Many of the officers are veterans of the Spanish American War and have seen considerable service in the Philippines. Two tons of clams were donated to the regiment by the Commercial Club and were given to the men at the noon mess on Friday. This act was appreciated by the privates as usually it is only the officers who are recognized.

WILSON RIVER ITEMS.

The placing of a fish hatchery on the river is welcome news and pleases everyone, but locating it near the mouth of the North Fork, seems to be a very poor location to many who have lived on the river for years and know of some of the past experiences in this matter. It is the unanimous opinion of residents that a hatchery cannot be made to hold at the intended location, besides it is endangering the bridge. There are more suitable locations several miles farther up the river.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Atkins of Gales Creek spent several days in this vicinity and Tillamook visiting relatives. Mrs. Atkins will make a number of changes on her old place, which will necessitate Wm. Smith vacating the place. Robert Hingsworth returned to their home with them and will make his home with them for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Burlingame of Portland have come in for their summer camp. They spent all last summer and enjoyed it so well that in the future they will go nowhere else.

The expected tour over the Wilson river road by the county court has not yet taken place although daily expected by the ranchers. We fear if it doesn't soon take place the county data will need a guide not only to show them the way where the brush is growing over the road, but too much of the paved streets of Tillamook may have caused them to forget what a mountain road looked like.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senator Simmons Says Tariff Bill Will Reach President Last of August.

Washington—With the tariff bill completed by the senate caucus, the senate leaders feel certain that the measure will be in the hands of the president by the latter part of August. Five weeks is the time Senator Simmons, who will have the bill in charge, believes will be needed. Republican senators, however, insist that it will take much more time.

Forty-seven democratic senators stood up in the party caucus one by one and declared their intention to vote for the Underwood-Simmons tariff revision bill as finally approved by the caucus. Two senators, Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, said that they would not make such promise because of the proposal to place sugar on the free list in 1916. Senators Hitchcock of Nebraska and Culberson of Texas were absent, but both are known to be in favor of the bill. This gives the democrats 49 votes for the bill or a slender majority of one, with the vote of the vice president to fall back on in an emergency.

Resolution Not Binding.

An absolutely binding resolution was not adopted, the poll by individuals being substituted, and that poll was put only on the ground of personal promise and was not made binding.

A resolution was adopted, however, declaring the Underwood-Simmons bill a party measure and urging its undivided support without amendment unless such should be submitted by the committee.

Before final action on the bill the caucus gave concessions to the senators from woolgrowing states by adopting an amendment making effective a provision for free raw wool in December 1, 1914, and the rates on manufactures of wool January 1, 1914.

Mulhall's Story of Lobbying Told.

How the National Association of Manufacturers, through its hired lobbyists at Washington, secured legislation favorable to its interests, obtained the defeat of measures beneficial to the labor interests, how it controlled congressional committees, made and unmade senators and representatives, and how it levied tribute on all manufacturing interests—great and small—throughout the country, was explained by the sensational exposures of Colonel M. M. Mulhall, for 10 years the lobbyist, field worker and strikebreaker of the organization, before the senate investigation committee called into existence by President Wilson's charges that an "insidious lobby" exists and has existed at the national capital for many years.

Witness' Confession is Astounding.

A story of misrepresentation, impersonation of public men and organized effort to influence Wall street financiers probably without parallel in the history of congressional investigations was unfolded before the senate lobby committee by a prosperous-looking, self-possessed individual, calling himself David Lamar, of New York, self-described as an "operator in stocks" and admittedly the bearer of several assumed names. With entire abandon, arousing the committee to laughter at times by his naive admissions, he told of his impersonations, his participation in attempts to influence Wall street. He telephoned to financial men and lawyers in the names of Representative Palmer and Representative Riordan. He assumed the guise of Chairman McCombs, of the Democratic national committee, to telephone to Chairman Hillis, of the Republican national committee.

National Capital Breivites

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska withdrew from the democratic caucus when his proposed tariff bill amendment for a graduated tax on tobacco production was defeated. A spirited scene followed.

Attorney General McReynolds has dismissed Judge Clayton Herrington from the department of justice at San Francisco. Herrington had criticized the federal authorities in connection with the Digs-Caminetti case.

The interstate commerce commission will have to get along in its great task of making a physical valuation of railroads without the assistance of the army engineers unless congress can be induced to pass special legislation.

Government officials are greatly interested in the reported achievement of Dr. Goldschmidt, a German inventor of wireless apparatus, in sending messages between Neustadt, near Hannover, Germany, and Tuckerton, N. J., 3900 miles.

The American people drank more whiskey and beer, smoked more cigars and cigarettes and chewed more tobacco during the fiscal year 1913 than in any other yearly period of the nation's history, according to estimates based on the record-breaking internal revenue receipts of the federal government for the 12 months ended June 30.
