Of Interest to YOU!

—because it concerns your daily food—BREAD

If you have not yet done so, get that loaf of Mother's Bread today—cut into it and notice how white it is; smell of it and note the sweet, nutty smell and, since "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," eat a slice and determine for yourself its fine flavor and what a tender crust it has and that it has been baked through thoroughly.

The next morning use it for toast and see how nicely it browns and what a fine flavor it has after toasting.

A recent slight change in our formula enables us to assure you beyond a doubt that Mother's Bread will toast as well as any bread on the market, and a fair trial will convince you of that fact.

You need the bread we need the business—start using Mother's Bread today. Ask for it by name—Mother's Bread—and be sure you get it.
