BLAINE NEWS

Mr. Wood and Mrs. Wood of Blaine, Ore., and Mrs. Vincent of Tillamook, Ore., were visiting their mother, Mrs. Rosa Davis.

Miss Anna Magrath and son have been visiting at W. R. Spence's.

Quite a number of people from the neighborhood attended the funeral of Mrs. Dye, Sat. Saturday at Tillamook.

Max O. W. Emswiler is spending a few days in Tillamook this week.

H. Brown is working for I. N. Foster.

Miss Ella Blahak and Mrs. Mrs. Ella Blahak are with Miss Geneva Campbell and Nancy.

Miss A. J. Robinson has been in with the grapes for several days.

Nancy is all starting to get into and out of the water this week.

A son of Bob Lynch, a pioneer of the country, was here the first of the week for a few days.

Miss Edna Daniels, Miss Emmah George, William and Francis Weston, were elected to membership in the church here.

Tom Gault returned Friday after a visit with his parents in Canada.

Rev. Taylor preached a very interesting sermon Sunday morning and in the afternoon a meeting was held for the Grange, Men and Mothers.

Miss Vera Clark, who is attending the Tillamook High School, spent the week end with her parents here.

The boxer under the direction of the Robokah, held in the city hall on Friday night was a grand success. The hall was beautifully decorated. The different booths especially so. The candy booth was in charge of the McKillop, Hart and Hanson. The hot tamales booth was in charge of Jelliffe, Houser and Weston. The hot booth was in charge of Ross, Smith and Lane. Thirty dollars was raised. A dance followed later in the evening and was attended.

Elder and Mrs. Knight left Wednesday April 13, for Portland enroute to San Francisco, Cal.

The Odd Fellows still celebrate their anniversary with a box supper on the 20th of April.

AUTOISTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

P. W. Barrett, the painter, and E. J. Clouston of the Creamery Association office, met with a narrow and miraculous escape last Wednesday night when their car was riding in a ditch on Fawcett creek, turned completely over and was badly wrecked. The two men escaped practically unharmed, though shaken up considerably and stunned from the suddenness of their plunge through space.

The two men were driving south and when they came to the Fawcett creek bridge they slowed down so as to give a coming auto the right of way. However, Mr. Barrett was not able to stop his car before it toppled over the embankment where the bridge was washed away.

The men in the auto claim there was no barbed wire or any other projection which might have caused the accident.

TILLAMOOK AND SEASIDE ARE TO CO-OPERATE

The Seaside Commercial Club, at a meeting last week, decided to send a delegation to this city to meet with the Tillamook Chamber of Commerce to discuss matters pertaining to the summer tourist travel, with the idea of inducing tourists to take the road between Tillamook and Seaside. Every summer the tourist travel over this road increases, and with proper signs and more information given out, it would greatly stimulate the travel.

"PETE"

Pete is just a common pup who, some time, must have strayed. He drifted into my back yard, adopted me, and stayed. I guess perhaps he knew that I was fond of such as he and so he sort of figured he had best be fond of me.

About a year ago it was he who snoped around my door. I fed him scraps that day until there wasn't any more. Now most stray canines make their stay until the scraps run out, but Pete, I guess he's different, 'cause he still is hanging 'bout.

I like the outdoors, so does Pete, and every more you'll find me, strutting through the woods and dells, while Pete trails long behind me, I chatter with the little birds while Pete just stops to whine; perhaps he'd like to chase them, but he knows they're friends of mine.

I've often wished that Pete could talk; I wonder what he'd say. No doubt, just words of friendship 'cause he always looks that way. His eyes do more than give him light; they give me light, as well, to make me understand the things that Pete can never tell.

Just dog, that's Pete, and yet to me, he means more in the end than camouflaging humans, for he—well, he's my friend. No credit comes from man, sometimes, for even what you've earned, but I can do no wrong at all as far as Pete's concerned.

The trifling wagging of his tail; the glint within his eye; the sudden bark; the quiet whine; the sympathetic sigh. They speak the mongrel language but a language that I know; they tell me Pete is with me—that is why I love him so.

Some time, within the future, little Pete must pass away, and when he does I'll know that due to me, he's had his day. And then my time must also come and say, I wouldn't care if I went to canine heaven—'cause by best friend will be there.

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS OPEN MEETING

On Friday evening of last week, Co. Geo. A. White, candidate for governor in the Republican primaries, spoke before the American Legion at the W. O. W. Hall. There was a good attendance, and Col. White's address was well liked.

On Friday evening, April 28, Chas. Hall of Marshfield, another candidate for governor will speak before the Legion and general public.

Governor Olcott has been given an invitation to speak before the Legion, but he has declined, because of the fact that he is doing no outside campaigning whatever.

Everybody needs a home paper, these days.

ANOTHER FREAK FIRE OCCURS

The fire department answered an alarm turned in from the Chas. Stone residence Friday morning but upon arrival found their services uncalled for, an abandoned lamp having been extinguished before their arrival.

The fire was a freak. Like the small blaze usually at the Vidua hospital it started from an overheated hot water pipe. In connecting up the hot water tank the pipes were snugly fitted in between the lathings. Being very tight and the edge of the lath very rough the pent-up hot almost unnoticeable minute quivering of the house forced out a sort of dust which ignited from combustion. The blaze was so tight that it was not found and by coming made a hissing noise—burst forth running quite a little distance at first. The damage was very small. Insurance is carried by the Pacific Western agency.

BENEFIT FOR CONVENTION

BEAUTIFY THE CITY WITH SHADE TREES

There is one thing more than a city that will help to beautify the city, and that is shade trees in the residence districts. This is a good time of the year to plant them. It is the trees in some of the Willamette cities that make them appear so pretty, especially in the summer time, and a large number of trees planted in the residence districts of this city would help to beautify Tillamook.

T. H. S. NOTES

On April 17th the Beta Gamma society again brought a speaker before the assembly. Mr. Barrick, a local attorney spoke on this occasion, his subject being the Constitution of the United States. Mr. Barrick showed a thorough knowledge of the contents of the Constitution and of its interpretation. He quoted and explained different parts of the document. He also distinguished between the three departments of government.

Last week Coach French gave the civics class a talk, taking as his subject our relations with foreign countries. Mr. French, having been over a considerable part of Europe as a member of the Foreign Relief Commission was well fitted to talk on this subject.

The seniors are working hard on their play, "All of a Sudden Peggy." Miss Drake is called to Portland by the illness of her mother. Miss Turnbull is taking her place.
