STORIES OF VENIZELOS!
Two Legends
Told, One of Them Narrated by the Great Greek Statesman Himself.

There are many legends surrounding the birth of Venizelos. According to one, his mother went to the Monastery of the Virgin near Chania to pray for a son, promising the child should be born in a cattle shed after New Testament tradition. Another tells the same story with this addition: "When the abbot christened Venizelos he uttered, following the mother's wish, these prophetic words:
"I baptize thee Eleutherios, for thou shalt deliver our long-suffering island from the tyranny of the Turks." In the "Life of Venizelos" by S.
B. Chester, still another story is told, based on incidents narrated by the Greek statesman himself at a dinner party in London. His parents, having already lost three children, decided to follow the local custom and adopt him as a foundling. There was a superstition that the child would survive only if treated in this fashion.
Eleutherios was duly taken away from his mother and deposited on a heap of dry leaves outside the house.
Passing by soon afterward, some friends, who of course, played their role in the secret, "discovered" the child, brought him to his parents and urged that they adopt him as a foundling. They did, and Eleutherios survived and prospered.

LAW HAD BIBLICAL SANCTION
West Virginia Mayor Couldn't See Where Automist Had Any Reason for Complaint.

Law founded on the Bible is good enough for Mayor Gilmore of Morgantown, W. Va. A local man charged with not having the tail light burning on his automobile was arraigned before the mayor, who assessed a fine of $5.

The accused protested, said that it was a poor law under which he was fined and that he did not think it would hold water in court.
The mayor declared any law founded on the Bible was good enough for him. The defendant said he couldn't see where a tail light had anything to do with the Bible. The mayor looked pityingly at the accused and said:
"Do you remember the tale about the ten virgins, five of whom had lights and five of whom didn't? Well, if you do, you will remember that the Lord wouldn't have anything to do with the five without lights, and neither will this court."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Miniature Libraries.
A curious idea in book making is offered by a firm of French publishers.
Their plan consists of substituting for the large pages of the average books microphotographic reproductions of them to be read through a magnifying glass.
It is proposed that the size of the plates representing pages should be internationally standardized, so that any one possessing the magnifying apparatus would be able to read any book produced in this way. No technical difficulties are said to be in the way.
It is claimed that the cost of production would be enormously reduced.
Also it would greatly reduce the stock of libraries now numbered by books of every shape and size. The plates could be moreover, of a fire proof and durable material, while the system admits of an edition being enlarged to any dimension desired in accordance with demand.

Making Library Helpful.
Presuming that a public library is so well conducted that its custodians are able to direct applicants promptly to the volume asked for, the next step for an ideal institution would be to advertise the treasures which it holds in trust for all citizens.
It would appear that the Newark (N. J.) library has reached the second stage, for it has been distributing circulars telling how the ambitious worker may educate himself by reading, and how the library can help him to find just the right things to read. Taking a cue from the methods of writers of eye-catching advertisements, the library entitled the circular in large type: "Get Wise Quick."—Christian Science Monitor.

Proud South American Cities.
If Caracas claims the title of "The Paris of the New World"—and so they called the Venezuelan capital in the century past—we ought to remember that Bogota, Colombia's capital, was early in the sixteenth century famed as "The Athens of South America." This city, founded in 1538, was a center of culture, before Harvard university had been thought of. Certiga-na, Colombia, is fondly known as "The Heroic City," or "The Cradle of South American Liberty."—New York Evening Post.

Engine Wrongly Blamed.
A very nervous man bought a motor car and a friend asked him to give him a lift. They found themselves in a crowded street.
The friend said: "Jim, your engine is knocking badly."
"Don't be a fool," was the reply.
"That's my knee."

Looking Just Ahead.
Hydro-electric developments, totaling 18,000,000 horse power, and a doubling of the present ratings of central station plants, are regarded as probable within the next four years by some American authorities.

BREEZY NEWS NOIES
OF WHEELER

A strange sight took place here on Thursday of last week. Just before the arrival of the train from Portland. An auto truck rushed up to the depot with an arrangement resembling the old fashioned stocks, on which petty offenders of the law were punished, and on either side was the inscript on in big letters, "Deserter". Just as the train stopped, Guss Carlson stepped off and was promptly grabbed by 12 or more men and rushed onto the wagon, but on account of his persistent struggles the stocks were broken and the boys had to bind him with chains they had in readiness in such an emergency, that he just could not get away. In fact he seemed to like the whole proceeding, and was allowed to go free, if he would not desert the boys for so long a time again. Gus was allowed to return to Portland the next Saturday with that understanding.

F. M. Nary former resident of Wheeler, passed away at Oregon City, December 29th, 1921. Mr. Nary was well and favorably known at Wheeler having lived there for the last four years, and was loved and esteemed by all who knew him. He was a tireless worker for the upbuilding of the community of which he was a citizen, an enthusiastic worker in the I. O. O. F. of which order he was P. N. G., after going through all the chairs. He was buried at the lodge at Oregon City, the members of his own lodge officiating.

The Parent-Teachers' meeting was attended by increasing numbers last Friday evening, and was a very enjoyable affair from every standpoint.
After a brief program, which consisted of musical numbers, singing and speaking, a fine lunch was served, and I assure you that the teachers and parents could cooperate in that line as well as any other, after which games in good cheer dominated. Meetings have been held every week, but the cooperative spirit has been so successful that there was talk of changing the meeting, to every two weeks.

Mrs. D. M. Simonsen, wife of Mr.
Simonsen of The Herald staff, was a visitor for a few days at her sisters, Mrs. L. S. Johnson.

Alfred Hart, a former resident of this city, but who for the past few months has been sojourning in California, is seen again on the streets, shaking hands and smiling that old familiar smile.

Amos Ross, one of our foremost citizens was taken to Tillamook on Tuesday for medical treatment. Mr. Ross has been a sufferer from rheumatism for the past few years and it is hoped he will return fully recovered.

Lloyd Johnson, who has been absent for the past year, is again a resident of Wheeler.

Frank Keenholt smiles a smile that reaches from ear to ear. All because, that unto him a son was born. That's s alright, Frank, but just pass around the cigars, and we will all smile.

Miss Myrtle Mortenson, our popular 4th grade teacher, is detained at home, temporarily we hope, by sickness. All the rest of the teachers are on the job again, without even mentioning "engaged."

MOST HAZARDOUS OF SPORTS

Participants in Irish Wild Goose Chase Always in for Danger Real and Thrilling.

The etymology of steeplechase is the obvious to need see explanation.
Founders of the sport wisely fixed upon a distant steeple and rode straight to it, crossing gallantly, hedge, ditch, piling, turf or timber, pastures, crops, meadow, or ridge and survive—whose riding straightest, come in first and was winner.

But there are few, indeed, to whom a wild goose chase bears any implication of sport, yet the phrase derives from a sport hazardous indeed. It is said to have begun in Ireland, where a chosen leader took mounted men cross country, but chose always the oughest, wildest going to be found.
If misadventure befell the leader some other took up the office—occasionally there was a change of leaders if the first proved timorous. For danger real and thrilling was the spice of the wild goose chase.

The winner was not he who came home first, but he who had danked nothing in the route, even possibly having gone further around to negotiate an extra hazard.

Knowing this I have wondered a little if the Wild Goose—the Irish legions who, fighting for alien kings, have shown themselves prodigies of valor—did not take their name from the sport nearest the heart of their homeland.—New York Herald.
