Editorial

When Vice-President Dawes took the oath of office and startled the country with a speech lambasting the U. S. Senate for loafing on the job, the senators gave him the horse-laugh. Most all of them but Senator Capper, a newspaper man, of Kansas. Now Capper is giving out interviews to prove that Dawes was right, and also to prove something that practically every taxpayer around Vernonia knows—and that is that more time is wasted in idle discussion and filibustering in the U. S. Senate than is wasted by any other body of men in the world. Capper sits in that body, and he knows what he is talking about when he declares that there is a shameless waste of the people's money during every session by men who depend upon their mouths and their physical endurance to kill legislation they are opposed to. Dawes may have incurred the enmity of the senators when he lashed them with his tongue. But the sensible ones, like Arthur Capper, and the people back home, like a good many we could point to right around here, were pretty sure that it was coming to them and that Dawes knew what he was talking about.

E. E. Hayes, shrewd business man, big, liberal, hearty; a man with superb administrative ability, a leader, loyal and true, has resigned his position at The Oregon-American mill at Vernonia. Since the establishment of the biggest mill of its kind in the world, at this place, Mr. Hayes has been Superintendent in charge. He has put in much time and study, he has seen the successful starting and operating of the immense institution—he has paid no attention to petty troubles or to his own health and happiness. He needs rest and, as we hear, he intends to take that rest for awhile or suffer dire consequences. Vernonia hopes that Mr. Hayes will continue to call this his home. All would like to see him in private business here where he, as all good men, are needed. For him and his estimatable family we wish all prosperity, success and happiness.

We see where Mr. Judd Greenman, of Olympia, a very prominent and experienced western mill and timber man has arrived to "take over the management" of the big O.-A. plant. Vernonia welcomes Mr. Greenman, Vernonia wants him to feel at home; to meet us and to feel confident that the latch-string is hanging out on every firm's door. Vernonia will welcome his presence, his participation in civic affairs, and his advice in town advancement.

Cottage Grove tax money shall provide convenience only for those who are residents thereof. That is the policy being adopted by the city council. It already has taken the position that it will make no further extensions of its water lines to property outside the city limits. It probably will also soon announce a date upon which water service will be discontinued to those now receiving it outside the city limits. It was found during the past week that one of the city lights was upon property that was a distance outside the city limits. It was ordered to a position within the city limits where there has been a demand for a light. The reason given by a number living outside the city for not coming into the city is that the tax rate is too high. City lights are provided by taxation upon the property of the city and the water system by bonds guaranteed by the taxable property of the city. The council is taking the position that those who are not willing to join in bearing the burden are not entitled to the conveniences provided by the taxable property of the city.—Sentinel.

I once knew a man who declared that a newspaper of his town had "hounded him for years," and who carried a pistol with a view of shooting the editor. Being interested in newspaper work, I looked up the case, and found that the accused newspaper had almost never mentioned the man, and never discreditably. The editor's offending was that he had not freely given his space to praise the man. There was actually no reason why the editor should have done this, as the man was of small importance, and did nothing legitimately to attract the attention of reporters. . . . Most newspaper hatreds are like this: editors are hated because they do not print more free notices, Newspapers appear day after day, and when a citizen observes that he is not mentioned, he becomes resentful. He decides that he is as good as, or better, than many of those who are mentioned and praised, and in many cases, begins carrying a pistol to use on the editor, and declares he is being "hounded." . . . A town I am familiar with has one of the fairest, most enterprising and useful newspapers I know; yet there is more clamor in that town for a new paper than in any other I know.—Ed. Howe.

We take our hats off to the success and rapid building of the boosting city of Longview. Now the "city that Vision Built," is to have more lumber manufacturing plants equaling in capacity the present mills. The Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., will build in Longview.

Men and Money

Make This Bank
Secure

THERE are two ways of measuring the strength and standing of a bank. In the first place money resources—capital and surplus—give it financial strength.

In the second place—and perhaps even more important—are men, the officers and directors. They give the bank character, determine and execute its policies.

This is a strong bank, a helpful bank because it has ample resources, and a personal of proven character and ability.
