The war fever access to be contaglous. The smallest republic in the world, that of San Marton, has determined to join the allies. San Marriswhich has among the Appenium num tains, assertableing the Admitio, is not twenty-two square miles up area; and though entirely surrounded by Italian territory, forms an amountarly independent state. Though who consist he ag any material strongth to the allow her position has some importance, for had the country continued control Autrian mercular a round to trans of move take refuge there, repair, take up new supplies a direturn hore. This is not possible new:

The opposition in Japan to the way that country has handforf the Uninese situation, continues to find strong expression. Toere has been serious riots ing in Tokin, and in partiament a resolution expressing lack of confidence in the present administration received 133 votes, to 232 for the government. The resolution charged the captuet with having failed in the negotiations with China from the beginning, with having aroused the suspenions of forelemmeters, and with having harmed the prestige of the empire. Minister Kato denied that the powers had urged the aban lonment of the fifth group of Japanese demands: "We sharehold and. "I'v power compelled us to do so. I am convinced that the intellectual classes of the world understand and commend the course of Japan." It seems evident that Japan, with common so divided at home, is in no condition to press further demands upon China at present.

It will be days before the full effect of the crisis can be determined. Al though Bryan resigned because his conscience would not permit him to sign what he considered an ultimatum, the contents of the note to be forwarded will not be known until the document is received at the Berlin foreign office.

Should Germany see the note in the light with which President Wilson views the American position, all will be well. Should the kniser's government curtly reject the president's demand that the rights of the United States be respected, then Ambassador Gerard will be recalled.
