

THE LUMBER INDUSTRY

Resumption of activity in Northwest timber development is forecast in the plans of Charles S. Keith for opening up of the Keele timber tract in Washington, Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook counties, according to announcement made today by W. D. Skinner, traffic manager of the S. P. & N.

Through a contract recently entered into by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railway companies and Keith, the building of a lumber mill with a minimum capacity of 250,000 feet daily is guaranteed.

This mill will be constructed and placed in operation within a year and a half after the Portland, Astoria & Pacific railway line is completed, according to the terms of the contract.

AGREEMENT REACHED
The P. A. & P. road was recently purchased from Keith by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific and it was at that time that the agreement to build a mill was reached. Keith obtained the rail line with the timber tract but did not desire to operate a railroad. The railroad companies did not want to operate the rail line for conveyance of logs only, so the agreement was reached that a mill would be constructed.

It is understood that Keith has an option on an immense tract of bottom land near Vernonia, but the terms of the contract call for the placement of the mill either on that site or at some point between Vernonia and the timber tract.

Since the purchase of the P. A. & P. by the Hill the construction work has been proceeding rapidly. A total of four and one-half miles of rail line has been laid from Wilkesboro, where the line joins with the United Railway. Ties and rails are on the ground for the laying of four more miles and the remainder of the 21-mile stretch has been graded ready for the track.

TURNER OPTIMISTIC
Skinner said today that the railroad would probably be complete by April 1. "With the resumption of activities by the Keith interests, it is quite probable that other companies will begin to show a decided interest in starting mill wheels moving," said Skinner.

W. P. Turner, president of the North Bank line who has been active interested in development of timber in the Northwest corner of the state like who believes that the operation of a mill on such a large scale by Keith will have a decidedly favorable effect on the lumber and timber industry of Oregon and Washington.

TILLAMOOK BOY MAKES

GOOD IN VAUDEVILLE
During the past two weeks a special attraction at the Gem on Friday Saturday nights, has been a vaudeville act by Roy Mac Greaser and Trowbridge formerly of this city known as the Harry Lander of the navy. Floyd's appearance here was a surprise to his many friends. Until lately he has been superintendent of the Government printing office at Pemberton Wash. navy yard. We understand that he has a 12 months contract with the Pantheas theatrical circuit and will make a tour of the United States, beginning the first of the year.

KEBBE-MINOR WEDDING

Felix Kebbe and Miss Ollie Minor, both well known throughout the county, were united in marriage, on Christmas eve, by Rev. McReal. They have many friends here who wish them much happiness and success. The bride was formerly reporter for the Herald. She is a talented young woman, well qualified to make a happy home for her husband.

CORRESPONDENTS WANTED!

The Herald desires a live-wire news correspondent in every locality in the county; one who will faithfully chronicle the social, development, school and fraternal news of their community and forward to this paper each week. This is a chance to do your community a good turn and earn everlasting gratitude. We furnish stamps and stationery and will be glad to give you any information wanted upon application. Drop in and talk it over, or better still, sit right down and write us a bright newsy letter right off.

BELL TOLD WATSON OF

TELEPHONE THEORY

Thomas Watson, Alexander Graham Bell's right hand man, who built the first telephone and who played a prominent part in the development of the business in the early days, told the great inventor of the telephone theory of speech transmission in the following story:

"Mr. Bell was very apt to do his experimenting at night, so he was busy during the day at the Boston University, where he was Professor of Physiology, especially teaching his father, speech of which speech, by which a deaf mute might learn to talk, was a significant part of what Bell was to do in making his telephone. He was the reason I would often remain in the shop during the evening to help him test some improvement he had had in his make on the instruments.

One evening when we were resting from our struggles with the apparatus, Bell said to me: 'Watson, I want to tell you of another idea I have, which I think will surprise you. I believe, I suspect, somewhat vaguely, that day after sixteen hour work on a short rest interval, and Bell has already given me, during the weeks we had worked together, more new ideas on a great variety of subjects including writing speech, clock work, flying machines, than my brain could calculate, but when he went on to say that he had an idea by which he believed it would be possible to talk by telegraph, my nervous system got such a shock that the first thing I noticed, I have never gotten his exact words; they have run in my mind ever since like a mathematical formula. He said, 'I could make a current of electricity vary in intensity, as much as the air varies in density, during the production of a sound, I should be able to transmit speech telegraphically.' He then sketched for me an instrument that he thought would do this, and we discussed the possibility of constructing one. I did not make it; it was altogether too costly and the chances of its working too uncertain to impress his financial backers.

