It is time now that Bridge street had its curbs and cement walks in, as the sewer problem is about solved and actual construction soon to begin. The curbs and walks should be in before the paving. The old board walks are worn out in many places and a damage case is possible. Paving will have to be started soon as the fall rains might beat us to it. The curbs should be in first, no use for delay or is anything saved by delay.

Conservatory Artists' Trio Appears Soon

Three Western Artists Give Two Programs Second Day of Chautauqua.

Three artists of individual achievement and promise compose the Conservatory Artists' Trio. Genevieve Gilbert, dramatic soprano, is not only one of the most popular sopranos of the West, but has won for herself a place on the national concert platform. A splendid personality, coupled with a rich dramatic soprano, make her one of the most interesting American singers. She has exceptional dramatic ability, having studied with Madam Modjeska. Her programs are versatile and appealing and she brings into them an unusual sympathetic interpretation.

Flora Mae Ross, concert pianist, is a finished musician, with a remarkable conception of artistic interpretation and who possesses the rare gift of being a truly sympathetic accompanist. Before organizing the present trio, she conducted the Ross-Montieth-Gerber Trio of Los Angeles and the Arco Ladies' Trio of Portland, Oregon.

Maxine Telford, violinist, is a charming young western girl who mastered the violin under Susie Fennel Pipes, head of the violin department of the Elison-White Conservatory of Music. Miss Telford is one of the most promising musicians of the West. Each year finds her work ranking higher in artistic excellence, with the future holding fine things in store.
A real artists' trio in two concerts on the second day.

WE ALL HAVE THE SAME OPPORTUNITY

When we pinned our faith on Vernonia, we realized the opportunities here that await the men who are doers.

The same opportunities are extended to all of us and what we make of them depends upon our own initiative and industry. But we know that the men who work, earn and save will be the ones who win out.
