HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Wes Deo Little, Jr.
Since this was test week, everything has been very quiet about the school, except some of the students minds and they have been very disturbed about their grades, or rather lack of grades. Such things as these however have existed ever since tests were instituted, and very likely will last as long as the test themselves, so it is no particular marvel.

Frank Eubeson was trying to light a gas stove or was irritating it in some other manner when it exploded and scorched his eyebrows and "moustache" and burned his face quite badly, however, Frank sustained no very serious injury, nor was he able to miss any school on account of it. It has not yet been determined whether he will be confined for an attempt at suicide, since there is no way of proving that this was his intention.

A student body meeting was held last week for the purpose of discussing the advisability of reorganizing the student body and levying a tax each semester for belonging to the student body organization. The idea was received favorably and a motion to that effect was made and carried. By another motion the president appointed a committee composed of two from each class, determine the amount of the tax and make some further arrangements. We believe that this is an excellent thing for the school and therefore should receive the support of the entire student body. By levying some reasonable tax a fund, belonging to the organized student body, will be raised and in this way the credit of the school can be kept in good condition, at the present time its credit is none too sure. When any school activity, such as foot-ball, debate, etc., is in immediate need of money, the necessary funds can be borrowed from the Student Body treasury and then paid back later on. Thus any worthy enterprise will not be cramped and held down by the lack of money, as is often the case under the present system, since the means for launching such an enterprise will always be obtainable. It has been suggested that a constitution be made providing for these arrangements, and put into effect as soon as possible. Undoubtedly it will be a good policy to adopt a constitution and carry on business accordingly. Hence we hope to see everyone get in and boost for a new lively Student Body.

The Juniors had another candy sale last Friday. An excellent business was done as all kinds of student body aches will prove. The girls made the candy in the Domestic Science department, but from all appearances no serious mistakes were made. The Juniors are surely greedy for here and they get it too. The use to which they intend putting the money is very commendable however, and the more we help them to make it the better will be the annual they are going to put out. A goal annual is a fine advertisement for the school and we should assist the Juniors in every way possible in their effort to make this annual a success.

PORTLAND LETTER.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 25 (Special)—From all over the West, and from some of the Middle Western states, come reports of intending exhibitors at the International Livestock Exposition to be held at the Portland Union Stockyards, December 8-13. Guernseys from Wisconsin, Holsteins from Arizona, Herefords and Shorthorns from Montana will be seen on dress parade by the side of fancy livestock from the agricultural colleges of California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Stump's herd of Jerseys from Month, Oregon, from which the grand champion heifer for the United States at the National show in Chicago was taken, will be entered, and the Brown, Minor and Dunn Shorthorns are also on this circuit. Many entries of sheep from the most prominent flocks of the Northwest will also be shown.

The exposition officials have been fortunate in securing the services of some of the most famous livestock judges in the Union to take care of the classes. Practically all the men selected have been judges at the International Livestock Exposition or the National Dairy Show at Chicago and all are noted for exceptional ability and fairness. Commercial and booster clubs all over the Northwest are enthusiastically stirring up interest in the event, full special car parties are promised from a number of the cities

Citizens Nominate Splendid Ticket

F. R. Beals Heads the Ticket; Good Bunch of Councilmen also Nominated.

On Saturday evening the court room of the court house was well filled with representative citizens of our city, who proceeded to put in nomination a set of candidates to be voted on at the coming city election, which will be held December 1.

The meeting was called to order by Councilman Erwin Harrison, who was made permanent chairman, after which Attorney S. S. Johnson was made secretary of the meeting.

After the preliminaries had been disposed of D. L. Shrode arose and after a short speech placed in nomination F. R. Beals for mayor. The nomination of Mr. Beals was greeted with considerable applause, after which on motion the nominations were closed and Mr. Beals was declared the nominee by unanimous consent of all those present.

J. H. Gaylord was unanimously nominated for the office of city treasurer.

After the nominations for mayor and treasurer had been filled, those present from the different wards proceeded to nominate candidates from their respective wards and the following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

First ward, John Kellison; Second ward, Geo. Edmunds; Third ward, Sam Broadhead; Fourth ward, M. Melchior; Fifth ward, Geo. Lamb.

J. C. Holden was nominated to the office of water commissioner from the third ward.

of Eastern and Central Oregon and it is expected that many people all over the country will take advantage of the reduced railroad rates.

The report of the Junction City Creamery, just published, proves that the industry has been a success in every way. This creamery was organized eleven months ago and during that time 84,000 pounds of butter has been made, about 5,000 pounds of which has been used by the farmers themselves. The remainder sold for $25,094, buttermilk for $273 and cream for $487, making a total of $26,055. Of this amount the farmers received $22,240, less one cent per pound for running expenses. The average price paid for butter during the last 11 months was 34 cents per pound, and the farmers received $1,200 more than if they had sold their products to private creameries.

President W. J. Kerr, of the Oregon Agricultural College, has recently been in conference with the Secretary of Agriculture and other officials at Washington regarding larger co-operation by the Government with the state in its agricultural work, and has been assured that the department of farm management will contribute money for the promotion of boys' and girls' clubs throughout the state and also co-operate with the college in every way for the extension of agricultural education. President Kerr was much interested in the bureau of marketing and has asked that the department send experts to Oregon to show how to get better markets and better prices for farm products.

At a recent meeting, in Portland, of representatives of the Willamette Valley Exposition Association, it was determined to make the San Francisco exhibit in the nature of a diversified farm display. It is expected this will require a space not less than 20x100 feet and that sufficient material will be provided to occupy a similar area in the Oregon state building.

Permits School Dancing
Olympia, Wash.—After nearly 12 years, during which dancing in public school buildings has been forbidden rigidly, Attorney-General Tanner, in an official opinion, throws the bars down to devotees of the tango, as well as the more conservative forms of the tertsichorean art.

On Your Own Account

Have you any money in the bank? A part of your earnings ought to be placed there, anyway. Everybody can afford to save something, however little. Have a bank account of your own and you will feel happier, better, more independent. Make your little money earn more, and so grow bigger. Better than hoarding it where fire or thieves can reach it. Your bank-book is a receipt and an evidence of your wise economy.
