OREGON NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Important Occurrences of Past Week Briefly Compiled for Our Readers.

The Newport-Corvallis highway is now in splendid condition it is reported.

West Linn will have a rose show June 5, the first that has been held at that place in six years.

George E. Chamberlain, accom-
C., for Portland Saturday.

The 16th annual convention of the State Editorial association will be held at Hood River July 13, 14, 15.

Portland has a population of 343, 001, according to the estimates of the 1923 city directory, issued by R. L.
Polk & Co.

A non-conference track and field meet of the independent colleges of Oregon was held Saturday at Linfield college, McMinnville.

The first general "hog picnic" in the history of hog-breeding in Oregon will be held in Dayton Saturday, when breeders from all over the state will meet for their annual session.

The state convention of Oddfellows, Rebeks and the various affiliated degrees, ended at North Bend with the installation of the various officers.

A conference of bankers and farmers of the 12th federal reserve district will be held at the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis, June 7.

Charles Schwaberg of Portland was appointed by Governor Pierce a member of the state board of pharmacy to succeed W. D. McCurry of Portland.

Option on sixty acres of land on the outskirts of Portland has been taken to provide a site for a $5,000,000 sanctuary planned by the Servite Fathers.

Unorganized loganberry growers from all parts of the Willamette valley held a conference in Salem Saturday to perfect a selling organization.

John B. Bell Jr. of Eugene, appointed to West Point military academy by Senator Stanfield, has passed all of the tests and has been admitted to the academy.

The value of irrigated lands has increased about 600 per cent in Oregon, according to a detailed report which has been completed by the state chamber of commerce.

The public service commission, in rules regulating the operation of for-hire automobiles under the direction of the department, has fixed an eight-hour day for drivers.

Under a new law which became effective in Oregon May 24, the state water board is abolished and the work of this department has been transferred to the state engineer.

Luke Minthorn, aged 70, a Cayuse Indian of the Umatilla reservation, who has been an active leader in Indian affairs for many years, died suddenly at his home in Pendleton.

The track at the state fair grounds at Salem will be the scene of a series of motor races on Saturday, June 9, in which professional and stock cars will take place, it is announced.

Efforts to have the Umpqua river closed to commercial fishing above tidewater may be made by the Roseburg Rod and Gun club because of

Gasoline prices throughout the entire state advanced 1 cent Thursday, the law passed by the last legislature authorizing an additional 1-cent tax on gasoline going into effect at this time.

Water was turned in last week to the concrete 2,000,000-gallon capacity reservoir of the Medford city water department, which cost $3000. The new basin will be used for storage only.

It appears to be definitely established that President Harding will reach Portland on July 4, his itinerary calling for his participation in the Old Oregon Trail celebration at Meacham, on July 2.

Cattle ranges in Crook county are in better shape this year than they have been for many seasons past, is the report given out by Vernon V.
Harpham, supervisor of the Ochoco national forest.

The state highway commission has filed with the public service commission applications for authority to eliminate five grade crossings over the Southern Pacific company's tracks in Tillamook county.

Indictments were returned by the grand jury in session at The Dalles against 26 men, most of whom are believed to be residents of Wasco and Sherman counties, on charges of rioting and fishing unlawfully. The riot charges resulted from an alleged altercation between the 26 named and Deputy District Game Warden Hadley at a fishway on the Deschutes river May 11.

HAD A VARIETY OF DISHES

Progressive Dinner Party in New York Didn't Seem to Miss Much on Its Journey.

One of the greatest charms of New York life is its wide variety of eating places. A party of artists started out the other evening in an automobile to have a progressive dinner, beginning, of course, with cocktails in a studio. A five minutes' run to Mulberry street took them to an Italian restaurant, where for hors d'oeuvres they had anti-pasta, peppers in oil with olives.

The next stop was at a Russian restaurant on Second avenue for soup, borscht, the peasant cabbage soup. At a Japanese cafe in West Fifty-ninth street, they had fried shrimps, then to a Turkish restaurant nearby for Shish Kebab, lamb roasted on skewers.

At a French rotisserie they had roast chicken, and after stopping in a German place for "Kuchen," they wound up with coffee in an Austrian pastry shop—and the whole dinner took hardly more than two hours.
