TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1913.

During recent trips over the county the editor of the Herald has been informed by different tax payers, that some of the men working on the roads are not putting in full time. The new law provides that workmen on the county roads shall not work longer than eight hours a day. While this may be a good law under certain circumstances, we do not believe it is working out well in county work. However that may be, it is not likely there would be any faultfinding to speak of if the men employed worked their full eight hours. Those having road work in charge should look into this matter at once and see if there are any grounds for these complaints and if there are the evil should be corrected.

The people of Sandlake are very anxious for a good road and we believe they are justly entitled to one. The Sandlake country is of considerable extent and its development will mean much added wealth to Tillamook County. The building of a good road into the Sandlake country will mean immediate activity in the cultivation of cranberries, which should in the course of a few years bring this county an annual income of from one to two hundred thousand dollars. The development of the Sandlake country will also bring added wealth along the line of general agricultural and dairy farming, as there are thousands of acres of fertile lands there to be brought under cultivation. The people of that locality have become discouraged and feel that other localities in the county of less importance, have received consideration in preference to them. It is to be hoped that as soon as possible the County Court will do something for the Sandlake people. Their resources certainly justify an ample expenditure in the matter of a good road.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Herald:

In the headlight of last week I notice that the editor takes it upon himself to score the City Council for laying a piece of plank road North of the City connecting with the new Warrenite County Road at the city limits. He seems to be very much incensed that there is some two hundred and fifty feet of road between his residence and his place of business that is not going to be paved by the Warren Construction Company. He insinuates that the City Council allowed themselves to be dictated to by the owners of the property abutting the road in question, which insinuation, we feel safe in saying, is absolutely false. I am one of the property owners referred to and will say, in justice to the City Council and myself, for the benefit of the few, if any, who might be influenced, unthinkingly, by anything Mr. Baker would say, that the unreasonably large amount of paving done in the city last year brought embarrassment to many of us and not having the necessary cash in hand to pay for paving my part of this piece of road, I suggested to the City Council to put down crushed rock to a thickness of one foot and which I supposed was going to be done until advised by the city officials that crushed rock was not to be had and that they had decided to put down plank which, under the circumstances, was probably the only solution. If Baker and the bunch of self-styled boosters who infest this town had not boosted the city quite so deep in the hole paving unused streets, back alleys and cow-pastures, thus virtually bankrupting the city, we would have had more money to have carried on needed improvements. He insinuates that I am one of a bunch who are opposed to civic improvements and, if being opposed to laying a bitulithic pavement, (of the "Tillamook Special" brand) especially on the portion of street referred to, is to be so construed, I certainly plead guilty to the charge. Am willing to leave the matter to any fair-minded person who will investigate the piece of road in question, note the soft earth fill of five or six feet in depth on a foundation of tide-land mud, where the tide ebbs and flows twice every day and the winter freshets cover the entire road for hours at a time, read the specifications of bitulithic pavement, noting the special instructions as to drainage, and last, but not least, our recent experience with the Warren Construction Company in regard to the miserably faulty work attempted to be foisted onto the city by them.

While on the subject of public improvements would say I am a member of the Citizens Committee who have had in hand the litigation regarding the work just referred to and, as such committee man, have spent much time and labor for which I have made no charge nor do I expect any compensation. Mr. Baker's insinuation to the contrary notwithstanding, I have come in for my share of censure and abuse at the hands of Mr. Baker, whose attitude I am unable to account for. I cannot understand why a newspaper, living off the citizens of the community, (the possibly I am mistaken in regard to this, which would explain the matter) should take such a stand against a movement backed by such institutions as the School District, The County Bank, the Odd Fellows Lodge, etc. and such individuals as H. F. Goodspeed, W. S. Hays, Beals Bros. and scores of other prominent citizens and property owners. By insinuation, innuendo, sarcasm and every disreputable means at his command Mr. Baker has made the utmost effort to discredit the movement against the Warren Construction Company and lay obstructions in the path of those who have a right to expect his loyal support.

