TUESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1913.

The last word which we have in regard to harbor improvements is to the effect that the government has ordered Major Morrow, who is located at Portland and has charge of harbor developments in this locality, to go ahead with the Tillamook project, which includes the building of a north jetty at the bar. We understand that Major Morrow will arrive here on the 14th and look over the situation carefully and advise for bids at once.

The people of this locality are much pleased because of the fact that all obstacles have been overcome and that finally harbor improvements are about to become a reality instead of a dream. Harbor improvements will mean much for this country. It will act as a stimulus in the development of large areas of timber lands and in the building up of our cities. The expenditure of nearly a million dollars in construction work to begin with will be a fine thing too.

We understand that some of the money raised by the sale of port bonds will be used in building expensive docks for Bay City and Garibaldi. This move, we are told, is sure to bring about contention at the very outset. There are many taxpayers of the port of Bay City who are anxious to see harbor improvements, but who do not care to have their money spent to further the aims and interests of private concerns or special localities and for that reason there is sure to be trouble if port money is used for the purpose of building docks at Bay City or Garibaldi. The cities of Bay City and Garibaldi should avoid this trouble by standing on their own feet and building and taking care of their own harbor facilities. A row and law suit at this time over harbor improvement expenditures would be out of place and much to be deplored, as it would have a bad effect just when things ought to move along smoothly.

Editor Baker of the Headlight still keeps harping about attorneys and their fees in connection with the pavement case. This is apparently done to cause people to think that the pavement controversy has been caused only by a desire of attorneys to secure fees, which idea of course is certainly erroneous. In taking up the case against the Warren Construction Company it was necessary to secure the best legal talent that could be secured. This the citizens did with the result that a far stronger case has been made against the Warren Construction Company, than was at first anticipated. In fact the citizens have every reason to be satisfied with the work of Attorneys Bagley and Tongue of Hillsboro, Senator Fulton of Portland and Attorney Bingham of Salem. This idea of trying to make out that the present controversy is the result of the attorneys' desire to secure fees is certainly ridiculous, in the face of the facts in the case, and the present condition of our pavement which is showing a continual addition of defects as the days come and go. Breaks are developing here and there and at different places a multitude of cracks are making their appearance. The citizens have a just cause for putting up a fight and if it is necessary to hire attorneys no one is to blame but the Warren Construction Co., and any move to discourage the people by howling about the attorneys is wholly uncalled for.

President Wilson is finding serious insurgency in the ranks of his own party against his currency bill program. In the house banking and currency committee there are stormy times over the matter. Representatives Henry and Ragsdale are trying to tear the President's measures to tatters, substituting radical changes. These southern men want currency issued on warehouse receipts for cotton, corn and wheat, as well as on bonds, stocks and other securities. Henry even went so far as to charge that the Glass bill, which President Wilson approves, was "written wholly in the interest of the creditor classes, the banking fraternity and the financial world, without proper provision for the debtors and those who toil and produce and sustain the country." These insurgents want to divide the emergency currency authorized by the bill into three separate groups—"commercial currency," "industrial currency," "agricultural currency." And so on.

The revolt is so serious that President Wilson has determined to give up his summer vacation and stay right on the job at Washington—his job, rather, for with the tariff, the currency, Mexico and all the rest he has several of them, good sized ones too.

Poor Bulgaria! She is paying dearly for her mid-summer madness in trying to grab from her allies an undue share of the Turkish spoils. Ambitious to become the dominant power in the Balkans, she listened to bad advice, and besides a fearful loss of her best blood, will come out with much less territory than she fairly earned that will make her the weakest of the Balkan states for a generation to come. But for the intervention of the powers, Bulgaria would be crushed completely; the desire to preserve the "balance of power" even among the petty Balkan states, also saves her. As it is she must give up a good slice to Roumania and another to Serbia; she will lose Saloniki to Greece and possibly all outlet to the Egean sea; and may have to give Adrianople and all of Thrace back to Turkey. Moreover, she has forfeited in large part the admiration and confidence of the world, gained in her splendid fight against Turkey. Poor Bulgaria, she has made a pitiful mistake.

LOCAL NEWS.

F. d. Eggleston has purchased the Palm Cafe, serving the first meal Monday noon. Mr. Eggleston is a veteran in the restaurant business and has secured a good cook and competent help and proposes to run a first class, up-to-date place.

F. Lewallen and family of Hebo were in the city today to enjoy the sights of a live town and incidentally take in the Wild West show. He honored the Herald office with a call and advanced his subscription a couple of pegs.

The masons have completed the brick laying on the Odd Fellow building and today started work on the Masonic building. The Odd Fellow building is now in the hands of electricians and lathers and everything is rushed for the early completion of the building.

West Sitton has been at Marshfield, S. D. during the summer looking after some business interests there he expects to return in about six weeks. He is coming back with a stronger love for Tillamook county and a determination never again to wander from its prosperous atmosphere and delightful climate.

Mrs. H. W. Laselle of Portland is visiting in the city with her niece Mrs. M. F. Leach. Mrs. Laselle formerly resided in Tillamook but it has been seventeen years since last she was here and of course notices many changes and new faces. She is meeting many of her old friends and is enjoying her visit.

Attorney John Leland Henderson has a son fifteen years of age whom he would like to place on a ranch, with good family, to work for his board and go to school and at the same time learn the practical side of dairying. Mr. Henderson is anxious that his son learn the dairy business from the ground up. Should any of our ranchers desire a good strong boy, they should see Mr. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Clark of Portland spent a few days in the city visiting with Mrs. Clark's brother Grant Thayer. She delighted her old friends by favoring them with a couple of solos at the Methodist church last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Clark have gone to Netarts for a couple of weeks outing at Happy Camp.

Martin Peterson, Charles Dickens, Rogner Fredlund and Harold Iwig of Portland hiked over the Wilson River road, arriving in Tillamook Monday, having had lots of sport fishing along the route. They went from here to Netarts and will continue from there to Bayocean and up the beach, returning home via the Ne-kah-nee trail and Astoria.

John Patterson of Tillamook and Miss Luella Hickey of Portland were married on July 29 at Vancouver, Rev. Walter I. Eck of St. Paul's English Lutheran church officiating. Mr. Patterson is employed in Billy Stephens place and is very popular among his friends who gave him and his bride a hearty reception when they arrived last Friday evening. They have taken apartments at the Tillamook hotel and will reside there.
