ROAD PLANS NOT MADE

State Highway Improvements Not Decided Definitely.

Salem—Although the state highway commission has not decided upon a definite plan as to how all the money raised for state highway improvement under the law passed at the recent session of the legislature creating the commission should be expended, it has made arrangements to begin active work about June 1, when the money for next year will become available. The commission has decided to expend part of the money in providing supervision of road construction by county courts, when desired, and the remainder will be used either in building an experimental thoroughfare to determine the merits of the various hard surface pavements, or in building a stretch of the Pacific Highway between this city and Portland.

The commission has decided that all work done by it shall be hard surface, the law providing that durable roads shall be constructed.

Flax Mill is Favored.

Oregon City—Farmers of many parts of the county and valley are interested in a proposition to erect a $200,000 flax mill in Oregon City, and many of them have promised to sign agreements to produce the material in case the city raises $50,000 required and obtains the mill.

West Pardons Peacock.

Albany—After serving 282 days in the Linn county jail for violation of the local option liquor law, Albert E. Peacock was released upon a pardon signed by Governor West. His term in prison was the longest thus far in this state for selling liquor in "dry" territory.

Congress Favors Presidential Primary

A careful poll indicates a clear majority of the senate and house favors presidential preference primaries.

Only a small minority is outspoken in its opposition to nation-wide primaries, with the candidates formulating the platform upon which they will appeal to the people for election. President Wilson has adopted the plan.

The sole obstacle in the way of prompt action by congress on this matter is the doctrine of states' rights. It is the excuse which those really opposed to the primary principle will offer.
