FRIDAY MARCH 5, 1915

During the past week many deplorable miscarriages have been made in our city, and justice has been dealt out to certain guilty ones. The most conspicuous case was the attempt to kidnap Worrall. While it was a most serious affair, it is with a feeling of charity that we comment upon the matter. It is not right to kick a man when he is down. Worrall and White have admitted their guilt and sentence has been passed upon them and they are about to receive their just reward. However, we do feel that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beals should have the sympathy of all in this most trying affair. In their endeavor to do a good work and perform a most important obligation, they have been forced to undergo a very trying ordeal, but regardless of this they have remained true to their trust, and we know it is their intention to remain so, regardless of the danger or inconvenience involved.

COMMUNICATION

Portland, Oregon,
Feb. 25th, 1915.

To the Editor:
I note in the Bay City Examiner of the 12th inst., an article entitled "An Answer to Cane's Letter." The writer has such a superior and confident attitude that I am sure it will not be difficult for him to answer the following questions concerning the Port of Bay City:

- First: Will you kindly state to the public how much it cost the Port of Bay City and Mr. Geo. Wait and his attorney to take to the courts what you term a friendly suit to test the validity of the Port?
- Second: What is the amount of expense the Port has undergone according to its books in its entertainment of Representative Hawley?
- Third: How much was paid out for prospectors, and expenses incidental thereto, to prospect for rock in the vicinity of Bay City, such as would be suitable jettyrock?
- Fourth: How much do you know what was paid out for dredging that was done outside the corporate limits of the Port of Bay City, and can you cite us to the law which authorizes you to do any dredging outside the limits of the Port at the Port's expense?
- Fifth: How much did it cost the Port to take over the rotten tumbled down dock of the Bay City Land Company?

Now, as you admit the law requires the port to publish once a year a statement of its receipts and expenditures, I should like to inquire Mr. Writer, if at any time you have ever published any statement showing the amount paid out for the purposes above suggested. If so, when and where were they published?

Is it not true that you have never published a statement of any kind until Mr. Russel Hawkins was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Nelson? Since that time, I will admit, that you have published certain statements. Why did you commence at so late a date? In my opinion, it was simply because Mr. Hawkins is a business man as well as an honest man, who will not stand for any secret operations on the part of the Port.

Will you be kind enough to make answers and explanation to the above questions, and make them in accordance with the facts, and I guarantee it will be interesting reading to the tax payers of the Port of Bay City.

As for your "mud slinging" reference to the corporation of Bay City, that subject has been rehearsed so often it has grown stale. You evidently seek to draw away the attention of the public from the important issue by dragging in other matters that are immaterial, and have not the least connection with the important question under discussion.

Please make answer to the above in person, and not speak in under the guise of an editorial.
Yours respectfully,
W. S. Cane.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES

- Ira Smith vs. Nolan, action for money, verdict was rendered for plaintiff in the sum of $234.00.
- State vs. Edgar Williams, charge cruelty to animals, verdict of not guilty was found.
- First National Bank vs. C. E. McAlpin, action for money, settled.
- Parks vs. Sharpe, action for money, dismissed.
- Everson vs. Powers, action for money, jury disagreed and plaintiff took voluntary nonsuit.
- Haltom vs. Sharpe, voluntary nonsuit.
- Jones-Knudson vs. Gensaul, action for money, settled.
- Moller Mercantile Co. vs. Brobel, two judgments for money, default and judgment taken.
- Don Ellis vs. C. F. Alexander, action for money, judgment and default.
- State vs. La Flamboy of Nehalem, on charge of selling liquor to a minor, jury trial, found guilty, fined $200 and costs. La Flamboy first plead not guilty then he plead guilty after which he thought it possible that he was liable to get a pretty stiff fine, and he changed his plea to not guilty and stood a jury trial and was found guilty.
- Nestora Valley Bank vs. Chas. Kennedy, action for money, settled and dismissed.
- State vs. Sterling Ogg, statutory offense, plead guilty and sentenced to penitentiary for 1 year. It is expected the judge will parol him and put him in on his good behavior. Lewis Earley, who was mixed up in the same trouble received the same treatment.
- Arthur Darling stood trial on a statutory offense and was found not guilty.
- Jeff D. Matney and Lucy Richards, who are charged with a statutory offense have plead not guilty. Their case will be called later.

Australize Studies Semi-Dry Farming

Baker—Charles Sparring, representing the agricultural commission of the Australian government, is in this city for some time, to make his headquarters here, while he investigates the agricultural conditions in the semi-arid portions of eastern Oregon. His mission in the United States is to gather data on the development and utilization of lands in the semi-arid districts of the country, which means that his work will be confined largely to the Pacific coast states.

