

NYAL'S FAMILY REMEDIES

We Love to talk about them. It's part of our business to know that they are absolutely reliable.

We know that expert pharmacists and chemists are employed in preparing them.

They are scientific preparations and have been on the market for years and used with excellent results.

No big advertisements and fake testimonials go with these remedies.

We know what's in them and like to recommend them in cases where we know they will do good.

For sale only at:

LAMAR'S DRUG STORE

The Tillamook Herald

C. E. Crombley, Editor

Issued Twice a Week • • • Tuesday and Friday

Entered as second-class matter May 17, 1911, at the post office at Tillamook, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Advertising Rates
Legal Advertisements	Each subsequent insertion, line .05
First Insertion, per line	$.10
Each subsequent insertion, line	.05
Homestead Notices	5.00
Timber Claims	10.00
Notices, per line	.05
Cards of thanks, per line	.05
Locals, per line, first insertion	.75
	Resolutions of condolence and Lodge notices, per line .05
	Business & Professional cards, mo. 1.00
	Display Advertisement, per inch .25

ALL Display Ads must be in this office on Monday and Thursday Mornings to insure publication in following Tuesday and Friday issues. Reasons are imperative.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1913.

We understand that pressure is being brought to bear to have our city council pass an anti-x ray skirt ordinance. We have no doubt, should a crisis arise, but what Marshal Myers will be equal to the occasion.

The Warren Construction Co. is reported to be getting ready to move its plant from this city. Some of our people are wondering if the Headlight will follow suit. The consensus of opinion is to the effect that it might as well.

As evidence that Tillamook County beaches are becoming popular, we might mention the fact that 500 people left Portland for Tillamook County last Saturday afternoon. The crowd filled eight coaches and it took five engines to pull the train out of Portland. Many thousands of people are enjoying our seashore resorts this summer, and there is no question but what the numbers will be greatly increased next year. There are but few places which afford such a diversified list of outdoor enjoyments as do the Tillamook County resorts. Besides the sea shore and bathing privileges, there is the healthful exercise, mountain climbing and fish and game in abundance.

With this issue of the Herald we are endeavoring to lay special stress upon the importance of Tillamook County's First Annual Fair and at the same time review the general development and progress of the county from every standpoint. No figures or space has been given the lumber industry, to speak of, because of the fact that the manufacture of lumber has hardly begun as yet. However, we might state that the stand of timber in Tillamook County is estimated at from twenty to thirty-two billion board feet and that it will cost in wages and equipment approximately $275,000,000 to place the same on the market. Our other assets are: the dairy industry, the raising of berries and vegetables. Our beautiful sea shores in conjunction with our splendid system of roads now being constructed and contemplated are also one of our most valuable assets. We are sure it would be hard for one to find a spot which contains more undeveloped wealth and opportunities than does Tillamook County. Our county which contains over 1100 square miles is indeed a kingdom within itself.

Geo. N. Taylor, field secretary of the Anti-saloon League of the state, gave an interesting address at a union meeting at the United Brethren Church

Sunday evening. Mr. Taylor gave us some interesting information in regard to the present day combat against the saloon. He stated that 71 per cent of the geographical extent of the United States was dry territory; and that 4,900,000, or half the population of the country was living under a dry regime. It is true that the consumption of liquors is on the increase, but this is because of the great increase of consumption of liquors in wet territory.

As proof that prohibition prohibits he gave the following figures from the brewers year book which is considered authentic: amount of liquor drunk in Pennsylvania, per capita, 32 gallons; in New York, per capita, 39 gallons; in New Jersey, per capita, 45 gallons; in Wisconsin, per capita, 64 gallons. The amount of liquor drunk in the eight prohibition states is 1 1/2 gallons per capita.

Mr. Taylor gave many instances of the influence which the Webb-Kenyon liquor bill was yielding against the liquor traffic by stopping the shipment of liquor from wet to dry states. The Webb-Kenyon bill is doing the business and there is no reason for voting wet because liquor can be shipped from wet territory.

KAISER JOINS RANKS OF THE TEETOTALERS.

Berlin, Aug. 23. Emperor William is reported to have joined the ranks of the teetotalers. It is known that during his recent northern cruise the Emperor abandoned use of all alcoholic beverages, and it is understood that he permanently has forsworn even the fatherland's famous beer and its choicest wines. As a substitute he has taken to lemonade with a dash of orange juice.

In imperial circles it has long been known that Emperor William was greatly impressed with statistical study of the effects of alcohol, ranging from crime to impairment of man's working efficiency. He often expressed the opinion to members of his court that immoderate drinking was one of the greatest factors in retarding the development of nations, and while he was swearing in naval recruits at Wilhelmshaven recently he took occasion to deliver a lecture on temperance. He also recently told army officers that he would be well pleased if toasts to his health were drunk in water. The Emperor has not forced his opinion on his friends, however, and his own stand has received little publicity, perhaps for the same reason that the Minister of Education of a south German state once opposed the establishment of a Good Templar lodge on the ground that it threatened one of the most important industries of the empire. The imperial example usually carries great weight.

