BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

Mrs. Flora Foreman, principal of the Quincy school district, faces charges of having introduced socialistic doctrines in the public schools.

The apple was king in Oregon Tuesday. Governor West issued an official proclamation declaring that day to be "apple day" in this state.

For the first time since range horses sold for from $10 to $20 the United States army has invaded the Baker district to buy horses.

Captain McLaughlin, twenty first infantry, has been detailed as inspector instructor of the Oregon Militia, with headquarters at Portland.

Proceedings to contest the election of November 4, in which Harrisburg went "dry," have been instituted by W. B. Holman, proprietor of one of Harrisburg's two saloons.

Klamath land owners who are delinquent in their construction charges have been given an extension of time. Payments may now be made by May 1, 1914.

The [illegible] county court has set aside [illegible] use in employing experts to help keep watch on violations of the [illegible] laws. "Spotters" will no longer be employed.

Captain Robert Dollar, head of the transpacific steamship, told Portland business men that more concerted action in the matter of deepening the Columbia river channel was needed.

The secretary of the treasury has permitted $400,000 with depository banks in Oregon to aid in moving the crops and has made a deposit of $500,000 to depositaries of Washington.

Senator Lane has introduced a bill authorizing the appropriation of $1,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing or constructing a sea going dredge for use at the mouth of the Columbia river.

Plans are being made for the participation of an exhibit of Oregon's resources at Portland, for the benefit of visitors and others who will pass through that city during the Panama Pacific fair at San Francisco in 1914.

Combined action supporting the contemplated to deepen the channel at the mouth of the Columbia river has been undertaken by the Ports of Columbia committee, Ports of Portland and Astoria and the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

The Industrial Welfare Commission's plan of limiting the hours for women workers is opposed by many businessmen of Oregon, and it is declared that the women employes will be discharged in many cases, if the law is permitted.

W. Ferguson, state insurance commissioner, who has returned from a trip to the Middle West, where he made an investigation of insurance conditions, declared that he favored the establishment of life insurance under the supervision of the state.

With his throat cut and an artery in his left wrist severed as a result of attempted self-destruction, his eyes closed, his head thrown back, his lips muttering a prayer, Oswald C. Hansel, slayer of Frank J. Taylor, of Astoria, was hanged at the state penitentiary.

Despite the fact that Secretary Lane on July 19 virtually directed the General Land Office and his own office to issue patents in 15 or more Siletz cases, that order has not been carried out. The department has been holding some of these entries for cancellation.

Every city and country school in Oregon and Washington that wants a pig can have one with the compliments of the Portland Union Stock Yards. The only condition attaching to the gift pigs will be a requirement that each school accepting one keep an accurate record of the kind, quantity and the cost of the food that is given it. This will be for the purpose of determining the cost of feeding and preparing a pig for market.

While Government engineers detailed from the reclamation service and army engineer corps, in co-operation with State Engineer Lewis, of Oregon, are making an investigation of the proposed gigantic water power project at Celilo Falls, on the Columbia river, Senator Lane will devote his time to working out a plan whereby this project, when outlined, can be built jointly by the states of Oregon and Washington, in conjunction with the federal government.

Representative Hawley has directed his secretary to make arrangements for holding an examination at Salem on Saturday, November 29, for the purpose of ascertaining the mental and physical qualifications of young men who may desire to be appointed to the United States naval and military academies. Mr. Hawley will make his nominations after considering the reports submitted by a competent physician and an instructor who will thoroughly and carefully examine the candidates. The candidates must be actual residents of the First Congressional District and the competitive examination is open to all such eligible candidates between the ages of 17 and 22 years of ago for West Point and between the ages of 16 and 20 years when desiring appointment to the naval academy.

OREGON "WETS" CONTEST

Question of Legality of Election Raised in Local Option Elections

Portland.—Though 12 Oregon towns elected previously as "wet" voted "dry" at local option elections held in conjunction with the special state referendum election on Tuesday, November 4, ballots have been taken into court in six of the towns.

These towns are Salem, Harrisburg, Oregon City, Springfield, Gresham and Hillsboro. All are in different counties.

In general the main point of attack in each case is the claim that the local option election was illegal because it did not take place on the date of a general state or city election, but at a special election called merely to pass on questions submitted under the referendum.

Boise Mail Clerk Confesses

Boise, Idaho.—With his pockets packed with letters addressed to local business men and in which there was money and numerous checks, George W. Bell, for many years a trusted employe of the Boise postoffice, was arrested here by Postoffice Inspector Sear on the charge of robbing the United States mails. When "sweated" he made a full confession.

