VERNONIA MASONIC NEWS

At a recent meeting of Vernonia Lodge, No. 184, A. F. & A. M., the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing Masonic year:

Wm. Folger, Master; W. H. Hurley, Senior Warden; Ivan Shearer, Junior Warden; Wm. Pringle, Sr., Treasurer; O. F. Tipton, Secretary; Glen Robinson, Senior Deacon; D. B. McDonald, Junior Deacon; Geo. Rochat Senior Steward; Ray Jay, Junior Steward; Elmo Jorrey, Chaplain; J. D. McPherson Marshall; H. E. Higgins, Tyler.

Mr. Evans, of Portland was an interesting visitor.

For several years Mr. Evans has been on various engineering enterprises throughout the world, and his experiences were of great interest to those present.

The American Legion dance for Valentine's day Saturday, Feb. 14, is well under way. The music will be of the best, a decorating committee will work on the hall and it is to be especially decorated for the affair.

Several parties will motor from Portland. St. Helens and Forest Grove to take part in the frolic, stay over night and inspect the big mill before returning.

Commander M. E. Carlin has signed up 50 members for the first month of 1925. The last two buddies were H. J. Leach and G. E. Wright. Next Monday is meeting night, come early.

The Vernonia High School Basketball boys played Hill Military Academy Friday, Jan. 30. Although the game was hard fought during the first half it was totally one sided. Hill's forward completed seven long shots over our defense. These with a few other shots brought their score to 21 while Vernonia had made only 4 points.

The second half of the game was much better and more interesting. Vernonia did some fast work, making 8 points, and holding Hill down to 11 points.

Mr. French who refereed the Clatskanie game was referee. The game showed good sportsmanship on both sides.

At 1 o'clock Friday, Jan. 30, the basketball boys left Gilby's Motor Co. for Portland. They reached Portland about 4:30, and ate dinner at "The Panama". Loel Roberts tried "to rap himself around a T-bone Steak" but the plate got the most of it.

After the game with Hill's the boys saw the show at the Pantages Theatre. Then they were ready for bed. Each boy was given a cot in one of the dormitories. The bugle awoke the boys the next morning to a delicious breakfast in the Hill dining room. The morning was spent in sight seeing.

An intelligence test was given the students Thursday. The object was to see which class could name the greatest number of former presidents of the United States. The Senior class had the brightest percentage. However, Vera Shields, a freshman, had the highest individual percentage. She named, correctly, twenty-six of the former presidents.

The boys basket ball team will play Clatskanie Friday at Clatskanie

Julia Keasey was the honor guest at a slumber party given by the Girls basket ball coach and team. at Mrs. Beamens home Friday night. The first part of the evening was spent in performing stunts, working crossword puzzles, and having a general good time. About twelve o'clock a large bed was made on the floor and the girls scrambled in. Most of the rest of the night was spent in telling ghost stories and pillow fights. Breakfast, which was prepared by many hands, was served at nine. The girls present were: Julia Keasey, Lena Gibson, Thresa Bays, Doris Akerstead, Lillian Condit, and Amy Hughes. Mildred Bergerson was unable to be present because of her father's illness.

Mrs. Cole was absent from school the last three days of school last week on account of illness.

The Junior party for Saturday night was postponed indefinitely. The Seniors thought it was a good idea, as no one would have come anyway. However, the Juniors are sorry for causing Mr. Wilkerson and Miss Bell so much trouble in preparing for it.

KEEPING IN HARNESS

There is a prevailing idea among Vernonia citizens that when a fellow grows old the only thing left for him to do is to retire, to either live on what he has been able to accumulate or on those who are through blood ties morally bound to support him. They think he should step aside and give way to younger men. But we have always believed that when a man gets the idea he is too old to work he is hastening his own end.

Why should not a man, be he rich or poor, work on as long as he is mentally or physically able to do any sort of work? The greatest violin maker the world has ever known was still making violins when he was 90 years old. It is true that the blacksmith cannot, when he is old wield as heavy a hammer as in the days of his manly vigor, but there is always something he can do. The active lawyer may be compelled to retire from the exacting duties of heavy practice, but there is much useful work for him to do when his head grows white.

The worst mistake a man in maturing years can make is to get it into his head that he is "in the way". There are always little odd jobs he can turn his hand to to keep his mind employed, and as long as his mind and hands are busy his heart is going to be too happy to stop beating. His counsel, too, is always worth much to the younger generation and he is doing good work when he is merely spending his time in passing out good advice or pointing out good examples. Your years are going to be few enough at best. Don't lessen them by imagining that you are "in the way" or that you are too

IT'S A HARD JOB

A preacher has a hard time. If his hair is white, he is too old; if he is a young man, he hasn't any experience. If he has ten children he has too many, and if he has none, he isn't setting a good example. If his wife sings in the choir, she is presuming, and if she doesn't she dislikes her husband's work. If a preacher reads his notes he is a bore; if he preaches without notes, he is not deep enough. If he stays home in his study he doesn't mix with the people; if he is seen around the streets, he ought to be at home getting up a sermon. If he calls on a poor family, he is playing to the grandstand; if he calls at the home of the rich he is an aristocrat. Whatever he does, someone could have told him how to do better. He has a hard time living off of donations that never come in. There are some hard jobs around Vernonia. But next to editing a newspaper we don't believe there's a harder job in the world than the one the preacher has to fill.

THE LICENSE TAG

We wonder how many Vernonia auto drivers ever stop to consider the significance of the auto license tag they carry on their car. It does not give him a right to use the highways—he already had that before there were autos. It doesn't give him immunity from further taxation—they are apt to pass new laws hitting the auto for other things besides tags. What this tag should signify, and the impression it should convey, is an assurance to the public at large that the man who is operating the car to which it is fastened is fit to drive, that the state has satisfied itself of his ability, and that he will not, either maliciously or by wilful negligence, cause injury to others. A few pertinent changes in our state laws can make the auto license tag mean all that, and it would then convey a message of some importance to every body on the highway.

SHORT OF PRINTERS

The Prison Mirror, a weekly paper printed inside the walls of the Minnesota state prison and edited and produced by members of the profession who have strayed from "the straight and narrow path", is short of printers. It announces that there are lawyers enough and bank clerks enough in the prison to get it out, if they knew how to set type. They could also equip a college with a large staff and could even supply ministers for number of churches—but there are not enough printer-convents left inside the big institution to get out the weekly paper. And it only takes three men, at that. It certainly speaks well for the newspaper profession, and also furnishes us with a fact that might be worth remembering. That is that only since the country turned over a new leaf and hung up a new record for sobriety has it been impossible to get out the paper on account of a scarcity of printers behind the bars. In our own State Pen we don't have any printers.
