

TALENT NEWS.

TALENT, OR. April 1st, 1894.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Now is the time to plant "bile beans."

Social dance next Friday evening.

Roads are drying up but terribly rough.

Fine spring weather for the past week; plows running in every direction—don't even stop for Sunday.

J. J. Miller, who formerly lived on Wagner creek, is now in Salubria, Idaho.

He writes to the NEWS that there has been 8 feet of snow there this winter and three feet at date of letter—March 15th.

He is suffering from a cancer on his right hand and will soon go to Portland or San Francisco to have it cut out.

The three-year-old child of Joe Kerby who was so badly burned about two weeks ago, is improving and will probably recover. It suffers terribly, however.

The 5-stamp mill now being erected on on the "Shorty" mine on Wagner creek will be in operation in about two weeks.

Mr. Horton, a young man who has been cutting wood for Mr. Lynch for several months, met with a singular and painful accident a few days ago.

Cutting off a small limb that was under tension, the end flew up striking him under the jaw, penetrated to the mouth and tore out two or three teeth.

We expect to chronicle several real estate transfers and some other important changes in and about Talent in our next.

Gus. Edlund of Pokegama came over the other day to see his best girl at Talent.

Ed. Foss of Talent is taking in the Midwinter Fair.

J. W. Aid of Pokegama has been visiting relatives and friends in Talent.

Dr. A. C. Caldwell the leading Dentist of Ashland has the finest roof plates in the market. He also fills and extracts teeth without pain.

We have scanned the last few numbers of the Record with great care; have studiously perused the editorials, correspondence, locals and ads, not excepting the interesting serial entitled "Royal Baking Powder"—have read and re-read and read between the lines; but thus far have failed to find the report of the committee that was called to settle certain charges and counter charges which were agitating the Talent People's party club a few weeks ago, and which report was sent to the Record for publication.

Editor Talent News:

Dear Sir:

Will you please extend to myself and others of like religious faith the kindness and courtesy of giving publicity in your next issue to this note of explanation.

I wish to state that your oft repeated allusion to our denominational name as "Soul Sleepers," is incorrect and improper, and contrary to the long since established rule of calling things by their right names. Our denominational name is the only one among all others authorized by the Scriptures of divine truth "The Church of God."

Very Respectfully,

R. H. Sherill.

We gladly insert the above. The NEWS takes kindly to being corrected. As the term is frequently seen in print we considered it correct and did not think there was the slightest shade of impropriety in using it. However we are glad to be set right.

BORN.

March 26, to the wife of Geo. Low, on Wagner creek, a daughter—11 pounds.

DIED.

In Phoenix, March 26, an infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Rissou, of Croop.