Washington Medical Board is Named

Olympia, Wash.—Governor Lister has appointed an entirely new state board of medical examiners, consisting of the following physicians: Robert Percy Smith, Seattle; Royal A. Dove, Yakima; A. J. Nelson, Seattle; J. J. Tilton, Toppenish; C. N. Suttner, Walla Walla; James A. Mackechnie, Dayton; Elmer D. Olmsted, Spokane; J. L. Walker, Sunnyside; J. E. Hodgson, Spokane.

WILL INVESTIGATE WORKERS' TROUBLE

Salem, Or.—After making practically complete preparations to leave for Florence to personally investigate the I. W. W. deportation, Governor West got into communication with Captain Iffery E. Metcalf, O. N. G., of Cottage Grove, and detailed him to make the investigation. Captain Metcalf will be accompanied by another officer of the national guard of his own selection.

"If Captain Metcalf reports anything wrong at Florence," said the governor, "martial law will be declared until the officials there can give assurance of seeing that the laws are enforced."

Captain Metcalf will investigate the Florence troubles and make his report from there to the governor. He will remain there until the governor decides what action shall be taken.

The governor says he is determined that mob rule and deportations in this state shall end.

Florence, Or.—Citizens of Florence escorted nine Industrial Workers of the World, who had established their headquarters here, to a boat on which they took them to the mouth of the Siuslay River and headed them north along the beach, with instructions to "keep going." There was no disorder in town after the boat had departed.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Plan to Revise National Banking Laws to Meet New Currency System.

Washington.—With the administration currency bill to be reported to the senate this week after long delay, a plan to revise the national banking laws to meet the new currency system has made its appearance in legislative circles. It will include important questions originally contemplated as a part of the currency bill, but set aside until the next session of congress, when a general revision of banking laws has been promised by the administration.

In connection with this proposed revision congress will take up the far-reaching question of rural credits. One of the provisions which probably will be inserted in the new law will forbid interlocking directorates in national banks. An effort has been made to put this prohibition in the pending currency bill, but the administration has maintained that it should go into the new banking law.

The senate banking and currency administration supporters have declined to consider a scheme for guaranteeing national bank deposits with the understanding that that question would be taken up next session.

Advocates of the bank law revision plan are seeking to place their projects ahead of the proposed rural credit legislation in the administration program.

Commission Idea Rules Irrigation

The United States Reclamation service now is operating under what has recently been termed the "one man" form of government. If and if the plan proves a success, the new department will continue in force. It is the complaints that have been made for years against the reclamation service, Secretary Lane arrived at the conclusion that there should be a greater division of authority than prevailed in the service as first organized and created what is now known as the Reclamation Commission, whose organization has been perfected only recently, consists of F. H. Newell, director; A. P. Davis, chief engineer; W. H. King, chief counsel; W. A. Ryan, controller, and I. D. O'Donnell, irrigation manager.

The commissioners meets once a week in conference with Secretary Lane and at the weekly meetings all questions of policy are settled, all plans for construction work are approved and all contracts let.

Message Will Be Short

President Wilson has announced he would read in person his first annual message to congress.

The president thus far has read three brief addresses—on the tariff, the currency and the Mexican affairs—but it was not definitely known whether his first communication to the regular session of congress would be in accordance with the century-old precedent which he revived last March. Mr. Wilson indicated that no such long and voluminous messages as have heretofore been sent by presidents to congress will be prepared by him.

Sale of Cruiser Boston Fought

The department of justice has filed in the supreme court its brief in behalf of Secretary of the Navy Daniels in the case of A. Goldberg, of Vancouver, B. C., who is seeking to compel the navy department to deliver to him the United States cruiser Boston put up for sale to the highest bidder in 1910. The lower courts here decided against Goldberg, although he showed he had deposited a certified check for $20,000 with the department which the secretary would not accept.

The navy department declared the secretary had discretion in such matters and had withdrawn the vessel from sale to lend it to the Oregon State naval militia. Goldberg contended the secretary had no authority to take such action.

National Capital Brevities

Dudley Field Malone, third assistant secretary of state, may be selected by President Wilson as collector of the Port of New York to succeed John P. Mitchell.

Cold storage is responsible for high prices of eggs, says the department of agriculture. The supply of eggs is said to have increased steadily in the past 14 years.

About 100 delegates, representing every state in the Union and every shade of opinion were present at the fifth National Conservation Congress, which opened here Tuesday morning with an address by Secretary of Agriculture Houston.

Colonel Alexander O. Brodie, bosom friend of Theodore Roosevelt, was placed on the retired list of the army on account of age. Colonel Brodie helped Colonel Roosevelt as a Rough Rider, and served as major and lieutenant colonel. On July, 1902, he was made governor of Arizona.
