OFFICIAL COW RECORDS

In order to be admitted to advanced registry a cow must produce a certain amount of butterfat within a given period. The rules are made by the associations and differ with the different breeds. To be eligible to the Holstein registry a cow, calving on or before the day she is two years old, must make a record of not less than 7.2 pounds of butter fat in seven consecutive days. This is the equivalent of about 8 pounds of butter per week. For every day that the cow exceeds two years of age at date of calving the requirements for butter fat record are increased .00439 of a pound. This rate holds until she is five years of age when she must produce not less than 12 pounds of butter fat in seven consecutive days. Rules for the other breeds vary in the amount of butter fat required but the principle is the same in all. The value of the test is so generally acknowledged that capable dairymen will not purchase a pure bred sire unless official tests have been made on his ancestors.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT HERE IN JUNE.

Considerable preparation is now being made by the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. organizations of this city, for the entertainment of Oregon's old soldiers here in June.

The exact date is not positively known here now, but it is thought that the reunion will be held on June 16, 17 and 18.

More than 800 old soldiers attended the reunion at Newberg last year and more than 1500 visitors were present.

There is every likelihood that our people will be able to handle the reunion in a creditable manner. However, it is going to take some work, and everyone should be ready to do their share.

The next play to be offered by the Dramatic Club will be the beautiful comedy drama, "The Way of the World." This play is by far the best attempted by the Club. Mr. McCowell has just secured this play after many months of trying, and assures us it will be worth our time and attention to see it. The dates of presentation, will be announced later.

ALCOHOL NOT A STIMULANT.

From Literary Digest:
Most persons would say, offhand, that whatever else alcohol may be, it is certainly a stimulant, and that the trouble with it is that it stimulates too much. On the contrary, Dr. Emil Kraepelin, professor of mental diseases in the University of Munich, is said to have demonstrated that alcohol is a narcotic first, last, and always; that the stimulation is merely imaginary; and that one does less and poorer work under its influence, altho, curiously enough, he thinks he is turning out more and better work than usual. Kraepelin and his coworkers also assert that it is not the fourth or fifth drink that intoxicates: it is the sum of the first, second, and third. On direct evidence and supporting testimony they have made out a strong case against alcohol. A man is "drunk" or under the influence of liquor to a demonstrable degree, says Dr. Kraepelin, when his muscular or mental speed or endurance limits have suffered a diminution as a result of his having imbibed. This condition may be clearly shown by mechanical devices of the laboratory, whose testimony is final, no matter what the man himself has to say about it. There is no appeal from their decisions. Some of Dr. Kraepelin's tests are thus described in The Associated Sunday Magazines by Dr. Edwin F. Bowers. He writes:
"A group of men—who were kept in ignorance of the real nature of the tests, who understood only that they were expected to persist to the limits of their endurance—was capable of a definite average quantity of work. This average was determined with almost mathematical certainty by experiments made dozens of times, under absolutely similar conditions as regarded time of day, food, exercise, and surroundings.
"A good index of the degree of a man's capability for work is the weight he can continue to lift with the index-finger of his right hand. So the ergograph, a celebrated laboratory device invented by Prof. Angelo Mosso, was brought into requisition. In manipulating this the fingers were clinched round a wooden peg—all but the index finger—the arm held immovable by being clamped to the arm of a chair. A weight of several kilograms, suspended by a small rope that passed over a pulley, was raised and lowered until the subjects were forced to desist from exhaustion. This process was repeated twelve times, with rests of a minute intervening—like the rounds in a boxing contest. Each pull was automatically recorded by a pencil on a strip of paper, registered by a line. The sum of the lengths of all the lines was translated into "meter-kilograms," which meant the work accomplished in raising one kilogram one meter against the pull of gravity.
"These experiments were made ten times a day, and the total average for each man each calculated for a number of days, under conditions of absolute abstention from drink. Then the men were given the alcoholic equivalent of a 'good glass' of Bordeaux wine after each meal, and the experiments repeated. The consequences were a diminution in the subjects' ability to withstand the fatigue of weight-lifting, amounting to an average of from 7.6-10 to 8 per cent. These experiments were repeated hundreds of times by scientists in various parts of Europe, and always with similar results. In every instance a definite, measurable loss in muscular efficiency was demonstrated.
"Having shown these effects on resistance to fatigue, the learned professors advanced to the consideration of principles involving combined muscular and mental processes. The 'writing-balance' invented by Professor Kraepelin, was subpoenaed as chief witness in this case. This ingenious contrivance had attached to it a fifth-second chronometer, which automatically registered

Tillamook High School Notes

Musical to be Given March 6th; Class Teams Play Basket Ball; Camera Club Takes First Hike.

A musicale, to be given on March 6th, in the school building, is now being prepared by the High School. The entertainment is receiving careful preparation and promises in every way to be up to the high standard that the High School has always maintained. We wish to correct a statement which was made last week, as we were somewhat mis-informed in regard to the showing made by the Domestic Science students at the Parent-Teacher meeting. It seems that not all the biscuits were bad as we reported, for some of the visitors pronounced some of them very good indeed (or maybe better). No injustice was meant and we hope no offense has been taken, and if it has we sincerely wish it taken away altogether, no difference where.
Still another mistake, that did as great an injustice (almost) as the above mentioned one, though it was entirely unintentional was concerning the Junior Class officers. Frank Ebbeson was elected to the office of Sergeant at Arms instead of Lalen Maddux.
The Camera Club took its first hike last week. A few pictures were taken and good time reported. The members were all more or less tired, probably more, when they reached home and some before they reached home for the hike was quite long for the first one.
The class teams' percentage is as follows in Basket Ball.

	Played	Won	Lost	Per cent
Seniors	3	3	0	1,000
Junior	5	2	3	.400
Freshman	4	1	3	.250

The Basket Ball games played last Friday were won by the Seniors over the Juniors and the Juniors over the Freshmen. Both games were fast and even, the scores being 12 to 9 and 11 to 8 respectively.

On Your Own Account

Have you any money in the bank? A part of your earnings ought to be placed there, anyway. Everybody can afford to save something, however little. Have a bank account of your own and you will feel happier, better, more independent. Make your little money earn more, and so grow bigger. Better than hoarding it where fire or thieves can reach it. Your bank-book is a receipt and an evidence of your wise economy.
