THANKSGIVING DAY

The people of Tillamook and vicinity spent Thanksgiving day in various manners. A Union Thanksgiving Service was held at the Christian Church in the morning which was attended by a fair sized congregation. Rev. H. F. White, pastor of the U. B. Church delivering the sermon. Rev. White gave a splendid address which was full of good and timely thoughts. One of the things which Rev. White said he was thankful for was the fact that he was a pioneer of the Pacific Slope, and then he went on to give the views of a certain learned man of Dayton, Ohio, whom he recently heard make an address, which were to the effect that the ever onward march of progress and empire was towards the setting sun and that in consequence the Pacific Slope was in the near future to become the seat of commerce and power; that as the seat of world power had advanced from the Euphrates River to Greece and then on to Rome, Spain, England and across the Atlantic to our own eastern shores, it was to soon establish itself by the aid of the Panama Canal on the Pacific Coast. Rev. White laid special stress upon the fact that it was an Eastern man who had made the above statement. He also stated that we should be thankful because we had for President, Vice-President, Secretary of State and other cabinet officials men who were more than nominally Christians.

A general good time and feasting was program of the day among the many homes of the city and at the hotels. At the Hotel Tillamook a fine ten course dinner was prepared and served under the direction and supervision of Steward Col. Worrall of that popular hostelry. A fine program was rendered during the dinner hour and everything was done for the comfort and pleasure of the guests. At the Ramsey House a fine eight course dinner was served to the satisfaction of that popular hostelry's guests. The dinners at both hotels were well patronized.

In the evening dancing was enjoyed at the Commercial Club and at the Opera House.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senate Committee Present Substitutes for Administration Currency Bill.

Washington.—The final legislative fight for President Wilson's currency bill began in the senate with the presentation of reports from the divided banking committee. The bill submitted by Chairman Owen and five other democrats of the committee follows closely the lines of the House measure and contains only such amendments as President Wilson was willing to accept.

Senator Hitchcock, democrat, and the five republicans submitted a draft materially changing the bill and proposing four reserve banks owned by the public and controlled by the government.

Both sections of the committee agreed on concentration of reserves, their volume and mobilization, the volume of the capital of the proposed banks, promotion of an open discount market, provision for elastic currency, the issuance of federal reserve notes, that the federal notes should be obligations of the United States, that the system should be a regional federal reserve bank system, instead of a central bank, and on the control of the system itself by the government.

White House to Be Closed New Year

President Wilson has decided not to hold a public reception in the white house on New Year's day. The official announcement of his intention was couched in this language:

"The usual New Year's reception will not be held on January 1, 1914. The departure from custom on this occasion is due to the fact that the president will not be in Washington at that time. Owing to the long session of congress, the president has had no vacation since his inauguration. As the approaching session of congress will be the long session, the only opportunity for the president to secure a rest will be during the next holiday recess of congress."

In this the president has shattered a long established custom and his action will be resented in Washington is certain.

"Circular 8" is Upheld.

The legality of "Circular 8," putting into effect the Dick law for the reorganization of the militia, was upheld in an opinion by Brigadier-General Enoch H. Crowder, judge-advocate general of the army, made public by Secretary Garrison.

The circular, the legality of which was challenged by the National Guard Association, holds that the federal government will recognize national guard officers and organizations only when requirements of the regular army are complied with as to organization, equipment and discipline.

Election Chasm Bridged.

Temporary laws for direct election of senators were endorsed by the senate elections committee. Senator Poinsett's bill providing that senators shall be elected under present laws governing the selection of representatives-at-large or governors until each state has made provision for elections under the new constitutional amendment was recommended for passage.

National Capital Brevities.

President Wilson has perhaps the most important task he has confronted since his inauguration. In the selection of three new members of the interstate commerce commission.

Abolition of political bosses and the general condition of the democratic party were among the subjects discussed at a conference between President Wilson and William F. McCombs chairman of the democratic national committee.

John Bassett Moore will not resign as counselor for the state department March 1. He denies friction between himself and Bryan. He was advisor on the Mexican situation under Taft, and acts in the same capacity under President Wilson.

Democratic senators friendly to the appointment of H. M. Pindell, the Peoria publisher, as ambassador Russia, let it be known that they would make an extreme effort to cure the confirmation of his nomination before the end of the week.

WILSON-SAYRE WEDDING SOCIAL EVENT

Marriage Ceremony Performed in Historic East Room of White House.

Washington.—Occupying first place in the important events of the week at the nation's capital was the wedding Tuesday afternoon of Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Wilson. The ceremony was performed in the historic East room of the white house, on the very spot where Miss Nellie Grant married Algonon C. F. Sartorius on May 21, 1873, and where later Miss Alice Roosevelt was joined in wedlock to Nicholas Longworth.

An altar had been erected before the broad window at the east side of the room, as was done for the Roosevelt wedding. Before the altar was a broad dais, on which the bridal party stood.

