WILL START FOX FARM

The "starter" for Rainier's first Alaska red fox farm arrived yesterday morning (Thursday) in the form of a pair of fine red foxes from Centerville, Iowa. They were killed by Frank D. Nickerson, who has been in Rainier a few months and contemplates starting a fox farm in the adjoining country. He will add 20 more pairs as soon as he can make the necessary arrangements for accommodations.—Rainier Review.

MURRAY SUES FOR INSURANCE

M. Murray, well known in Rainier, and now a resident of Vernonia, has filed suit against the Aetna Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., in the circuit court at Portland for $4,000 for insurance which was carried on a stock of goods owned by M. Murray which was destroyed by fire at Bend, Oregon, on June 13, 1923.—Rainier Review.

St. Helens is arranging for a Censor Board, to view their picture films before the play houses show them to the public. Nothing like that in Vernonia—play houses here use other successful means of advertising.

lines is rapidly getting the world out of tune, and making murderers, degenerates, drunkards, dope fiends, and insane brutes. The Frank murder case is only one example. Time for a halt. Time for more mothers to be on the lookout, time for church work instead of Jazz schools. These race horse following youths can murder and glory in their filth, and lay it to such feeble excuses as: "intellectual modernism", and their early learning that there is no God. Reap what you sow. The result of wild and modern teaching is getting quite ugly and unbearable to good moral, home loving people.

All indications point to a long, disgraceful, league fight for life, for blood money and to demonstrate oratorical ability and to grab all the dollars that can be drained from too high-brow millionaires through their fatherly feeling in defending two sporty sons who had more money than was fit for them. In the high courts it will be proved or not proved that Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb brutally murdered Robert Franks. The Thaw case will be equal led in red tape, stalls, postponements and cash spent. Lawyers will carry the thing until they will be able to buy more private yatches and imported hooch. There is no justice in the system that Money saves the necks of such degenerates. The public is getting tired of the whole farce. In the Frank killing the accused acknowledge they may get "a couple of years". Why will they not get "the chair" of "hung by the neck until dead". Why? Money, Millions, answers all. Why are uprisings threatened over our fair land? Because such low down moneyed schicks and non-essentials can do as they please and get away with it because they are backed by money and plenty of it. The public has convicted them, hang them.

EAGLE FEATHERS

Then there is the simpleton who thinks that when he stops his subscription to a newspaper he has also stopped the press.

Today's Cheerful Thought

The less money you make, the bigger laugh you can have on the income tax collectors.

Solomon must have been sho-nuff wise. He managed to be the richest man on earth without being investigated.

Such a Delicate Instrument

The little girl, with childlike frankness, was talking family affairs at the neighbor's. "Mamma wouldn't pay the telephone bill," she said, "and Papa wouldn't pay it, and so now the phone is out of order."

Cutting advertising may reduce the cost of doing business, but cutting your windpipe will also reduce the cost of living.

EVENTS AT OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Coolidge may go down in history as the "vetoing President." At this writing, he already has axed two soldiers bonus bills, the McNary-Haugen farm relief, bill the tax reduction bill and several others are yet to come. The President insists that reduction of federal expenditures is the most important thing he has to accomplish and he is determined to "fight it out on that line" whatever the cost, just so it's not in cash.

The Political guns that have knocked two Cabinet members into private life have been turned on John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, but with little effect thus far. A powerful country-wide chain of newspapers is heading the assault, charging Weeks with improper connections with large financial organizations, which have relations with the government. Secretary of State Hughes, likewise, has been involved in the Shipping Board investigation. It is alleged that he influenced the board to sell a big passenger ship to a foreign firm for a small amount when American companies offered much more. Hughes denies it.

There are a lot of women in Washington who would give almost anything to know where Mrs. Coolidge buys her hats. The word has gotten around that the first lady of the land has turned down the fashionable stores on F street, the Capital's Fifth Avenue, and has chosen a little shop in Mt. Pleasant, formerly a suburb and now a part of northwest Washington. It is reported that Mrs. Coolidge bought six spring hats there. But the location of the shop and the identity of the owner are secrets which Mrs. Coolidge is keeping as steadfastly as her husband keeps his counsel on matters of state importance.

Misery loves company, says the old proverb; and the truth of the adage has been demonstrated here. Hiram W. Johnson, whose presidential aspirations fell as flat as a pancake, and Burton K. Wheeler, under a criminal indictment in his home state of Montana, have become fast friends. Finding the members of his own party in the senate not so friendly to him, Johnson has turned to other fields for companionship. The pair were seen arm in arm at a circus recently and they are often, in close conversation at the Capital.

With the Convention only a week away, the Democratic political situation, so far as the selection of a presidential candidate is concerned, does not clear up. Everyone of the 59 aspirants has a chance, and one man's guess is as good as another's, if not better. McAdoo will go into the convention with the most votes to start with, but the big question about his ability to increase that lead. In the Republican convention in 1920, Gen. Wood had more votes than anyone else at the start, but he was unable to increase his total by as much as ten per cent during all the balloting.

Many months will elapse before the last is heard of the great oil scandal. The senate investigation has been concluded, but the fight will go on indefinitely in the courts. The United States Supreme Court will have to make final decision in the cases, both criminal and civil, so as such as two years may elapse before the litigation is finally ended. Both Sinclair and Doheny have plenty of money and they will fight to the limit both against losing their properties and to keep from going to prison in the event criminal indictments are returned against them.

The ending of the preferential primaries finds President Coolidge with approximately a thousand votes to his credit for the G. O. P. convention on June 10. Coolidge headquarters have been opened in Cleveland, to remain in operation until the business there is wound up. Indications are that a free-for-all fight on the floor of the convention will be necessary to name the Republican vice-president nominee. This is in accordance with Coolidge's wishes.

We the Women's Relief Corps, No. 49 of Vernonia, Oregon wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who took part in the parade and the Memorial Day services.

Special thanks do we vote to Mr. Carlin and to Mr. Willing, who took charge of the band music.

Sarah A. Spencer, President.

A Vernonia man sends in the following pathetic tale:

Car—Red
Man—Blue
Mule—White
Sad—Rites
Good—Nite.

Three things never preform satisfactorily, when there is company present—the kids, radios and automobiles.