New Birds at University

Exeter—Five specimens of the pine grosbeak, one of the rarest of Oregon birds, has just been brought to the University of Oregon zoological department by A. C. Shelton, field worker and curator. Mr. Shelton spent seven weeks during January and February in the heart of the Cascades in eastern Lane county, and returned with about 100 specimens.

Fern Hobbs to Quit Commission

Salem—Miss Fern Hobbs, who was appointed by ex-Governor West as a member of the state accident industrial commission, will retire from office on May 21, her resignation being accepted by Governor Withycombe, who announced he would appoint Carrie Abrams to succeed Miss Hobbs.

GERMANS OFFER TO MAKE CONCESSIONS

Main Points of American Offer to Supervise Imports for Civilians Accepted to London.—A dispatch from Amsterdam gives the contents of the American note of February 22 to German officials and Germany's reply thereto. The notes were received in Amsterdam by a dispatch from Berlin.

The American note expresses the hope that Great Britain and Germany may, by means of reciprocal concessions, discover a basis of agreement, the result of which would lead to free ships engaged in neutral and peaceful commerce from the various dangers.

The suggestion is made that Germany and Great Britain should agree, first, that isolated drifting mines should be laid by neither party; that anchored mines should be laid exclusively for defensive purposes, within the range of harbors.

It is suggested, second, that the submarines of neither of the two governments should be employed to attack merchant vessels of any nationality, except for the purpose of carrying out the right of blocking them up and searching them; and third, that mercantile ships of neither of the parties should employ neutral flags as a war ruse or for the purpose of concealing their identity.

Great Britain it is suggested should agree that foodstuffs shall not be placed on the list of absolute contraband, that the British authorities shall neither disturb nor hold up cargoes of such goods when addressed to harbors in Germany, the names of which are communicated by the Civil States government.

The German reply to the American note offers, in substance:

Germany is willing to concede non-employment of drifting mines and would agree to attach government marks to all mines used. Representatives of anchored mines deemed impracticable. Submarines to employ armed force against merchantmen only where necessary to carry out right of search. Condition made that hostile merchantmen be not armed. Regulation of legitimate food imports into Germany by sea, as suggested by United States, declared acceptable. Permission to import other raw materials for peaceful purposes, including timber, demanded.

DYNAMITE PLOT DISCOVERED

Bomb Fuse Which Sputtered Near the Altar Stamped Out

New York.—With the frustration of a plot to blow up St. Patrick's cathedral, one of the finest churches in the United States, the police declare they are on the trail of a gang of Italian dynamiters who planned not only to destroy the cathedral but to dynamite the homes of several millionaires including John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie.

The attempt to dynamite the cathedral was discovered and frustrated only after a bomb had been placed and lighted within 20 feet of the main altar. Detectives stamped out the sputtering fuse and arrested two Italians in the church before the worshippers at the 7 o'clock mass knew of their danger.

Frank Abrams, a lithographer, and Frank Baldo, a laborer, Carl Arceci, at the church, and Charles Carbone, a machinist, was taken at his home shortly afterward.

The police had received in advance a "tip" that the attempt would be made and several detectives were in the cathedral when it opened for the morning service.

SENATE CONFIRMS FOUR IN TRADE BODY

Washington.—In executive session the senate confirmed the nominations of four of the five members of the Federal Trade Commission, withholding confirmation only from George Rublee, representative of New Hampshire.

CHINESE BOYCOTT JAPANESE

Hope Expressed Japanese Will be Moved to Modify Demands

San Francisco.—Representatives of the Six Comrades, the powerful Chinese organization, which instituted a boycott against Japanese in the Pacific coast because of the demands made on China by Japanese, said that the proposals were would be carried on this week throughout the west and parts of Canada and Mexico, and that it would be continued in the expectation that ultimately the Japanese attacked would bring pressure to bear on their home government to modify the terms of the Japanese demands.

YEN PEHL DIRECTS GERMAN FLEET

Berlin.—The German admiralty has just named an successor to Admiral von Ingenohl, whose removal from command of the German battle fleet was made known.

GASOLINE OUTPUT MAY BE TREBLED

Washington.—Two discoveries held of vast importance to American industries and one regarded also as a priceless military asset, were announced by Secretary Lane, of the interior department. They are chemical processes developed after years of research by Dr. Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the Bureau of Mines.

One is expected to enable oil refiners to increase their output of gasoline by 700 per cent, the other makes possible the production from crude petroleum of more and better kerosene for lamps and better aviation fuel.

In the past the United States and the rest of the world has depended almost exclusively on Germany.

Dr. Rittman has applied for patents on his processes to prevent the possibility of any monopoly in their use and will dedicate them to the American people.