Miss Wilson, attended by her maids, entered the East room, through the main doorway, from the inner apartment, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Sayre, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of the Labrador mission, the best man, and the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach awaited her at the altar. To one side were the diplomatic corps. Opposite them were the guests of the senate and the house and in another group the personal friends of the Wilson family and the representatives of Washington residential society.

OPPOSE INSURANCE CURB

Fraternal Congress Disturbed by Policy of Wisconsin.

Chicago.—Condemnation of activities of state insurance commissioners in the internal affairs of fraternal insurance orders was expressed in resolutions adopted here by the executive board of the National Fraternal congress.

The resolution resulted from reports of officials of the Independent Order of Foresters of Toronto that the insurance commissioner of Wisconsin had demanded a change in plans for a special assessment of $0.99 members which the order's constitution does not call for. The resolution asserts that such a policy "finds no warrant in the laws of any state and if successfully pursued will be destructive to the fraternal insurance system."

Washington University Regent Named

Olympia, Wash.—Eldridge Wheeler, for many years head of the schools of Montesano and now mayor of that city, a prominent democrat, was appointed a regent of the university of Washington to succeed Howard O. Cosgrove, son of the late governor who resigned recently.

Rewards for Homicide

Salem.—Governor War Jes. proclamation has offered a reward of $2,500 for the arrest and conviction of any person who has committed homicide in the state and in another proclamation he revoked all unearned rewards offered here before.

The sudden death of Commissioner Marble, of the interstate commerce commission, will make no change in the plans for the beginning of the investigation of the eastern railroads request for advance in rates, it was announced.

That railroad rates are not commensurate with the increased cost of operation, taxes and wages and additions to equipment necessary to meet the demands of the country, was the statement made to the interstate commerce commission by representatives of the railroads arguing for a general increase of 5 per cent in freight rates.

"DROP IN AND LOOK AROUND"

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Events Occurring Throughout the State During the Past Week.

Mother in Tears Sees Girl.

Salem.—The tears of a mother pleading that she be permitted to see her daughter, whom she had not seen for four years, won the hearts of the state board of control and Mrs. Emma Thompson was given an interview with her eldest child, Lillian Larkin, an inmate of the state industrial school for girls.

The board, however, denied a parole, after a session of almost two hours, in which a committee of four, headed by Mrs. Jean Bennett, of Portland, pleaded that the girl be released.

Maids Want to Return to Homes.

Albany.—Cedie Diethelm and Hilda Kruger, who came from Lucerne, Switzerland, to marry, after an exchange of photographs and letters with Kasper Kirtz and Herman Oung, newcomers, changed their minds after seeing the men in the case. The young women now want to return to their mountain home. They have no money, and a public subscription may be started for them.

Roseburg Couple Wed; Secret Held.

Roseburg.—To be married in their own home, situated on one of Roseburg's busiest residence streets, and to live together for seven days without even the immediate members of their families having knowledge of the event, was the unusual secrecy attached to the wedding of B. F. Shields and Mrs. Carrie Thompson, of this city.

Hop Growers Plan Union.

Salem, Or.—Without a dissenting voice, 76 hop growers of the Willamette valley met here and took steps to effect a permanent organization of similar nature to the big fruit unions that are now uniting the strength of the fruit growers of the northwest.

ORGANIZATION IS FAVORED

Co-operation to be Urged During Farmers' Week.

Corvallis.—Farmers' week at the agricultural college this year is December 8 to 15. While it is designed to make the regular courses in farm production as strong and practical as possible within the five days of instruction and demonstration, the keynote of the course will be rural organization and co-operation. This subject will be presented in lectures and lantern courses by Dr. Hector Macpherson, who returned this fall from a tour of 11 European countries as a member of the American commission. Dr. Macpherson procured an instructive collection of photographs while in Europe, and these will be used to illustrate industrial and economic methods among the rural people of the old world.

Economical production, co-operative marketing, close systems of accounting and cheaper credit are the cardinal points in his doctrine of rural economies.

Hogs Have Cholera.

Pendleton.—Hog cholera has made its appearance in the east end of Umatilla county, and Dr. C. W. Lassen, county veterinarian, has placed the infected animals in quarantine. He estimates that already 100 hogs have died of the disease, and says that the farmers are somewhat alarmed over the epidemic. Serum is being used to prevent any further spread.

Socialist Teacher Cleared.

Quincy.—Mrs. Flora I. Foreman, principal of the Quincy school, received from the school board a vote of vindication of the charges of having taught in her school doctrines of socialism, sedition and atheism. An appeal will be taken to the state board of education for further hearing.

Pender Found Guilty of Murder.

St. Helens.—"Guilty as charged in the indictment" was the verdict of the jury in the case against John A. Pender, charged with murder in the first degree for the killing of Daisy Wehrman on Labor day, 1911, near Scappoose, Columbia county, Oregon.
