THE MEXICAN ELECTION

From Journal:

The presidential election in Mexico yesterday resulted in no choice. Probably it is the result for which Huerta planned. It is better for his purpose than his own election could have been. It leaves him a dictator still, unbound by constitutional restrictions. He is the state. His sword is the legislative department. His cannon is the constitution of Mexico. His bayonets are the ballot boxes. His artillerymen are the supreme judges.

The republic is dead. Mexico is an empire, with Huerta on its throne. He is a new Maximilian, and Sir Lionel Carden's lightning-like recognition of Huerta's dictatorship is almost a renewal of the policy of Napoleon III. England's sympathy with Huerta's program because of oil concessions is almost a new edition of the France of 1864.

We refused in 1867 to permit a throne to be permanently set up in Mexico. We sent Civil war regiments to the Mexican border. We sent ultimatums to Napoleon III. We threatened and warned. We forced the French to withdraw their troops, and, unsupported by his European allies, Maximilian, a man of rare and beautiful character, a ruler as far superior to Huerta as the eagle to the jaybird, was driven from capitol, captured and shot.

How strange, in view of American history and precedents, that there should be those in this country who want the Washington government to recognize Huerta. To do so would be an insult to the best traditions and the most sacred covenants of the nation.

Thus, Huerta has issued a decree raising the Mexican army to 150,000 men. He asked the Mexican congress for such an army, and it refused. It limited him to 80,000. Then he sent 105 congressmen to the penitentiary and suspended the whole legislative body. It stood in his way.

His rule rests on the army. His throne is planted on siege guns. His empire is supported by soldiers, and he wants more of them with which to enlarge his sway and lengthen his tenure.

With a brazenness never before seen on this continent, he has suspended the republic; he has suspended the constitution; he has suspended the legislative branch; he has suspended free speech; he has suspended everything but himself and it is such a Caesar that President Wilson is asked to support with American recognition.

Every added step in Huerta's conduct is an unanswerable proof of the wisdom of Woodrow Wilson's Mexican policy.

NEHALEM JETTY ROCK BOUGHT

Work on the extension of the south jetty, at the mouth of the Nehalem, will proceed as soon as preliminaries are attended, under the direction of Major Morrow, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., who received authorization yesterday from the chief of engineers to enter into a contract with the Miami Quarry Company for the rock at $1.30 a ton.

When bids were first opened the lowest figure on rock was $1.40, and it was ordered rejected, but on the company shading the price it was found satisfactory. It will probably be Spring before the plant will be ready for the first deliveries. The north jetty has been authorized as well and the estimate for both is $635,350. Taxpayers of the Port of Nehalem district contribute half. They have deposited already $235,000 and were given credit for $82,000 previously expended.

EMBROIDER YOUR OWN

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

To accommodate the many requests for instructions in needlework and in planning gifts for Christmas I am now forming classes in every kind of embroidery consisting of twenty-five different kinds, also in crochet work, Hattenberg faces, bead work, stenciling, drawn work, etc.

Never have hand embroideries been more sumptuous or beautiful in effect than they are now. Some of the new embroideries employ very heavy threads and long stitches. They are really very practical and because the work may be completed so easily and quickly even the busiest housewives can find time to make ever so many things. Some of the new work is simplicity itself and is most fascinating in its development. These are especially adapted to the needs of the busy person and they are really more effective than many kinds of work which take a great deal of time. And now that the opportunity is here to learn all this work free of charge and to obtain such beautiful designs in patterns and stamped materials, no one should let this opportunity pass by to learn at least one or two of the new embroideries; for what can be a more acceptable gift than one's own handwork? The token made by one's self and presented at Christmas is so much more appreciated than a gift purchased all ready made because, in the handmade gifts love breathes from every stitch. By entering these classes now a great many articles can be completed before Christmas arrives. We have a beautiful line of patterns for all kinds of handmade articles. The lessons in embroidery are free with the articles purchased and will be given at the Needlework Shop or privately in your own homes. Phone us to call at your home with some of our samples if it is not convenient to visit our shop. Phone Bell, Main 126 W. or Mutual, Lineback store.

We have stencils and Hattenberg patterns to loan to our customers, also.

Come in and see us at once before the Christmas rush is on and we will help you make all your holiday gifts.

WILL NOT RECOGNIZE ELECTION OF HUERTA

Mexican Congress Will Declare Vote Void and Seat Blanquet as President.

Mexico City.—In the event that the Huerta Blanquet ticket is shown to have polled a majority sufficient to be declared elected, as now seems probable, congress will declare the Huerta votes void and Blanquet will take the oath as vice-president and assume the presidency, pending the calling of further elections. This statement was made by the Mexican foreign minister. The clause in the constitution prohibiting the president from succeeding himself does not apply to the vice-president, Senor Madero explained, and Blanquet would be eligible for election.

The returns continue to pile up pluralities for the administration ticket. Even the leaders of the Catholic party, who at first were extremely optimistic, admit the probability of the election of Huerta and Blanquet.

The majority of senators and deputies reported elected thus far are said to be members of the Catholic party.

There was no disorder in Mexico City. The polling places opened at 9. The election officials appeared to be a representative class of citizens.

Diaz Seeks Refuge on Warship. Vera Cruz.—General Felix Diaz, much agitated and declaring his life was in danger, took refuge in the United States consulate, entering by a rear door after a flight over the rooftops from his hotel. Consul Canada advised him to board a navy launch, which he did, and went on board the Wheeler. Later he was transferred by order of Rear-Admiral Fletcher to the flagship, the Louisiana.

REDEDICATE CONGRESS HALL

President Wilson Occupies the Historic Chair Used by John Hancock. Philadelphia.—Congress hall, in historic Independence square, where the senate and house of representatives sat from 1790 to 1800, was rededicated with patriotic exercises, the occasion marking the completion of the restoration of the hall to almost its original appearance.

President Wilson was the central figure in the ceremonies and delivered a 10-minute address.

The president was the last speaker. He sat in the high-backed chair which was used by John Hancock when he presided over the continental congress.

Katherine Elkins Weds Young M.H. Elkins, W. Va.—Katherine Elkins, daughter of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins, was married here to William F. R. Hitt. Miss Elkins' name was prominently before the public recently in connection with a report that she was to wed the Duke of Abruzzi. The bride is a granddaughter of a United States Senator Cassaway Davis, and Mr. Hitt is a son of a former representative in congress from Illinois.

CHURCH QUESTIONS REMAIN UNSETTLED

New York.—The general convention of 1913 of the Protestant Episcopal church passed into history, a hopelessly deadlocked on two important resolutions, with the most far-reaching topic of legislation before it unconsidered by one house because of an error in the other, and with a positive refusal to consider a request of the Women's Christian Temperance union that fermented grape juice be substituted for wine in the communion service.

On the proposal to establish a separate bishopric for negroes in the south and on the proposed elimination of the words "Jews, Turks, infidels and heretics," the house of bishops and the house of deputies were deadlocked.

On the proposal to require a two-thirds vote to change the name of the church, adopted by the deputies, the bishops refused to act because the resolution was sent to them only the day before adjournment, while it was adopted by the lower house more than two weeks ago. The original draft of the resolution was mislaid.

Pullman College Team Defeated. Portland.—Three thousand football enthusiasts saw the Multnomah club defeat Washington state college on Winged "M" field, 7 to 0.

Oregon Wins, 27-0, Over Idaho. Eugene.—By a score of 27 to 0, Oregon eliminated Idaho from the race for the conference football championship on Kincaid field.
