EUGENE JENKINS, Jeweler.

My son, make unto thyself no example of the loafer, neither follow in the footsteps of him that is born tired, for verily I say unto thee, his business is overstocked, the seats on the corner are all taken, and the whittling places are all occupied. Behold, it is better that thou saw wood at two bits per cord, than to whittle at a whittling match, and abuse the government. My son, while thou has yet within thy skull the sense of a jaybird, break thou away from the cigarette habit, for lo, thy breath smelleth like unto a glue factory, and thy mind is less intelligent than a store dummy. Yes, thou art like unto zero with the rim knocked off.

—Robert J. Burdette.

EUROPEAN WAR SMATTERS KING COTTON'S THRONE

FLEECY STAPLE MUST PAY RANSOM INTO THE COFFERS OF WAR.

Nation Rings With Cries of Stricken Industry.

By Peter Radford, Lecturer National Farmers' Union

King Cotton has suffered more from the European war than any other agricultural product on the American continent. The shells of the belligerents have burst over his throne, frightening his subjects and shattering his markets, and, panic-stricken, the nation cries out "God save the king!"

People from every walk of life have contributed their life toward rescue work. Society has danced before the king; miliary has decreed that the family wardrobe shall contain only cotton goods; the press has pleaded with the public to "buy a bale"; bankers have been formulating holding plans; congress and legislative bodies have deliberated over relief measures; statesmen and writers have grown eloquent expounding the inalienable rights of "His Majesty" and presenting schemes for preserving the financial integrity of the stricken staple, but the sword of Europe has proved mightier than the pen of America in fixing value upon this product of the sunny south. Prices have been hounded, values riddled and markets decimated by the belting hosts of the eastern belligerents until the American farmer has suffered a war loss of $400,000,000, and a bale of cotton brave enough to enter a European port must pay a ransom of half its value or go to prison until the war is over.

Hope of the Future Lies in Co-operation.

The Farmers' Union, through the columns of the press, wants to thank the American people for the friendship, sympathy and assistance given the cotton farmers in the hour of distress and to direct attention to co-operative methods necessary to permanently assist the marketing of all farm products.

The present emergency presents us with a situation as ever confronted the American farmer and from the viewpoint of the producer, would seem to justify extraordinary relief measures, even to the point of bending the constitution and straining business rules in order to lift a portion of the burden off the backs of the farmer, for unless something is done to check the invasion of the war forces upon the cotton fields, the pathway of the European pestilence on this continent will be strewn with mortgaged homes and famine and poverty will stalk over the southland, filling the highways of industry with refugees and the bankruptcy court with prisoners.

All calamities teach us lessons and the present crisis serves to illuminate the frailties of our marketing methods and the weakness of our credit system, and out of the financial anguish and travail of the cotton farmer will come a volume of discussion and a mass of suggestions and finally a solution of this, the biggest problem in the economic life of America. If, indeed, we have not already laid the foundation for at least temporary relief.

More Pharaohs Needed in Agriculture.

Farm products have no credit and perhaps can never have on a permanent and satisfactory basis unless we build warehouses, cold storage plants, elevators, etc., far without storage and credit facilities, the south is compelled to dump its crop on the market at harvest time. The Farmers' Union in the cotton producing states have for the past ten years persistently advocated the construction of storage facilities. We have built during this period 2,000 warehouses with a capacity of approximately 4,000,000 bales and looking backward the results would seem encouraging, but looking forward, we are able to house less than one-third of the crop and warehouses without a credit system lose 50 per cent of their usefulness. The problem is a gigantic one—too great for the farmer to solve unaided. He must have the assistance of the banker, the merchant and the government.

In production we have reached the high water mark of perfection in the world's history, but our marketing methods are most primitive. In the dawn of history we find agriculture plowing with a forked stick but with a system of warehouses under governmental supervision that made the Egyptians the marvel of civilization, for who has not admired the vision of Joseph and applauded the wisdom of Pharaoh for storing the surplus until glutted by the locusts? Will it be long before we have the same Pharaohs who dream and not enough Pharaohs to do so?

Feeney-Bremer Co., Put Economical Land Clearing Machine on Market

Tillamook, Oregon.

The Feeney-Bremer Co., has just completed a very economical device for clearing land in the shape of a gasoline engine, equipped with a 19 h. p. heavy duty engine. The total weight of the machinery is 5,200 lbs. mounted on runners and can be pulled anywhere on a straight line by its own power.

The donkey part consists of a double drum, double friction, equipped with breaks. It has 400 feet of 1/2 in. cable and 800 feet of 3/4 inch cable. As a demonstration it recently pulled with ease a 20 foot log 3 feet in diameter over rough ground. Anyone wishing a demonstration of the workings of the machine can witness the same by calling at the Feeney-Bremer Co. Works.

The price for the above equipment ranges from $700 for 19 h. p. up, larger sizes costing accordingly.

The engine consumes distillate, consuming 6 gallons in 10 hours, cost 10c. a gallon.

The engine used is detachable and can be used for other things.

Feeney-Bremer Co. are offering a fine proposition for two or more farmers who wish to go in together on a device that will clear their land cheaply and easily. Two men can run the machinery used and handle it successfully.

Those who may have use for such a machine will do well to investigate.

The warm, beautiful weather which we have been enjoying for the past week is in striking contrast to the cold, severe weather which prevails in the east. There is no question but what Oregon beats the world for weather take it the year around.
