FRIDAY APRIL 2, 1915.

While outside last week, the county court investigated to some extent the situation as regards the proposed new road leading out over the mountains to the south. Polk and Yamhill counties seem to have some hitch as to routes. However, as soon as these counties get together our county will co-operate with them and put the road through. It is thought quite likely that the road will be completed by this fall. The completion of this road certainly means a great deal to the counties interested, and it is to be hoped by all means that the project will be rushed to completion.

From all appearances the Tillamook Commercial Club is now starting out upon a new era in its history. The club was primarily organized for the purpose of promoting the business interests of the city. Unfortunately, however, business has been neglected and the efforts of the club have been devoted altogether too much towards matters of a social pleasure nature. President Dwight dwelt upon this phase of the situation to some extent at the meeting last Monday evening and said many good things in regard thereto, and if we are not mistaken there will be a change in the policy of the club. Many of our business men do not belong to the club because they did not feel like supporting a social club. We are sure that a club devoted to business will receive increased support and will be of much assistance. There is no question but what there is much that can be done if we will only do it.

The splendid rain which we have received during the past few days has brought joy to the hearts of our dairymen. It is the first good warm growing rain we have had this spring, and it will do lots of good. Tillamook needs a good rainfall throughout the year, that she may have plenty of grass for pasture and for hay, and we generally get it. Last year was an exception, however, and some of our farmers who have never heretofore bought hay, were obliged to buy hay this winter to tide them over until the pastures were fit this spring. This was an unusual thing and they did not like to do it. However, regardless of Mr. Baker's criticisms two weeks ago they were obliged to do it. If Mr. Baker knows enough about the dairy business to tell the farmers what they could have fed besides hay and the other feed which they were obliged to fall back on because of the unforeseen dry spell last year, he should explain matters. Is it possible that Mr. Baker has discovered some means of converting sawdust or some other like commodity into cow feed? If so he should tell the farmers about it and not criticize them for what they don't know.

WILSON UNBEATABLE ADMITS LA FOLLETTE

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—"The Republicans must name a good strong progressive as their presidential candidate if there is to be the least chance of defeating President Wilson for reelection," declared Senator La Follette in an interview here today.

"Wilson has been a good president," the senator added.

La Follette declared he did not believe the United States would be involved in the European war although other nations were attempting to drag this country in. He also insisted that this government would not interfere in Mexico.

[Editor's note: Many friends of Senator La Follette will be pleased to know of the stand which he has taken in regard to our present administration. While some things have been left undone and mistakes have been made, it will be admitted by the unprejudiced minds that President Wilson and his supporters have made a splendid record in the enactment of progressive and constructive legislation and have come nearer redeeming party pledges than any other administration for many, many years.

It is true the interests have been hit, and they in turn have squirmed and squealed and brought pressure to bear so that we have all felt it to some extent, but after all, this is but evidence to show that the administration has been trying to do things for the people. The policy of the administration, of course, calls for an attack from the interests, which may possibly mean defeat to the Democratic party in 1916, but we are sure that President Wilson and his party had rather go to defeat in 1916 because of an endeavor to serve the people, than go to victory by the grace of and subservience to special interests. It is up to the people. Will they stand by men who are fighting for their interests or will they again bow down to the "golden calf" of Wall Street.]

LAW EXCLUDING WOMEN FROM SALOONS IS UPHOLD

Salem, Or., March 30.—An ordinance forbidding women frequenting places where intoxicating liquors are sold cannot be pronounced unconstitutional on the ground that they interfere unnecessarily with the individual liberties of women citizens, according to a decision rendered by the supreme court today, in the case of E. F. Laughlin vs. Tillamook City. Justice Eakin wrote the opinion, and it was a reversal of the decision of Circuit Judge Galloway.

Laughlin was engaged in the saloon business in Tillamook, and was convicted in the police court of that city of violating an ordinance forbidding women frequenting places where liquors are sold, by permitting a woman to visit his place. He appealed to the circuit court and won on the ground that the ordinance was unconstitutional.

