

Interesting H. S. Doings

Friday afternoon Theresa Bayes accompanied her sister, Mrs. Scott, to the hospital in Portland, where Mrs. Scott underwent an operation for appendicitis. Miss Bayes was greatly missed at the game in Birkenfield that night.

Word was received from Silverton Monday morning concerning the game for state championship between the girls basketball team of Silverton High School and the team of Vernonia. Silverton had not heard about Seaside's forfeiting the game, and they said that as soon as the girls had determined the champions of the two districts they would be willing to play the winning team. The game will be played at either McMinnville or Newberg, whichever is convenient for Silverton.

The Vernonia basketball teams went to Berkenfield last Friday and competed with the two teams here. The score between the girls was tied 25-25. This was rather unusual but over confidence kept the girls from winning the game. Moreover, the second team played one quarter. The boys game, although it resembled football, was also close. The final score ending 23-19 in favor of Vernonia. For a while Berkenfield was in the lead but Vernonia came back stronger in the last quarter. The game was played with considerable roughness. After the games lunch was served to all players and officials.

Monday morning Mr. Herrman spoke to the Student Body of the Vernonia High school. He spoke of the future that is ahead of the young people. He presented three questions, which he said, every person should answer.

These three questions are:
1st.—What shall I do?
Mr. Herrman suggested that a young person should choose his vocation, not for sentimental reasons, but because he knew himself.
2nd.—With Whom Shall I Live?
To this question Mr. Herrman said that a young person should choose for his or her life companion and one with whom he had something in common.
3rd.—A Young Person Should Have Some Religion.

A CASE OF SUSPENSION

Basket Social at High School to be Hilarious Affair, Friday, March 13, 8 P. M.

The following students are to be suspended for—Wna—No, it's worse than that. The tables are turned and the students are going to suspend the PROFESSORS.

At least that's what threatens to happen in the play "A Case of Suspension," which is being given next Friday night in conjunction with the big basket social. The play is a "gloom buster," and as everyone knows, a basket social in itself is hardly funeral-like so the evening is sure to be glorious one.

American Legion There

The last meeting of the American Legion was called to order by Commander Carkin about eight-thirty Monday night. Several topics were discussed.

The most spoken of was the new club house which is just east of the Hy-Van Hotel. Through the generosity of Mr. Van Blaricom the Legion will be able to construct a tennis and hand ball court near the Legion headquarters. M. E. Carkin was selected to represent this district at the American Legion State Conference which will be held in Portland.

DOING OF THE FLYING APES

At the Legion's new club rooms, some 40 members attended the banquet which was served after the regular meeting Monday night, Mar. 9th. Chef-Re-Slum, (Guy Shields) covered himself with everlasting glory and through his wonderful cooking was unanimously given the Royal rank of "Feeder to his Royal nibs," the purple baboon.

While the meeting was in progress some five or six cablegrams and telegrams were received from different notables, high in the military and official world, the cablegrams and wires sounded with congratulations and best wishes from our friends throughout the universe. Doc Hurley acted as toastmaster, and ended with an after dinner speech, entitled "Hit me and take it."

Doc sure can sling a wicked line of talk and would have made Chaney M. Depew feel like a deep sea diver.

Music was furnished by Lindley, who is master on the harp, and some new selections by Tut-Ankh-Amen were enjoyed by the boys.

After the banquet was over the members crowded around Bill Folger who read some interesting items by Professor Curious, entitled cultivating a taste for coconut, and also some chapters from Grimm's fairy tales, William's voice got kinder hoarse towards the end due to the fact that the boys applauded for more torture.

Comrade Scholly gave an interpretation of a butterfly dance, and his faun-like figure, thundering hider and thider, held the crowd in a trance. Lindley music to this dance was marvelous.

Valentine Smith sang, "When shall we meet again," and Monk McGraw, who had fell asleep, woke up, and yelled, March 23rd.

Bill Bealls gave a serious talk on "The manner which the Legion member should conduct himself on foreign soil," this talk was enjoyed by the flyers, even if not understood, his gestures were marvelous.

Jack Carkin, who holds the rank of Hinky-dink-Gorilla, held a debate with McGraw on "The pusillanimity of the cat family," and this debate was progressing along fine when interrupted by one of the flying apes getting his front feet caught on the wire attached to the stove pipe. First aid was administered by Gene Shipman.

Art Whitteker donated the bunch all day suckers, and as these were kinder hard on the teeth, we have a bunch who paid for them.

