

NEWS FROM THE "LOYAL DAUGHTERS' CAMP"

The last train Wednesday evening brought back to Tillamook, from Rockaway Beach, a bunch of happy campers. Why were they happy? Oh, for "divers reasons."

During our stay at the camp, that peculiar quality known as "the spice of life," namely variety, appeared in plentiful abundance. Our motto was, "We should worry!" so we just didn't worry no matter what calamity appeared upon the scene; not even when Gertie and Helen fed us brown straw in place of shredded wheat for breakfast; nor when the ghosts walked around our tent at midnight. One of the rules of the camp runs as follows: "Please, 'Thank you,' and 'excuse me, MUSE!' be said in German. The 'please' worked admirably, 'bitte,' the 'thank you,' 'Donkey chain,' (danke schön), might have passed in a pinch; but the excuse me, as the American girls said it, was enough to make a German throw up his hands in horror. "And the children can see me," which sounds strangely similar to "entschuldigen sie mich," was adopted without further question as the official "excuse me."

Ask Margaret, Lelia, or Mrs. Botts where they got their scratches, and they may give you full particulars about a certain midnight lunch attempted in the dark. Hereafter it shall be an established fact that Mrs. Botts has good ears, and a sharp nose. Sharp enough, perhaps, to get the full benefit of a bottle of H.S. broken just outside the tent the next morning.

The Loyal Daughters belonging to the camp were: Hulda Haven, Maudie Overfelt, Gertrude Ebinger, Helen Stam, Lelia Drew, Marie Holden, Margaret Coates, and Freda Schenelle, with Mrs. Botts, the teacher, as chaperone. Our visitors during the stay there were: Mrs. M. E. Holden, Mrs. Ira C. Smith and son Elvin, the Misses Elsie and Ella Glad, and the Misses Helen and Pauline Beals.

Ah yes! That was "the life."

KRAKE-KEENE WEDDING

At the home of the groom near Tillamook, Eldee Krake and Marion Keene were united in marriage in the presence of 37 guests at high noon on Aug. 27. An elegant dinner, prepared by Albert Krake, brother of the groom, was much enjoyed, after which some excellent music was rendered, and some nice presents were received.

Those present beside the home folks were two of the bride's sisters, and families of Dayton, Oregon, Henry Smith and wife of Blaine, John Blain and family of Pleasant Valley, Mr. Chas. Wilkes and wife and son William of Trask, Louis Krake and family of Hemlock and Albert Krake and family.

Rev. Dora Young of Beaver officiated.

THIN ARGUMENT

The American people have proven themselves capable of sifting the truth from every tangled mass of political, educational and religious combinations. The judgement of the people is sure to pass upon every issue sooner or later. As someone has said: "It's possible to fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time but you can't fool all the people all the time."

One writer has observed with the utmost care all the argument that has thus far come under his notice that anyone has attempted to set forth in favor of the liquor traffic but when sifted down it contains absolutely nothing worth the attention of thinking people. Some of it is really amusing, the following being an example:

Recently in our little city there was a poster which pretended to tell the conditions in Maine where prohibition is in effect. It stated that in Maine under prohibition the death rate increased some certain per cent but that in a license state the death rate (from alcohol mind you) decreased some certain per cent. Now the men who circulate these posters admit and advertise the fact that alcohol kills people; also they try to show that license makes it safer as a drink. What would you think of a groceryman who was selling a certain brand of breakfast food and would admit by means of large posters in his window that his breakfast food killed folks, but defend the sale of the same by saying that it wouldn't kill so many if they would buy it from him or some other regular grocery as if they would buy it from a peddler? Any sensible person knows that alcohol is alcohol regardless of the conditions under which it may be sold, and that if it will kill men and women when sold by a non-licensed salesman it will do the same when sold by a licensed dealer.

Christian Church

Large crowds, for the time of year, are attending church every Sunday. Come to our services and hear the following subjects discussed:

Morning: "Formation Vs. Reformation."

Evening: "A Stormy Voyage."

We don't believe you can spend these two hours to better advantage so we invite you to spend them with us.

H. A. Van Winkle, Pastor.

CAMP MEETING AT HEMLOCK

The Nazarene camp meeting at Hemlock will continue throughout this week. The interest is increasing and people are coming for miles to attend. Last Sunday a number coming from a distance brought their lunch which enabled them to remain throughout the day. Next Sunday will be an all day service. Rev. Coffee, Presiding Elder of the Free Methodist church will preach Sunday morning.

Mabel M. Holmes, Pastor.

FRENCH ARE RETIRING

Wireless Dispatch From Berlin Tells of German Victories.

Washington.—The German embassies here received and made public the following wireless message from its Foreign Office in Berlin:

"The French attempt to invade Upper Alsace has been frustrated by the defenders. In Lorraine the French are retiring from the frontier. The German people find the Havas French news reports about so-called big French successes most amusing and just as false as some announced in 1870."

The army north of Metz, under the Crown Prince, advancing on both sides of Longwy, has defeated and forced back the French army. The other army under the Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht, which as already reported was a victory in Lorraine in pursuing the defeated enemy, has reached a line from Luneville to Blamont.

Saturday, September 19, is the date set for the third annual Hood River county Industrial School Fair. Ten industrial clubs have been organized in the various school districts of the county and keen rivalry will exist among the boys for the trip that is offered by the Commercial club to the two boys securing the highest in any two projects proposed by the state superintendent of instruction. The successful youths will be entertained in Salem by the same fair association.
