

COMMERCIAL CLUB NOTES

A social and club dance will be given at Club rooms on Thursday evening this week, to which all club members and ladies accompanying them are especially invited. Admission to those not members is strictly invitational. Excellent music and light refreshments. Visitors in city or at beaches will be welcome on presenting themselves to any Club officer on that evening.

The Club is in a prosperous and good financial condition and being liberally supported by our best citizens.

The present progressive, active business management of the Club is proving successful. Hundreds of booklets and circulars describing the advantages of our city and county, are being mailed weekly to enquiring citizens from other states, and from every direction comes the word that Tillamook County is the best advertised county in Oregon, all of which is and will continue to bring many useful citizens to assist us in developing our vast virgin resources.

The Secretary of the Marine, Ill. Club with 1,000 members writes our Secretary for an exchange of Club courtesies, saying our Club is recognized throughout the older states as being one of the most progressive and up to date Commercial Clubs and is putting Tillamook County on the map everywhere.

The Fleisig Bros., bankers from California, were here last week in response to correspondence with Secretary Worrall and will return later for heavy investments.

An important Club open meeting will be held in Sept. to lay plans for obtaining a deeper channel from our city to the Bay and to enlarge the Port of Tillamook so as to get the advantage locally of the Government improvements to the Bay, and to give larger boats direct connection with our city, thus letting out our lumber and their freight and getting passenger boats to and from our city; this is one of the most important questions now confronting our city. The Government dredge is now at work to this end and will continue as long as the weather permits.

The Board of Trustees has decided to turn the club rooms each Thursday afternoon and evening entirely over the ladies of club members, for such meetings and social functions as the ladies decide upon, and with that end in view arrangements are being perfected for the ladies to select a board of trustees, president, secretary, etc. to take charge of these Thursday meetings and act as an auxiliary body with the Club's officers, with the aim to make the Club the central meeting place of all public and private social events for the betterment of our city socially and morally, leading in mind always, however, the idea that the best and main purpose of our club is its commercial aim to advertise our city and county, thereby to bring more people and wealth to develop our county, as well as devise plans to better the condition of city, our citizens, our business men, farmers, our great industries, cheese, dairy, berries, stock, fruit, beaches, lumber, to get factories, and more payrolls, and generally develop and build up our diversified industries and all citizens of city and county who desire to help the club in these endeavors and better their own conditions, are asked to join the Club, only $10 fee for those living in city and $5 for those in county outside the city. Come out and help us boost and make Tillamook county what it can be, the richest and best county in Oregon.

Don't say "let others do these things I'll get my share anyhow;" the Club needs your help and counsel, the Club can help you in many ways, don't be a drone, a kicker, a knocker, be up to date, help push, don't pull back, don't follow but lead, for that's the way to win and make money.

SOCIALISM

(By Jas. E. Hatch)

Miami, Tillamook County. Few people realize the full significance of Socialism. In its ultimate aim the Socialist movement would benefit all, both rich and poor. When this is secured we will have attained a higher civilization than is dreamed of now.

Socialism is the necessary outcome of the present civilization. It must be Socialism or barbarism.

Many people think we want to sand bag all the rich people and whack up on the spoils of war. But they are wrong, we are not bloodthirsty. Every one knows that the present economic system rests on competition. This is not only true as far as the sale of commodities is concerned, but is also true as to labor—that is, the workingman's labor is a ware on the market, and is subject to the law of supply and demand.

The employer is in business to make a profit and the cheaper he can secure labor the greater the profit he gains from his business. From the viewpoint of the employer, it is not a question as to whether your work is quite up to the standard of the other fellow, so long as your wages are far below his; hence if one manufacturer employed cheap labor the rest to compete with him would be forced to do likewise or fail. If we would allow things to go on in a natural way under the present system the worst and most heartless men would set the pace, and they would grind the standard of labor down to that of Chinamen. This is why the workingmen have formed unions to resist this lowering of the standard of living, and to better the conditions as far as it is in their power to do so. Now this competitive system works both ways. It also eliminates the smaller manufacturer.

We all know that the big fish eat the little, and the still bigger fish eat the big ones, but finally only the very biggest kind remain in the pond, and they don't fight each other any more but combine and form a trust.

These trusts control the market in their respective branches of industry and make the people pay what they see fit or what the people can stand.

The socialists don't fight the trusts as such, because we know they are only the natural outcome of competition, and they do prove a good thing for those on the inside.

They accomplish a great saving in production and produce cheaply.

The trouble is, the benefits accrue to only a few men, while 90 million people stand outside and pay.

There is also another phase of all this. A handful of men in this country have it in their power to say how much meat we are to eat, how much lumber we are to use, how well we are to be clothed, and so on, they can do this by the simple process of putting up the prices of lowering them. In short a handful of men can say how well or how miserably we are to live, and since the length of our lives depends on that, then virtually they have the power to say how long.

We claim the trusts can not be destroyed.

They are the results of the production on a large scale of machines and of competition, and it is right here evidently that Roosevelt and Bryan failed to look deeply into this question. The machinery and all the progress which has been made in the implements, we cannot destroy. We don't want to go back to the middle ages. But as long as we have private ownership of these means of production and these trusts, only a few men will be the owners and hence they will derive the benefit from them.

Therefore say the Socialists the only way to mend this is to take possession collectively as a nation of all the means of production, particularly of the trusts, and manage them for the benefit of the nation as a whole.

That is Socialism. Let the nation own the trusts.

And after all this, the project if put into effect would not be such a new one. We now enjoy municipal and government ownership of many public utilities—for instance the postal service, the Panama Canal, and the gas, water and electric plants owned by many cities.

Such an action, on the part of the government, would also solve the labor question, because the government would pay the laborer the full value of his product—that is also the profit which the private owner now pursues aiming to operate only on a safe margin and make the various mills and factories pay their running expenses.