"Counsel for respondent contends that this ordinance is void because it would interfere unnecessarily with individual liberties of our women citizens," said Justice Eakin. "Mr. Justice Bean, speaking for the court in State vs. Baker, said: 'The vicious tendency of mingling men and women in saloons, or places where intoxicating liquors are sold, is regarded as harmful to good morals, and therefore a law which prohibits the licensing of females to engage in the business of retailing intoxicating liquors, or making it an offense to employ females to serve liquors in a saloon, or permit females to enter a saloon and there be served with liquors, is not unconstitutional. The liberties or rights of every citizen are subject to such limitations in their enjoyment as will prevent them from being dangerous or harmful to the body politic, and there is no objection to the law in question that it applies to women of lawful age. This answers the question that as the law permits males of lawful age to enter and remain in a saloon and denies such right to women, it is in violation of the constitutional provision guaranteeing to every citizen equal privileges and immunities. By nature citizens are divided into the two great classes of men and women, and recognition of this classification by the laws having for their object the promoting of the general welfare and good morals does not constitute an unjust discrimination.'"

REV. VAN WINKLE HOLDS

MEETINGS AT DALLAS.

The revival meeting of the Christian church, under the able leadership of H. A. Van Winkle of Tillamook, came to a close Sunday night, as far as the evangelistic services were concerned, but the actual closing of the campaign was the reception held last night for the members having taken fellowship during the meeting just closed. Just street to Washington, then on Washington east to Jefferson and back to the church. There were in the Bible school 100, giving a margin of eight above the goal set for the day.

Mr. Van Winkle preached three splendid sermons Sunday, and there were good results at every service of the day and banner processions. Probably the greatest attendance of the meeting was that of the Sunday evening service, though the house has been filled each Sunday night during the revival and people turned away for seventy persons responded to the invitation during this special series of meetings, most of whom will take fellowship with the congregation here, there being only two or three exceptions.

Sunday was a banner day for this people, beginning with the bible school parade at 9:30. Never before was there such a demonstration of Sunday school enthusiasm given in Dallas. The phase of the meeting was an idea of the evangelist, who is at the head of his own great school at Tillamook, where there were assembled recently 422 for bible study. The parade started promptly at 9:30 from the Christian church and marched up Jefferson to mill, then turning west on Mill marched to Church street, the south on Church there had been special arrangements made for a great crowd at the closing service.

Mr. Van Winkle has endeared himself to the church in Dallas, as well as to hundreds of those who are not members of the church, and never has an evangelist pleased the people more or drawn as large crowds. Never at any time during the four weeks of his effort here was there a dull moment or a falling off in attendance. He proved himself a great teacher as well as being capable of drawing large crowds. There were no objectionable methods used in the meeting, and no playing to the galleries, but straight forward preaching of the truth in love and with persuasion. This raises the membership of the Christian church to about 500.—Polk County Observer.

PROHIBITION PAYS KANSAS

Burr Oak, (Kas.) Herald: Kansas, there it stands; first in wealth, first in health and first in education.

That is the answer of Kansas to the statement issued recently by the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, in which it was asserted that prohibition had brought the state below the average license state as regards moral, health and economic standards.

Kansas has more wealth per capita; more young men and women in colleges and the university, in proportion to population; more children in the Sunday Schools; a lower death rate; a lower percentage of illiteracy; twenty-eight counties without a jail prisoner last year; forty-eight counties that did not send a prisoner to state prison; seventy-eight that did not have an insane patient last year.

All of this credited to thirty years of prohibition.

"The liquor interests of the country are centering their attacks on Kansas," declared Arthur Capper, governor of the state, in a recent interview.

"The country is being flooded with literature containing ridiculous and manufactured stories regarding the failure of prohibition in Kansas. With that monument to prohibition out of the way, they feel they have removed their greatest obstacle."

AN ARIZONA VOLUNTEER

This play to be presented at the Opera House for the benefit of the Artisan Lodge on Friday and Saturday, April 9th and 10th, is progressing in a manner that insures the success of the play, and of which the lodge members should feel justly proud. The story is taken from an incident in the life of the American Army, and shows the different characters that may be found there, as well as elsewhere. In the early days out West the Army was supreme, and the handling of soldiers in "a God-forsaken country" such as the West was at the time of the play was no easy task. The play is moral and carries a beautiful love story through it. The characters are good and bad, such as you would expect to find in the days of the early West.

The language is strictly Western and everything is being done to give the play its true atmosphere. There are thirty five new and separate pieces of scenery used in this play which are now all prepared and ready for use. The members of the lodge are fast selling tickets so if you wish a good seat, secure your tickets now from any of the members or at Lamm's Drug Store. Admission 35c.—Children 25c.

Special attention is called to the fact that the schools of the city will observe Arbor Day, which is next Friday, April 2. It is desired that all who have bulbs, decorative plants or shrubs of any kind, will bring them to the High School building Thursday, in order to have them fresh for planting Friday.

It is hoped that the citizens will take a keen interest in the movement to beautify the city, and that there may be a liberal donation of plants.