Busy Tillamook and Its Busy Merchants

MANY NEW FIRMS LOCATE HERE,
AND THE OLD ONES EXPAND

Activity Noticed Everywhere. Much
Building in Progress to Keep Pace
With the Growing Population.

Since the advent of the railroad paved streets and brick business blocks in Tillamook the business men have awakened to a sense of their own importance, and have commenced to rapidly metamorphose into the truly metropolitan merchant, which their surroundings warrant, even demand. No longer is the itinerant customer permitted or compelled to saunter about the grocery or dry goods store, peering over the stock at will, selecting what appeals to the needs or fancy and settling with the proprietor at the cost of an interrupted checker game behind the stove.

New life thrills the community and new blood meets the emergency. Live young men and women, strictly up to date, politely solicit the customers needs and hasten to fulfill them. Timely suggestions are offered the undecided, while cash systems hasten the returning change. Neatness predominates, both within and without, paint and plate glass have transformed the street fronts from shabbiness to trimness while the same conditions prevail within the marts of trade.

1913 has been a year of a-awakening more particularly than any of the years preceding it, caused principally by the influx from the outside and the realization on the part of original inhabitants regarding the remarkable resources the territory possesses.

Perspectives, long set at an improper or narrow angle have been raised and the existing possibilities, of the town and county, situated in its strategic position as the only sea outlet, for many miles along the coast, comprehended.

While much of the present growth and activity of Tillamook town is due to the advent of live people from the outside, too much credit cannot be accorded to those earlier business pioneers, who after weathering the anti-railroad period, have bestirred themselves strenuously, to meet the changing conditions and are showing themselves competent and capable of competing with the feverish energy displayed by the constantly increasing population.

It is indeed true that the town is fast evolving from village to metropolis—and the process is a fascinating one to observe, as it always is.

The initiation of the First Annual Tillamook County Fair is only one of the many indications that the people are alive to this fact and quick to press their advantages. Volumes could be written on the inexhaustible resources present here within a small area, but of far more interest is the human side of the situation. The doings of man are always a fascinating study to man. Therefore a description of the individual development in the community is a more intimate and pleasing story to recount than the strides being made by the country as a whole.

All who are familiar with the place realize that a considerable growth has occurred in the past twelve months, and many changes taken place, yet few have taken actual cognizance of the true facts—the numbers or extent to which this growth has reached. We will strive to present a more or less accurate review of the most important instances.

The Necessities

Tillamook as the metropolis of the region in which it is situated, supplies a large territory with food products. This fact has resulted in the establishment of numerous large food supply houses that are growing with the country, although sometimes experiencing difficulty in meeting the rapidly increasing demands.

The opening of the beaches and their immediate astonishing popularity caused an influx of people unprecedented and more or less unexpected. To supply their needs and keep pace with local conditions imposed a large, yet welcome burden upon the merchants. They have, however, met the emergency with characteristic efficiency and now have things running smoothly.

The Tillamook Meat Co. probably is supplying more meat to a larger territory than any retail market in the state of Oregon. Mr. Leach is its owner and manager, has lived here for many years and built up his business with painstaking care. It is the only butchering concern in Tillamook and maintains its supremacy through business acumen of Mr. Leach.

The Tillamook Bakery is also alone in its field, yet meets all demands and is giving satisfaction and fair treatment to all. Mr. Vierick was formerly a Portland business man, but is willing to admit the city never imposed more responsibility nor greater demands upon him than the work of supplying.

(Continued on Page 3)

Come and See the Tillamook County Bank's New Building. Make Your Headquarters With Us While Attending the Fair. We have No Time To Write 'Ads.'

SETTLED AMICABLY

Difficulty Settled Without Resorting to Courts and All of the Stock Ordered Sold

Four of the sixteen pianos were sold yesterday and all of them met find buyers at once. There has never before been so many fine pianos on display in Tillamook and never before could you purchase a fine Kimball, Chickering, Smith and Barnes, Hallet and Davis, or an Autopiano and purchase so near to cost as right now. Remember the Tillamook Music Company had paid us nearly one half the cost of the pianos and we are willing to give you the advantage of every dollar paid by them. We sold a piano yesterday at $195.00 that would be cheap at $300.00 under ordinary conditions.

Do not be skeptical. A visit to the store will convince you and you surely save a vast amount of money.

Remember you have all the advantages that accrue from dealing with Eilers Music House, their famous easy, monthly payment plan and unconditional guarantee of satisfaction. It is surely your fault if you don't buy now and 'tis hardly possible that a like opportunity will ever occur again.

EILERS MUSIC HOUSE.

In the Old Patzlaff Building

Open Evenings