one hundred men will consume 125 pounds of beef a day or 75 of bacon or a percentage at the same ratio of each. Flour 125, beans 15 or rice 10, potatoes 100, coffee 8, sugar 20, even salt, vinegar and candles are figured out. Major Winn of Albany and Capt. Ritterspacher have charge of this department. The goods issued are all bought at wholesale. The bread comes in daily from the Royal Bakery of Portland they being the lowest bidder. The meat is supplied by Leach's Meat Market, about 550 lbs. are used daily.

The Mail.
The several hundred soldiers have greatly increased the work of the local postoffice force, but it is well taken care of by postmaster Baker and his efficient force. All mail for the regiment is taken to the adjutant's tent at headquarters and by him distributed to the several companies and in the same manner it is dispatched.

The Quartermaster.
Capt. Henry Hockenjos has charge of this department in service and he certainly has his hands full. He is responsible for all the equipment. The tents, uniforms, guns, ammunition, etc. If telephone service or a bridge is needed, he has the goods. There is a large amount of stuff to keep a check upon. Major Knapp of this department in the adjutant's office arrived yesterday.

Hospital And Ambulance.
Major Marcellus, city physician of Portland has charge of this branch. The hospital tent is located in a nice shady spot. He has trained assistants with him to wait on the sick, but thanks to the fine physical condition of militia men and the healthful and invigorating Tillamook climate their duties have not been very arduous. The Ambulance Corps is a very worthy adjunct to the fighting force. It is composed of about 25 men commanded by Capt. A. N. Creadick, and Lieut. Henneberg. The men are trained in letter-handling, bandaging and first aid service to wounded. Their drilling is very interesting as well as instructive to all who have been fortunate to witness them.

The Band.
The regimental band is the best non-professional musical organization in the state. There are 36 players here on duty under the directorship of Wm. A. Douglass, manager musical instrument dept. Graves Music Co. He is also director of the Al Kader band. The band rehearses every morning, gives a concert in the afternoon and plays for dress parade and guardmount in the evening. They have been very generous and have given some fine concerts in the city. Saturday evening after the exercises at camp they will give a concert and dance at the opera house everyone is welcome to attend. Sunday evening they will give a concert at Bayocean. T. H. Willet is the drum major and director of marching.

Base Ball.
There was no game between the locals and soldiers on Wednesday on account of the weather. On Thursday however there was a slaughter that was not mimic but actual. The militia men picked a team from the regiment to go up against our boys, but there was nothing to it as our boys made the soldier boys feel like a kindergarten. The score was 16 to 1, not bi-metalism but base ball.

The lineup was: Third Regiment Whitehead, S. S. Hollingsworth 2b, Hill, c. Kuertz 3b, Mansfield 1b, Erickson, lf, Newell rf, Cook cf, Born, c. Arnsperger 1b, Kingif, Wallace rf, Hare p.

Team work is what counts. The militia men had some good players but as it was the first time they had played together made it a pretty ragged proposition.

The Mounts.
The classed horses ridden by the officers are the admiration of all eyes. They are the property of the Kramer Riding Academy of Portland. The second largest riding school in the United States, located on Sixteenth and Jefferson St. The fourth floor is used for riding and instruction floor it owns 90 horses, 35 of which are in Tillamook at the present time. S. E. Kramer the proprietor is here with the regiment having several grooms from his stable to take care of the horses. The fine horse hitched to the trap seen on the streets is a prize winner at many horse shows. He will remain in Tillamook having been purchased by Russel Hawkins.

FIELD NOTES.
Col. Jackson the Nester of the army in Oregon and the Pacific coast, is with the boys at Camp West. Although the colonel is 63 years old he never misses camp and enjoys being with the colors at every opportunity. He has seen much service especially as an Indian fighter on the frontiers, back in the days before some of the grand fathers of today were born. He is now on the retired list of the regular army.

Each company have been issued guidance flags, during camp are posted at the first sergeant's tent but during actual service are carried with company.

Captain White of the ordinance dept. in private life is an editor on the Oregonian and is representing that paper during camp.

The pay received by the militia while in camp is: Captain, $6.67; 1st Lieut., $5.50; 2nd Lieut., $4.72; 1st Serg., $2.90; Serg., $1.80; Corporals, $1.40; Privates, $1.25 per day. This is the pay of the soldiers in the regular army.

Last year the Oregon troops joined with the militia of Washington, Idaho, Montana, and the regulars stationed in these states, totaling 8,000, and went through war maneuvers for 11 days near Tacoma, Wash.

The dress uniform of blue is not carried to, nor worn, in camp any more. The modern rule is to cut gold lace and show. Everything is for actual service and the most practical knowledge obtainable. Regular army officers are on the field all the time criticizing and instructing.

Rev. Gilbert the chaplain wishes to see a large attendance at the regular army field religious services next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The services are open to all. The band will furnish some instrumental music, beside some fine vocal talent will sing.

Sergeants A. R. Deburgh and Clark of the coast artillery are in camp having been assigned to temporary service with this regiment.

Serg. Ori P. Romaine of Co. H. has a national reputation as an expert rifleman, being the sixth best shot in the United States. He has medals enough to cover the side of a circus tent. Co. L of Oregon City also has two good shots in the persons of Serg. Spangler and Corporal Kellogg. Q. M. Serg. Lewis of M. is also an expert with rifle and pistol.

Corporal Lewis Compton of Co. M. secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Salem honored our sanctum with a pleasant call.

The Herald man appreciates the hospitality of Co. H. mess and can vouch for their good grub especially its pies. The chef Wm. H. Howe, pastry cook at the Multnomah Hotel in Portland, certainly can deliver the goods. His assistant, Horace Welch used to run a restaurant at Bay City consequently is Q. K. They with Q. M. Ivers and top Serg. Spady are a good team to tie to.

The dance given for the militia at the Opera House last Wednesday night was very well attended and enjoyed by everyone.

Capt. Max Gehlar of the Salem company is county clerk of Marion County and has met a large number of political acquaintances in Tillamook.

Capt. Abrams of Co. M being promoted to Major, made an entire change in the official staff of that company, only a few days before starting for camp, every officer went up a notch.

E. C. Bromlie of Co. E. is the associate editor of the A. O. C. Barometer at Corvallis. Co. E. is composed of High School and College men.
