VERTISE IN THE HERALD

MEXICANS SHOOT AMERICAN OFFICIAL

United States Immigration Inspector Seriously Injured by Federal Soldiers.

El Paso, Tex.—Charles B. Dixon, of San Diego, United States Immigration Inspector, was shot in the back by Mexican federal soldiers at Juarez. Dixon was in Juarez on official business, investigating a white slave case, when he was arrested by a band of federal soldiers, who started to march him away from the city in the direction of the foothills, where many executions have taken place. Dixon started to run, and after getting a block away, was fired on.

Dixon made a statement to American officials that he was satisfied the Mexicans were marching him out to shoot him when he ran. He said the Mexican soldiers were drunk.

"I told the soldiers when they arrested me that I would go to the commandant's office," said Dixon. "But instead of taking me there they started to the foothills south of the city. I was attired in the immigration uniform of khaki and I thought perhaps they had taken me for an American spy and intended executing me. I thought the only chance I had was to run for the border, so I broke loose from the two drunken troopers who held me."

Washington.—Strong representations, the most drastic in phraseology that have been made since the present American administration came into power, were made to the Huerta government in Mexico.

The United States government demanded not only the prompt arrest, courtmartial and punishment of the Mexican federal soldiers who shot Charles B. Dixon, Jr., an American immigration official at Juarez, Mex., but the immediate release of Charles Bisell and Bernard McDonald, mining managers, imprisoned by federal soldiers at Chihuahua City and said to be threatened with execution.

Netarts-Bayocean Road Interesting.

This Road Runs Along Beach, Through Government Reserve, Past Three Arch Rock and One Thousand Foot Cave.

The Mazamas, a pedestrian club of Portland, passed thru here a few weeks ago on one of their regular hiking trips. Their itinerary included the route between Bayocean and Netarts. There are not many persons who visit either place who do not avail themselves of this delightful trip, it can be taken on foot or in the saddle. At low tide all but two miles of the road is along the beach which is very picturesque. About a mile on each side of Cape Mears lighthouse the road leads into the mountains and takes one to the lighthouse on a promontory about two hundred feet above the ocean. The lighthouse keeper and two assistants reside here in fine houses furnished by the government, they have nice grounds, keep a fine garden and have pasture for their cows. A trip through the lighthouse is interesting, the lenses and equipment for turning them cost $15,000, the horizon is 17 miles away and the lights are seen that far on a clear day, if on a deck fifteen feet above the water the lights are seen 21 miles. There is a ledge of rock at the foot of Cape Mears on which many sea lions sun themselves and the visitor can look down upon them from 200 feet above. The view up the beach from the lighthouse is very fine. Along the beach one can see the little clearing and the ruined humble cabins of the first settler who sold his holdings for what he thought a good price to the farseeing speculator and promoter. The price now placed on these places would make the homesteader dizzy. If you have $25,000 you can get the deed to the Maxwell place. This is a sample of the way prices have gone up on property that has a good sand beach before it.

NETARTS NOTES.

The dance given by Sharpe and Kiehm at the pavilion last Saturday night was a big success. Perkins orchestra furnished the music. The floor was crowded until 12 o'clock when the dance stopped. The auto service from Tillamook was perfect and hundreds took advantage of it, many staying over for a Sunday at the beach. A fine midnight supper was served at the hotel. Over a score of Tillamook auto owners drove over for the dance returning home after the supper.

Wilbur Stillwell's boat took out a large party Sunday morning for a trip around Three Arch Rocks to see the birds and sea lions on the reserve and a run out to sea for the deep sea fishing, a successful catch being reported. The afternoon trip had to be abandoned on account of the boat being anchored in too shallow water and the receding tide leaving it high and dry.

Among the Tillamookers who are enjoying camp life at Happy Camp now are the families of Chester Holden, Burr Beals, Arthur Stillwell, Eugene Jenkins, John Dalgren, T. J. Sarchett, F. D. Small, Allan Page and George Chaffee. The gentlemen spent as much here as their business will permit.

Early Monday morning "Gene" Jenkins discovered, what to him was an unknown species of the animal kingdom about four feet in length, Dr. Sharpe upon being called diagnosed it as a fur-bearing seal, evidently having been shot the day before by some one target shooting. Banjo Louie, an old Indian, was secured to skin it as the fur is considered very valuable.

A near kidnapping elopement caused some excitement Sunday afternoon, when a love-sick fellow tried forcibly to run off with an old sweetheart of his who was spending the day at the beach with the other fellow. He had gotten a good start but some of the campers thought that the actions of the girl and galloping team was suspicious stopped the horses and demanded an explanation. The girl tearfully begged of those around her to free her from the desperate lover who still persisted, but finally gave her up when he saw the crowd was getting hostile.

