The Majestic theatre, beginning tonight, is offering a week of shows that few small towns can secure. Read their ad on another page for the program. There are three productions that rank at the very head of the list. You see no better in New York.

L. D. Kenney, of Lemonsten, Mass., with his wife and two daughters, arrived in Vernonia this week, to visit their cousin, Mrs. G. B. Richmond. Mr. Kenney has for many years been an employee of the Boston & Main railroad.

They Played Ball

Last Sunday Roy came up to try Vernonia, and try is about all they did. Vernon pitched a shut out game against the fast aggregation of young players, allowing only four hits and sending eight to the bench by the ozone route. We were robbed of the credit of a no score game by an error in the last inning after two men were down. Clarence Coyle played the Babe Ruth stunt and lost one in the grass over in the Spencer field, and grabbed off the $5 prize offered by Louie Detrow, of Lane & Co., for the first home run on the home grounds. Manager Brown stepped into the game and got three hits out of five times up. The final score stood 13 for Vernonia and 2 for Roy. Next Sunday Reedville comes to Vernonia.
