Joe Donaldson was in the city last week on business the other day. Joe is a good fellow and the best guy in Tillamook to do, too, but he sure was off [illegible] Says he's going to [illegible] next year. Joe is a [illegible] pay big rent. He has got to have two members now or he gets 28 eggs a day. Well, you ought to go into it! Anyway he can get 48 hens AND TWO ROOSTERS to lay 28 EGGS a day we may change him for looking sideways at Whose got hens and [illegible] glance of envy at [illegible] fowl—roosters and all.

About this weather suggestion and "forecasts" all we've got to say is that only fools and newcomers (ex-inforecast weather) but whether we're one or the other, or both we'll get into the swim, too, so here goes:

WEATHER FORECAST FOR SATURDAY—MORE MOONSHINE

Ye ed. got peeved at John and I last week day. "Twas this: When making up we discovered that we were over set, which in translation or print means that we were throwing it more type than we had space. We called on [illegible] to help us out in the fact and reinforced the request [illegible] that we have an office boy to [illegible] all local [illegible] the [illegible] announcements. "Looks like we'd [illegible] literals after I've worn the last two nights setting them"—said I'll say we would—not by a [illegible] And then he raved. "Better quit the city biz though, for I don't want the preachers after me, since a preacher [illegible] is worse than a [illegible] criminal but rest easy SEE THAT MY EDITORIALS ARE MADE UP FIRST THING!" And we did, and we will—but the "hell" editorials were side-tracked—We're sorry.

Insatiable Birds

A new story is going around the financial district about an old southern negro who was asked for the proprietor of a store how he happened to own [illegible] when he had such a good cotton [illegible] crop.

"De ducks got 'bout all dat cotton, sah," was the mournful reply.

"What do you mean—the ducks got it?"

"Well, you see," explained the old man, "I sent dat cotton up to Memphis an' dey deducts the freight an' dey deducts the storage charges, an' dey deducts the commission, an' dey deducts the taxes—yes, sah, de ducts got 'bout all dat cotton an' dat's why I'm here."

WALKS 60 MILES TO GET FOOD

Russian Braves Snow and Cold for Needed Gift From New York Woman.

Moscow.—Sergei Alexandrovich Toreyev walked 60 miles through the snow from his home in the country of Riazan to this city recently, to receive a $20 remittance personally sent for him by Mrs. Mary Mardlin of West Manchester, Pennsylvania. The Herald, New York.

When Toreyev arrived at the American relief administration headquarters here he was almost exhausted from cold and hunger. He could hardly believe his eyes when, after establishing his identity, he received 250 pounds of nourishing food, consisting of 50 pounds of flour, 50 pounds of rice, 10 pounds of canned milk, 10 pounds of cooking fats, 20 pounds of sugar and 6 pounds of tea. "I have a wife and four children at home," he said, "and they will share this food with me. Mrs. Mardlin can never be adequately repaid for this kind deed."

Dog Acme of Politeness.

Boston.—There is a French bulldog that is the acme of politeness. His name is Chez Toi and he is the property of Miss Alice F. Dunne of 46 Cortes street, Boston.

Chez Toi got his reputation as an extremely polite canine when he [illegible] to pick up a lady's coat that was dragging on the floor. He did this so gracefully and with such evident enjoyment that he was immediately nicknamed "the Page" by his loving mistress.

Seeks "Cell for Winter"; Gets One for Forty Years

Parry Sound, Ont. — Forty years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Police Magistrate George Moore on Stephen Zavisiuk, who pleaded guilty to smashing 21 windows, "in order to earn a term in a nice warm jail for the winter."

TUESDAY-WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 14-15

Mary Pickford in "Through the Back Door"

Did you know? Mary Pickford can no more grow up than Peter Pan and that is why "Through the Back Door" is just the type of charming picture that you want to see her in—the kind that has made her famous—brim full of heart interest—intensely effective. "Trough the Back Door" recalls to us how warm and real and divine a thing it is to be Just Human and Happy. The bright spots of this picture will loom up as bright as the shaft of light from a light-house does to a ship at sea. It's a picture for all children from the age of 6 to—a hundred and six. Don't miss it!
