

the dawn of a new era of commercial and social development. The means by which the human voice, with its slightest inflections and indications of personality, can be carried across the continent instantly, have been provided. Talking by telephone from the Pacific to the Atlannic is now an accomplished fact.

The celebration of this latest and greatest triumph in the art of telephony has just taken place. Within a short time the public will have, ready for its use, the product of American business. American initiative and American scientific and technical skill, a transcontinental telephone and vice, the equal of which is not even approached in all the other nations of the world.

It is a splendid scientific achievement of the very highest character. The power that sends the human voice out over the telephone is scarcely greater than that of a breath, yet the means have been provided by which this tiny, almost imaginary impulse, made up of as many as 2,000 separate vibrations a second can be picked up by a delicate instrument, conserved over a distance of 3,400 miles, and reproduced perfectly and instantly across the continent. The human voice has been made to travel as fast as light, faster than sound unaided by technical apparatus; indeed, it rivals THOUGHT even, in the swiftness of its flight.

The imagination can but feebly grasp, much less attempt to measure, the far-reaching significance of such a tremendous accomplishment. One hundred million people will have for their daily use a system of communication that knows standing, the more intimate comradeship that people.

HIS busy, progressive nation is today at the human voice establishes. The neighborliness of a whole nation is advanced by the brushing away of the physical restraints of centuries.

This contribution to the future happiness. and prosperity of a more closely united people has not been brought about, however by the overcoming of a few solved; concrete difficulties. Its access his depended upon the exercise of the highest origineering and technical skill, and the wishon was found only in the cumulative the of he coverents great and small, in telethe me, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of arruna is or plant required in the trial imission of special

In this work the experimental and research, summent of the Ball Symon, of which this Conjuny is a puri, has been entaged over since the reignbors became a commercial possibility, less than 40 years ago: With no traditions to follow and no experience to guide, this department, which is now directed by a staff of over 559 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post graduate students, so or he invectigators the graduates of 140 university has created an entirely new art-the art of telephony, and its given to the people of this country a telephone service that has no equal.

It has required vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort, but these have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. The transcontinental telephone line, 3,400 miles long, joining the Atlantic and Pacific, is part of the Bell System of 21,000,-000 miles of wire connecting 9,000,000 telephone stations, located everywhere throughout the United States. Composing this system are the no East, no West, no North, no South, Dialects, American Telephone and Telegraph Company provincialisms, sectional prejudices, most even- and Associated Companies and connecting comtually yield to the closer union, the better under- panies, giving universal service to 100,000,000
