TAXATION AFFECTS FUTURE FORESTS
The National Lumber and Manufacturing Co., Hoquiam, Wash. in a timely article points out the handicaps and problems which a lumber producer must meet.
The article shows that a lumber company preparing to cut 50,000,000 ft. a year for 20 years must make an investment of some $3,750,000.
While this money is being spent the promoters and backers of the industry are made much of through the press and at public meetings. But after the