To any one who gives the matter any thought it would seem to behoove Mr. Baker, who has accomplished so little in life and doesn't own a shingle in the town, to pass a little less criticism on the public improvements which the other fellow has to pay for as well as the private affairs of many of our respected citizens. It would seem that he should be satisfied by having a Warren Construction Company pavement in front of his residence free of charge to him and allow the people who have to foot the bills to say whether or not they will lay plank road or bitulithic pavement or have sky-scrapers or shacks on their own property. It seems incredible that he should take such a stand, possibly the same subtle power is again at work which caused him to renounce his prohibition principles and take up the cause of saloons in the last city election.

EMPEROR WILHELM ON DRINK QUESTION.

Following is speech of Emperor Wilhelm before naval students advising total abstinence.

"Another little admonition I will give you upon a question which lies heavily upon my heart for my nation. It is the question, the alcohol and the drink.

I know very well that the pleasure of drinking is an old heritage of the Germans. We must henceforth, however, through self-discipline, free ourselves from this evil in every connection.

I can assure you that I in my twenty-two-year reign have made the observation that the greater number of criminal cases submitted to me for adjudication—up to nine-tenths—are traceable to the consequences of alcohol.

In earlier times it passed for extraordinary cleverness in the youth for him to imbibe a large quantity of alcohol and bear it. I as a young officer, had occasion to see such examples, but never myself to participate.

These are views that suited the thirty-year war, but now, no more. Entirely apart from the consequences, which I need not further portray, I desire to apprise you on one point for your future career in the first line. As you yourselves will observe during the course of your term of service on board, the service in my navy has reached such a height of strenuousness as you can hardly surpass.

To endure these enormous peace exertions without exhaustion and to be fresh in the event of real seriousness depends upon you.

The next war and the next sea battle demand sound nerves of you. Nerves will decide. These will become undermined through alcohol and from youth up by the use of alcohol endangered.

You will later have opportunity to see the target ships and the action of the modern projections upon the ships, and therefrom you can picture the conditions during battle. You will see horrible destruction when you are upon these.

Here it calls—
"Steady nerves and a cool head!"
That nation which consumes the least quantity of alcohol wins. And that you should be, my gentlemen! And through you an example should be given the crews. That works most with mankind.

And in consequence of this, I expect of you that even now at the naval academy and on board ship, in all comradeship and friendliness in no way disturbed, among yourselves you take heed thereto and provide that the indulgence in alcohol be not counted as belonging to your privileges.

There are being organized in my navy Good Templar lodges and Blue Cross societies. Individual officers and several hundred men have joined. I hope you will do all you can to aid the crews to join.

I need merely refer to the typical example of the English navy, where 20,000 men and officers have already joined, to the great advantage of that navy.

It is a question of the future for our navy and for our people. If you educate the people to abstain from alcohol, I shall gain healthy and sensible subjects.

It is a great question of the future, because through the men who leave the service, the idea will be brought upon the land.

When you spread these principles, my people will be morally uplifted, that is a work in which I bid you do your share."

THE MEAT SUPPLY

At the eighth annual convention of American meat-packers in Chicago, on September 22nd, the executive committee reported that the steady diminution of live stock has now brought the supply of cattle far below the demands of the home market. Different speakers suggested, by way of relief for the situation, that every small farmer raise at least two beef cattle a year; that the ranges in the West be cut up into small farms, so that all beef-raisers may enter the market on the same footing; that more corn and less cotton be raised in the Southern States, in order to supply feed for cattle and hogs; and that the hills of the North-eastern States be made beef-producing regions. On September 23rd the convention voted to spend $1,000,000 a year for five years to stimulate the cattle-raising industry.

SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST DISTRICT NO. 9.

Attorney Danniway of Portland has filed a suit for school district No. 35, against County Clerk J. C. Holden, the district boundary board, consisting of the county commissioners and county superintendent, in which he seeks to set aside the proceedings by which additional territory was taken in by district No. 9, and to prevent Holden from extending the tax levied by District No. 9 on property formerly included in District No. 35. Danniway claims that since the constitutional amendment concerning the initiative and referendum was passed that the statutory provisions concerning changes of school boundaries are ineffective and that changes must now be made by initiative petition and that the people in the districts effected have an opportunity to vote on it.

Ranks of Voters May be Doubled

Salem—That the enfranchisement of women may be double the total registration in Oregon is the belief of the men who have made a study of registration figures in Secretary of State Olcott's office. The conclusions are based on reports of registrations from the various counties from June 3 to August 15.