Rev. Father Berne of Dallas who has a fine large cottage on the lake has concluded his vacation and gone back to his charge. Father Berne has a chapel in his house and holds services there for the Catholics hereabout when he is at the beach. He expects to return for a short stay in October.

Wild West Show Draws Big Crowds.

Large Number of Tillamook County People Here to See First Railroad Show Exhibit.

Everybody and his sweetheart, uncles and aunts are in town today to see the Oklahoma Wild West Show, nobody left at home but the cat and canary bird. The show exhibited at Hillsboro last night making the run here after the performance, arriving at nine o'clock this morning. There was one long train divided about equally between coaches, flat cars and stock cars and it did not take them long to unload and pitch their tents on the grounds adjoining the depot. The free street parade was held at one o'clock and the show is now in progress as we go to press. The tents are crowded with people from the city and the surrounding country, people having come for miles to see the first circus to exhibit in Tillamook. There were three bands and a steam callope to stir up enthusiasm, besides many cowgirls, cowboys, Cossacks, Indians and clowns, in the parade and it made a very favorable impression on the big crowds lining the walks.

LOOMER—BURGE

On Sunday evening at the residence of G. W. Burge father of the bride, Miss Kathryn Burge and Mr. Benjamin Franklin Loomer were united in the sacred bonds of marriage. Rev. D. A. MacKenzie, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating.

Miss Burge is well and favorably known in this city as one of Tillamook's popular young teachers. Mr. Loomer is a stranger here his residence is in King's County, California, where he holds the position of telegraph operator. Miss Burge and Mr. Loomer came to the coast from Nebraska, where they had met and known each other several years ago. They left Monday afternoon for their new home in California, and carry with them the good wishes and highest regards of all who knew them.

WILSON RIVER NEWS.

The many once cleared and tilled ranches along the river now owned by the lumber corporations, for the timber thereon, are being allowed to be overgrown by brush and fern, and buildings destroyed, as the owners will not rent or lease them, not wanting anyone to live in this district. This is their business but if as rumored they are using their strong influence to have the Wilson River road abandoned so as no travel can go over it, then it becomes the public's business. This is a policy of isolation that the corporations are attempting, to protect their timber from fire dangers that follow in the path of the tourist and camper. There are still a few ranchers along the river, and they are strongly objecting to this policy, they don't want to have to go back to the pack trail, which will soon be necessary if something is not done.

James Reeher was called to the county seat to appear as a witness in the Hadley case. He is anxiously awaiting the perfecting of air navigation, he reports the brush along the road as about having it closed having grown very fast the past year. Fishing is good up his way and quite a number of Portland people have gotten over the "Barrier" to his place.

Fred Boskowitz and V. Deverieux are camping near the "Donkey" expecting to spend a few weeks fishing they say, but their real mission undoubtedly is prospecting as the gentlemen are expert mining men and spent some time in this vicinity last year.

Mrs. Wesley Sutton is back on the ranch after a three weeks vacation at Netarts. The chipmunks and squirrels took full charge of her garden and berry patch during her absence.

James Hughey is visiting friends and attending to business matters on the Nestucca river where he owns a fine farm.

Mr. Tinnerstet is cutting and piling a fine lot of cord wood.

Some Fortunate Auto Accidents.

Good Roads a Great Temptation for Auto Men to Break Records, With The Usual Results. Loss of Life Narrowly Averted.

Returning from Netarts Saturday night at about nine o'clock, in the touring car run by Nelson, George Coffman, proprietor of the Silver Dollar Saloon, with his wife and Henry Block, a commercial traveler of Portland, and Mr. Block's daughter, had a very narrow escape from being killed by the overturning of the machine. The accident happened about two miles this side of Netarts. The big Maddux car was going out with a big load and was climbing the hill, the Nelson car was coming down at a terrific speed, the brake refusing to work, the cars meeting on a high embankment, the Nelson car swinging to pass went over and turned a complete somersault, landing right side up. Mrs. Coffman was the only one injured, and that slightly as no bones were broken. Roy Stillwell happened along and the injured lady was brought to the city in his car. On Monday tree trunks were used to make a track for the machine and it pulled itself back upon the road and to town with its own engine. A broken wind shield, smashed fender and bent fore axle was the only damage to the machine.

Another accident occurred Sunday about a mile south of Beaver. A Ford car driven by Martin Peterson of Forest Grove attempted to pass a truck loaded with cabbage when they locked hubs and both cars went over the grade into the Nestucca river, the Ford landing on top of the truck. A lady riding in the Ford, was slightly injured, otherwise not much damage was done.