Mr. Gattinor, G. Hubbard and Mr. Thomas Sanders—who were insisting that the wisest thing for Bell to do was to perfect the harmonic telegraph; then he would have money and leisure enough to build air castles like the telephone."

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT

Only half-baked men are likely to get "hard-boiled."

There are probably as many modern girls today as ever, but they're not so bold about their modesty.

A girl about to be married goes around in a dream and she's lucky if she doesn't wake up in a night-mare.

Pop isn't everything. A dog sometimes makes things snappy but who wants to be that kind of a dog?

You pay attention to what you eat; others will pay attention to what you drink.

There are two kinds of men—those who think a dinner is a failure if they are not called upon to speak, and those who think it a failure if they are.

BANKERS TO HELP EUROPE

American bankers must help establish the financial integrity of Europe in the opinion of a prominent western banker.

That is the only way open out of the terrible financial chaos under which world markets and economic conditions are buried.

Following is the board statement by view of A. L. Mills, President of the First National bank of Portland, a financial authority:

"The regeneration of the civilized world rests on the extension of long-term loans by the United States to European countries."

"In Great Britain conditions are bad—unemployment is a problem, Germany is suffering the manufacturer. Steel makes coal, which in turn makes labor. Retailers blame wholesalers, and all these blame the government."

"The old fighting bulldog spirit is still in the English nature, however, and with a sound credit on a long-time basis we pay her old obligations, which she has already started to do."

"France, in her traditional thrifty manner, is starting a comeback."

"Belgium and Italy by the same token will recover their financial standing. Outlaw Russia, a quarantined south American Nations, targeting China and proud, selfish Japan, have problems to solve that will of necessity be solved."

"Sweden is coming under control of the so-called Austrians beyond redemption, a hopeless situation, and Germany is in a position peculiar to the best of the war. She has her armament programme to keep up."

A CURE FOR CARELESSNESS

If the most careless person in America, an individual who had caused some loss by his thoughtlessness in the handling of matches, smoking materials and other hazards, should become an employee of the Actuarial Bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it is possible that he would soon be cured of his dangerous habit.

The never-ending stream of claims for, in other words, reports of fires, would undoubtedly supply a shock that would cause him to feel that unless he became careful citizens America is likely to end her days as a blackened and smoldering ruin.

While this picture may seem an exaggeration to those not familiar with the situation, it is obvious that we cannot continue to destroy our material resources at the rate of $1,375,000 a day without courting disaster.

The individual who has been mentioned unfortunately he is anything, but imaginary in the collective sense would begin soon to realize that it is not fires which need to be guarded against so much as fire, the ever-present danger in practically all homes and places of business.

When the public, generally, senses this distinction, we shall stop suffering a fire a minute night and day every day in the year.

Is it within the power of Gompers, Lenine, or the B. P. four Brotherhoods to fill the breakers of the workmen indefinitely without allowing honest-to-goodness work?

LITTLE INTEREST IN BUDGET

MEETING, ATTENDANCE SMALL

A LARGE AMOUNT WILL BE EXPENDED ON ROADS IN 1922
MANY OTHER NECESSITIES ALSO CONSIDERED

There was little interest taken by the taxpayers in the budget meeting, for when County Judge Homer Mason called the meeting to order, outside of county officials, there were only about a dozen taxpayers present, but before the meeting was over, between 30 and 40 were present. A number of questions were asked, principally in regard to the cost of running some of the offices. A number of the taxpayers league were present, when they were into caucus and passed on the several items in the budget. The budget contains items as follows:

School Superintendent	$4,500.00
Treasurer's Office	4,140.00
Sheriff's Office	12,300.00
Clerk's Office	7,500.00
County Court	8,000.00
Surveyor's Office	3,000.00
Court House and Jail	5,000.00
Put road work the budget provides $207,000 and $30,000 for market roads. Each of the three road districts are to receive $69,000. The other items in the budget are: State tax, $161,455.70; common school fund, $10,000; high school tuition fund, $14,000; county institute fund, $250; general expenses, $123,000, making a total of $574,789.70.

Estimated receipts, $14,000, leaving a net amount estimated to be raised $560,789.70.

"Measure Up."

The habit of measuring up now will save you time and trouble later on. Life's loads are not going to get any easier to carry as population increases. There will be keener competition and more people to compete. The only hope for you will be such developed skill that you will naturally lead in the things you attempt. That means you will make trial of every talent and so train what you have that no effort is spent in vain. This develops the most determined effort and fitness in the fellow who is willing to do his best. Then as the bigger problems come with the years you will be trained in doing your best under every circumstance and success is bound to hover over your efforts. There is no better time than the present to begin. Keep going and make every new idea contribute to your growth and you are bound to succeed.
