TUESDAY AUGUST 17, 1915.

Last Friday was Tillamook Day at the Frisco fair. On that day thousands of sandwiches made of Tillamook cheese were given away at the Oregon building. The press dispatches state that people from all over the fair grounds were drawn towards the Oregon building by the tempting offer of a sandwich made by Tillamook cheese washed down by a glass of delicious loganberry juice.

Tillamook extends the glad hand of welcome to the visiting Red Men. If there is anything here you want just take it. If you don't leave our city with the idea firmly established in your mind that Tillamook is the best town in the state. It will be because our people can not convince you of that fact. We are sure they will try.

Gun cotton is made by dipping raw cotton in nitric acid and drying it. It then becomes an explosive. A bale of cotton weighing 400 pounds is required for one shot from a modern big gun, and it is estimated that 1,000 bales a day are being shot away in the present war.

The discovery of a new metal is announced, said to be of extraordinary lightness, invented by a St. Louis man for use in connecting aeroplane motors. Gustav A. Krause, the inventor, claims the metal has a tensile strength equal to that of steel, and is lighter than aluminum. Krause said that he believed an aeroplane made of it could fly two miles a minute. He says it is cheaper than steel.

Germany possesses invisible aeroplanes, according to the Cologne Gazette. The wings are made of a clear transparent material called cellophane, which is the invention of a German engineer named Krausel Cellophane, which is manufactured from cellulose and acetic acid, is tough pliable and non-inflammable and is used instead of canvass. A machine covered with cellophane is said to be virtually invisible about an altitude of 3000 feet.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor:
A very remarkable idea obtains in the minds of many, and that is that the war in Europe is the last great war, and that it is a war for peace.

All that is now necessary is to break a Russian initiative, and then the millennium is assured. Many say so, and the war is raging men are proclaiming for the future, peace and safety.

How few know that the prophetic word is being fulfilled in this awful conflict. Our great boasted civilization has broken down, for while men are undoubtedly being retrained and educated and "cultured," it is scarcely more than conceit, for in battle he slays as barbarous as in any days of Attila and Alaric.

In a cartoon that appeared in one of the late magazines, the savage's view of this war was well and truly presented in his native wild. "Sits the savage reading a 'war special,' after a rage, against which leans his great spear. And as he reads the 'war special' records of destruction and carnage, he exclaims in disgust: 'Sits the heathens!'"

It is undoubtedly true that this war is a "Christian nation" war. It is a war between the "Christian nations" and the "non-Christian nations." It is very strangely I am reminded of an experience which an American missionary in the Fiji Islands had shortly after the war broke out between Great Britain and the Boers. He was editing a little paper at the time in the Fijian language, and some articles concerning that war were presented to our Fijian readers.

One day a Fijian Christian sought and obtained an interview. He was depressed over the war. His statement in the case from a native standpoint was pointed and convincing. It was much as follows: "The English and the Boers are both Christian people. They both employ chaplains to accompany and encourage their soldiers. These chaplains on both sides pray to the same God for the success of their respective armies. How can God answer both? When the English missionaries taught the Fijians the message of peace we listened to it. Would it not be good for some Fijian missionary to go to England and preach a similar message?"

What could be said in answer to such a searching argument? How would the missionary explain that there is a good reason for war? What a terrific structure on our advanced civilization and reputed Christian teaching!

The nations are not Christian. Many individuals in all of them are, but the narrow way to life is not, and can never be, broad. The Bible teaches us that in the last days men will prepare for war, and not peace. They are doing what God said we might expect. See Joel 3:1-2.

There may come a hill in the street, but peace cannot be assured. There is no peace... to the wicked."

God has said. The end is near. The nations are angry, and the coming of Christ, which ends the reign of sin, is the only hope for peace. His coming is the "blessed hope," and He is the "Prince of Peace."

Very sincerely yours,
L. J. Jackson, F. M. Riley,

AL. G. BARNES CIRCUS COMING.

Possessing the distinction of being the original and World's largest wild animal show, the Al. G. Barnes Big Ring Wild Animal Circus is presenting the most unusual and entire new array of educational, entertaining, amusing, thrilling and unusual acts ever shown.

Exactly the entire performance offered by the Barnes show is given by trained wild and domestic animals in number, the largest assemblage of trained animals these animal acts have been recruited from the ranks of almost every known animal family. Man-eating African and Asiatic lions, tigers, leopards, panthers, jaguars, grizzly, brown, black and Indian Polar bears, seals and sea lions, elephants, camels, zebras, giraffes, and the world's premium horses and ponies, monkeys, dogs and even goats have been cast as actors of the Barnes troupe.

Sixty-five big wild animal features are presented, the principal one being a group of twenty-four man-eating African lions shown in one act by their trainer, which is the most thrilling wild animal spectacle ever shown.

A large number of young women owners present death defying feats with wild animals, prominent of whom are Miss Flurry with group of panthers and Persian Leopards, Mable Stark with group of Royal Bengal and Siberian tigers.

One of the sensational features of the program is the large number of trained bears. Big Bill, the champion wrestler being the star. Tom, Dick and Harry, juggling, horse-riding on lions is another amazing spectacle. In addition the aviation lion and Tom, Harry and Brutus, horse riding lions, and comprise wild animal training acts that are absolutely unrivaled.

Fifty comedy elephants, bears, dogs, pigs, monkeys, zebras, ponies, snakes provide novelty for the lunch spots in the entertainment.

The Barnes circus has been pronounced by the most prominent critics as the "Show That's Different," a distinction gained because of the originality, uniqueness and moral character of its program and business conduct. Questionable practices or business dealings are absolutely not tolerated.

A big all new, special feature parade is presented to the public at 10.30. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m. on Saturday, August 21.

NEW BRIDGE TO BE BUILT.

(Nehalem Times.)
There will be a new bridge across Boyakin creek in the near future, if the present plans of the county commissioners are carried out.

The present bridge is in a more or less dangerous condition because of the cutting made by the river which threatens the structure.

The Deen Point Road will receive attention next year, according to commissioner McManis, who says it is desirable to get across to the splendid rock ledge said to be there. It is claimed that there is enough of rock at that point to supply all the rock needed for the roads in this section. It is planned to transport the crushed rock both by land and water. Mr. McManis said that he would have a good portion of the North Fork road dragged to remove the larger stones which had worked to the surface and impeded traffic. It makes it hard for autos as well as horses. Mail carrier Briggs says it is almost impossible to make his rounds within the time limit owing to the roughness of the road. It would cost but little to remove these loose stones and stop cause for complaint.

MILL STARTS AT BAY CITY.

(Bay City Examiner.)

After a week of laying up the old Curtis mill made new by the Oregon Lumber and Manufacturing Co. is now running like a clock and the first car load of box lumber is nearly ready to be shipped. Of course many difficulties have been met and surmounted, and the first week resulted in little real cutting, but now that the trial week has been past everything is working perfectly.

A slight accident was met on Monday when an important piece of machinery was broken, and the mill will be shut up for a week or so as a result, but the trial run was sufficient to assure that everything will be running well when the damage is repaired.

BEST PLACE FOR SILO.

Silos should be located close to the animals to be fed from them, according to the Oregon Agricultural College plans. They should not be inside the barn since they take up a good deal of room and may give off offensive odors that will taint the milk. They should also be inconvenient to fill and silos should be where they may most readily be filled. It requires about a quarter of a ton of insulating material daily to feed twelve cows each for a pound a day, so that the silos should not have to be moved further than is necessary.
