W. C. Trombley of Bay City is now at the Boals hospital where he has been operated on for the removal of a piece of steel which was lodged in his arm. Thirteen years ago Mr. Trombley was unfortunate in receiving a serious wound caused by the premature explosion of a gun while hunting. Pieces of metal were thrown into his left arm which was badly crippled for a time. It was thought that all foreign substance had been removed from the wound at the first dressing. However, about five months ago his arm began to bother him again and it was found necessary to operate. The piece of steel removed was quite large and rusty and came from the breech of the gun.
