FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1913.

Editor Baker of the Headlight still continues his apparent policy of discouraging the citizens in their fight against the Warren Construction Co., by harping through the columns of his paper, about Attorneys' fees, etc. Editor Baker apparently has got hold of something he can not let go of very well and he is making the best of it. In other words he acts like a fellow who has set down on the fly paper. We really wonder if he loves the Warren Construction Co., as much as his paper would lead one to believe.

Tillamook City needs an industry that will produce finished lumber for building purposes. It is to be deplored that so much money is sent outside for finishing lumber that ought to be produced at home. As an instance in regard to this matter, we might state that Mr. Melchior, who has the contract for the building of the new Catholic Church tells us that the cost of the rough lumber in the new church will amount to $1000, while the cost of the finishing material will amount to $1200. The finishing material is shipped here from McMinnville. When we take into consideration the amount of building that is going on here we can see that but one conclusion and that is the fact that a large amount of money is going out of this city for material that ought to be produced at home. It seems to us that the commercial club has a fine opportunity to do some real work for the city by looking after this matter.

COUNTY FAIR NOTES.

Fair time is nearly here and we wish to say a few words to the exhibitors; the fair is not for prizes, but to show the world what Tillamook County can produce.

The prizes are to award people for their work in demonstrating. The fair is for the county as a whole not for a few, and we want every farmer to help. If you have something nice bring it in, whether a prize is offered for it or not, and in that way help us make a good exhibit, there will be many people here at that time and we must make a good showing.

We have asked the weather man to give us good weather and I think he will, so get ready for a good time the 3rd and 5th of September.

There will be speeches and demonstrations by the teachers of the O. A. C. Sept. 3rd and 4th, and a two o'clock Thursday Sept. 4th. Dr Kerr, the president of the college, will speak. Farmers don't miss this address.

There will be music, speaking etc. most of the time from 10:00 a.m. till 10:00 p.m. each day, only hours for meals and parades.

The grounds and buildings will be well lighted by the Electric Light Co.

We heard of one man telling that we had no place for stock. Don't be fooled by such reports. We have a tent 107 by 30 for cows and another one 80 by 40 for horses. These are fitted with proper stalls, and if these won't accommodate the stock, others will be furnished.

We want everything in place Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, at 10:00 a.m., when the president will touch a button that will set Tillamook county's first annual fair in operation.

It will all be worth seeing. Come and camp with us until the fair is over, and have a good time and go away happy shouting praises for Tillamook County.

Let us be boosters, the Lord loves boosters for His country and even the Devil likes a booster for his. No one loves a drone.

All we lack to having a Paradise in Tillamook is for us all to turn in to Angels, boosting the fair may help sprout the wings.

I hope we will all take advantage of our opportunities in this good country and be a happy people.

General programs will be on the grounds each day. Come to Tillamook City September 3rd and 5th and enjoy yourselves.

Yours to boost our county.
R. Y. BLALOCK, Sec.

SCIENCE AND ALCOHOL.

From Oregonian:

The verdict of disinterested science continues to go more and more strongly against alcohol in all its forms and disguises. Reputable physicians have almost ceased to employ it in their prescriptions. The persistent superstition that it was a food has perished. It has been proved that alcohol only appears to stimulate the body strength. In reality, it depresses the energies and weakens the person whom it deceives into the foolish confidence that it helps him. That it stupefies the mental energies has been known for a long time.

There is a peculiar species of wit that is imbued with "booze," but it appeals only to those who have themselves sipped a drop or two too much. Oliver Wendell Holmes, in a famous passage of the "Breakfast Table Autocrat," sounded the praises of alcohol as a mental vivifier. Perhaps no other paragraph in our literature has done so much harm. There is scarcely a genuine medical scholar of our day who would agree with his conclusions, but the passage is read in schools and helps to form the minds of the young. So its deplorable blunders are perpetuated.

The trend of science away from the approval of alcohol for any common use is well illustrated by the resolution which the international congress of neurology has adopted. This body of more than a hundred eminent physicians representing some twenty nations invited the governments of the world "to take prompt and rigorous measures to put an end to the evils of alcoholism, in view of his disastrous consequences." What measure ought to be taken the congress does not specify. It only insists that they shall be strong and vigorous. The obstacle in the way of their recommendation is manifest.

In almost every civilized country the manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks has become a great industry employing thousands of men and millions of money. Although it has no standing in the court of morals, the law must protect it as it does other forms of business, at least until it shall have been outlawed. Perhaps the most effective assaults upon the drink evil will not come from the governments of the world. Education, good food and short hours of work may succeed where the law can only expect failure.
