NEWS STAND,

ASHLAND, OREGON.

THE SITUATION AT TALENT AFTER THE ELECTION.

The kickers, Dunlap, Wilcox and Dean, have donned crepe for 30 days. John Briner has a sort of far-away look and is in a deep study over the causes that led to the thusness of the situation. W. J. Dean has organized himself into a committee of one to study the money question and will report progress in '96.

Arduous work and extreme mental anxiety during the campaign has caused Nick Brophy's hair to turn white very rapidly. By '96 he will be venerable enough to run for county judge.

We are informed that Emmette Beeson was so elated—or inflated—over the Populist victory in the county that he went right off and bought a jumper four sizes too large for him, and that his wife spent the balance of the day in cutting gores in the back and sides to make it fit, saving enough material to make "Baby Earl" three pair of pants.

H. H. Goddard, the Justice of the Peace elect, is praying for a big boom in the matrimonial business.

E. K. Anderson, when 50 yards away salutes you with, "Hurrah for the state."

A. L. Alford is wondering if the great Democratic party of Jackson county has gone into history.

Jeff. Bell is forced to admit that "the Pops have played h—l this time sure."

Wella Beeson holds the even tenor of his way and greets you with a serene smile which seems to say: "They got there just the same."

Sam'l Carlile, our newly elected constable, will at once provide himself with a new breech-loading shot gun, with all modern improvements, and a large sized policemen's club. Thus equipped he proposes to keep a fatherly watch over the hoods of Talent during his term of office.

BORN.

On the 11, inst. to Wm. Barlow and wife of Talent a son.

On the 8, inst. to Arthur Furry and wife of Phoenix a son.
