Feeney-Bremer Co., Pat Economical Land Clearing Machine on Market

Tillamook, Oregon.

The Feeney-Bremer Co. has just completed a very economical device for clearing land in the shape of a gasoline donkey engine, equipped with a 10 h. p. heavy duty engine. The total weight of the machinery is 5,200 lbs. mounted on runners and can be pulled anywhere on a straight line by its own power.

The donkey part consists of a double drum, double friction, equipped with breaks. It has 400 feet of 1/2 in. cable and 800 feet of 3/4 inch cable. As a demonstration it recently pulled with ease a 20 foot log 3 feet in diameter over rough ground. Anyone wishing a demonstration of the workings of the machine can witness the same by calling at the Feeney-Bremer Co. Works.

The price for the above equipment ranges from $700 for 10 h. p. up, larger sizes costing accordingly.

The engine consumes distillate, consuming 6 gallons in 10 hours, cost 10c a gallon.

The engine used is detachable and can be used for other things.

Feeney-Bremer Co. are offering a fine proposition for two or more farmers who wish to go in together on a device that will clear their land cheaply and easily. Two men can run the machinery used and handle it successfully.

Those who may have use for such a machine will do well to investigate.

RESUME OF WORK OF STATE LEGISLATURE

Last Week of Session Begins With Large Amount of Work Remaining to Be Done.

Salem.—The legislature started on the last week of the 28th session with the usual congestion of business and as in past sessions confusion promises to mark the closing hours. All the really important measures remain to be passed, few of them having gone through both houses. No measures of statewide interest have reached the governor's desk.

Prohibition legislation remained unsettled. Tax measures are incomplete, irrigation codes are not yet revised, fish and game legislation is in a tangle, and complications are threatened on consolidation.

The legislature has approved the lease of Summer and Abert lakes by the state land board to an eastern syndicate, headed by Jason Moore. The large appropriation bills are in but have not been passed.

Although the joint ways and means committee has consigned to the legislative cemetery bills appropriating a total of $1,345,190 and cut requests for appropriations to the bone, there were still pending in the legislature measures appropriating the huge sum of $5,653,207, to be disposed of during the closing week of the session.

A remedial enactment was the passage of Representative Olson's bill providing certain changes in the primary election laws to eliminate petition-peddling and enable aspirants for primary nominations to become candidates by paying flat fees instead of obtaining the signatures of voters.

Representative Allen's bill to enable rural communities to form organizations to obtain a low rate of interest was passed by the house and is heralded by the up-state members as the first step in the establishment of a rural credit system for the state.

The Hinkle bill passed by the house is a departure in the way of state aid in industrial development. The measure proposes a system of annuities similar to those in effect by many countries of Europe and by some of the Canadian provinces.

Sheriffs of the state won a victory when the house passed Representative Kelly's bill, providing that hereafter all taxes shall be collected by the sheriffs instead of the county treasurers, and it means that all bills increasing the salaries of the latter officials will be withdrawn, provided this last measure passes the senate.

The first test in the state senate on the prohibition bill was a victory for the advocates of a strict law. The minority report of Senator Dominick of the committee on alcoholic traffic, which was favorable to the bill as passed by the house with no important amendments, was adopted by a vote of 15 to 12.

The senate passed a bill providing that persons away from home election day may vote wherever they may be for presidential electors, state officers and constitutional amendments by identifying themselves and producing a certificate by the judges of election in their home precincts that they are qualified voters.

A measure intended to prevent big dairy and creamery corporations from freezing out the small co-operative concerns of the farmers went through the house. All the representatives from the rural districts voted for it and most of the urban legislators also were for it.

In the presence of a large delegation of school teachers from Portland, who are members of the Grade Teachers' association, other educators, Senator Moser and others, Governor Withycombe signed Senator Moser's bill, which provides that there shall be no discrimination in the payment of salaries between male and female teachers.

The house passed the tax committee's bill to remit all penalties on delinquent taxes under the 1913 tax law. Insanity shall not be made a cause for divorce in this state, according to a decision of the senate.

By a unanimous vote the senate passed a bill which provides a preferential of 5 per cent for Oregon products in letting contracts for public work.

By a vote of 21 to 8 the senate voted an appropriation of $50,000 for erecting a building for training work at the Oregon state normal school in Monmouth.

The house passed the measure providing for an appropriation of $49,200 for the industrial school for girls. This includes $15,000 for a new cottage.

Road work for the coming biennium is to be continued on the one fourth of 1 mill tax levy of 1913, according to decision of the house.

A substantial saving in the expenses of state and local elections will be possible through the operation of Representative Childs' bill which the house has passed. It provides for only two election judges instead of three, as under the present law.