Pete Zanotta and Lincoln gave the gang a treat doing some fancy stunts on roller skates, and their act was applauded fine until they ran over one of the smaller apes front foot, which resulted in a free for all. The supreme ape, Lee Schawub, came out of the brawl a bit injured, monk Schooley's foot began to fly around, the accident occurred when Schooley's foot contacted with Schawub's elbow.

Art Whitteker was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and will proceed at once to sally forth and capture enough material to use in the famous production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which we hope the boys will show here at Vernonia before long. Bon-Jour—

Mrs. Reed Holding and children of Natel, were Tuesday shoppers in Vernonia.

HAIR, WHERE THE HAIR OUGHT TO GROW

It is very seldom that a newspaper will comment in any stage of optimism over a product or business to the extent of "free publicity." Circumstances have, at times, swayed the decision from strict ethics, and this week we feel we are justified in mentioning as a news item, the fact that a Vernonia man seems on the verge of putting "Vernonia" before the eyes of the world. Now you have read of all kinds of "Hair Restorers," you have seen pictures of bald heads "before and after taking," but at last through countless ages of attempts, trials and only partial success, it now seems that Mr. Soden, of Vernonia, can stand on the top step and shout "Eureka." After thorough experiments, the remedy and treatment will and does actually grow hair on bald heads. We know it; we have seen it proven, and Vernonia people, once bald, can truthfully testify to the merits and the guaranteed results. Mr. Soden has refused to sell a bottle of the mixture at any price. He guards it better than he does his pocket book. His first satisfaction will be the knowledge of all people that he gets the results sure and absolute and that his is the only sure hair grower known to him. No bald head too bald. Seeing is believing and there are people who have seen. Mr. Soden says: "No hair, no money, and the hair first." But he is not yet ready to put the article on the market. If some enterprising Vernonia man will now invent a process to grow teeth, we will doll up for the Rose Festival.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON "SUCKER LISTS"

"Ever since I bought that $500 electric company bond, Aunt Emmy," said Helen, "I have been pestered by all sorts of bond salesmen to buy other things. I should like to invest again, but I am bewildered. Every day or so I see something that sounds so good. But I don't know what to do."

"That reminds me," said Aunt Emmy, fishing through her work-basket and taking out some clippings from her needle book. "I have an article from a magazine that will help. The writer gave some questions to make a bond salesman answer in writing and said that if the salesman were on the square he would answer the questions satisfactorily. Here they are," and Aunt Emmy began to read:

"1. Will my bank say that the house which is offering the security is reputable?"

"2. Give an exact description of the security?"

"3. What provision is made for paying off this and other securities of the company?"

"4. What is the nature of the business of the company?"

"5. How much of a margin did the company earn annually over all its depreciation and interest charges for each of the last ten years?"

"6. What dividends has the company paid on its stock for each of the last ten years?"

"7. What are the company's total assets and liabilities and has it sufficient funds to carry on its business?"

"8. What are the experience and reputation of the men controlling and operating the company?"

"Then the next thing to do is to go to your banker and let him check up all this information for you," added Aunt Emmy. "Now that you know your name is on a 'sucker list' be doubly careful."

"What's a 'sucker list,' Auntie?"

"It is a list of the names of people who have purchased securities or acquired about them. Such lists are bought by so-called investment brokerage houses all over the country. Lots of bad securities are sold through unscrupulous brokers writing to the names on those lists."

"Oh, that's it, is it?" exclaimed Helen. "I suppose the poor people are flattered at getting such letters. I know I was."

"Just so," Aunt Emmy said, with a smile.—Anne B. Aymes.

HOW BANKERS HELP

Seventeen students are securing an education in the Georgia State College of Agriculture through financial aid which the State Bankers Association is giving. In 1923 the Association increased its annual dues so as to contribute toward the education of boys and girls in club work who could not otherwise receive a higher education. This year, therefore, $1,000 was put into a trust fund with the College to be loaned to students who need help. It was placed in what is known as the "Ex-President's Fund," a fund which has been receiving voluntary contributions from the retiring presidents of the Bankers Association since 1915. In amount the fund is now $7,157. Fifty students have been helped prior to this year, making a total of sixty-seven.

If you have money to invest this year, bear in mind the local mill or bank, or creamery, or quarry, or any local industry that can employ labor or capital. Why send your money out of your sight, to help build another community, when it ought to be working at home where it was raised?
