"REDBREAST"
 Robin Redbreast is one of the anticipated signs of spring. His name was given him as a result of the tradition that one of his feathered ancestors plucked a thorn from the crown of thorns which the Master wore on the way to Golgotha. The thorn popularly was believed to have dripped a red stain on robin's breast, which all his posterity have worn since that time.

NOTES OF INTEREST OF VERNONIA HIGH SCHOOL

The Junior Prom held Saturday night, May 2, in the high school gym, was the most formal social event of the season. The gym was beautifully decorated with red and white crepe paper floating around in the atmosphere with a red balloon hanging just far enough from the floor so that it was just a good jump from its peaceful place to the hands of its admirers. The music was furnished by the Lester orchestra. There was a great display of pretty gowns. A maize colored taffeta dress was worn by Lena Gibson, Louise Lester wore a peacock blue taffeta dress, Gladys Krinick and Theresa Bays had beautiful changeable taffeta gowns, Margaret Smith, a coral satin-faced crepe dress, Leatha Poynter wore an apricot crepe de chine, Mildred Bergerson, Opal Hall and Shella Williams wore printed silk dresses, Lois and Louise Malmstein and Lola Nance wore black canton crepe dresses, Lora Smith wore an attractive pink crepe trimmed with white fur, Amy Hughes wore a Nile green crepe.

School was dismissed Friday afternoon in respect for the memory of Mr. Thos. Pettijohn, a member of the high school board, whose funeral was held in the Evangelical church at three o'clock.

The civics class is busy writing papers on civic topics. Altogether there will be twenty papers, seven of which have been written. The papers when finished will make a brief on civil government.

Students who reported at school after being ill with the flu are: Burford Wilkerson, Jessie George, Dudley Spencer and Chrisella Grill.

The boys who received letters in the district track meet were: Carl Fowler, discus; Thor Roberts, 440; Loel Roberts, one-half mile; Ray Mills, pole vault; Loel Heiber, hurdles; Ray Mills, high point man with 16 points.

Glenn Hawkins, Ida May Hawkins, Russel Mills, Eva Crowder, Lena Wiles, Theresa Bayes and Robert Hoffman are absent this week on account of the flu.

The band boys have been brushing up for the concert next Friday. The program is arranged so that no time will be lost between numbers, but will run off smoothly, with every minute full of high class entertainment. Mr. Bush will also put a comedy on the screen.

The track and basketball teams had their pictures taken Monday.

William Folger, of the Vernonia Drug company, donated a beautiful cup to the high school winning the district track meet. It is a silver urn-shaped cup, engraved and lined with gold. It stands about 20-inches high on a black ebony base.

The Junior boys worked Thursday and Friday evening decorating the gym for the prom held on Saturday night. Even the girls appreciated or were surprised at their taste in carrying out the color scheme of scarlet and white.

Through a slight error in last weeks paper we quoted Grandma Spencer as going to Portland to keep house for her son Omar, while Mrs. Laura Spencer and daughter Helen were visiting in Los Angeles, but at a later date we are informed that it was Aunt Sally Spencer who made the trip, but that she did not go to keep house, only for a visit, and the greatest thing that she did while in the metropolis was to make those big fine biscuits and delicious hot cakes that she is so well noted for.

Fashion Smiles on Trimmed Millinery

Fashion has fallen in love with trimmings, in spring and summer millinery—so much so that even the tailored hat refuses to do without adornments. All the flowers that bloom in the spring, summer and autumn contribute their joyous colors and delicacy to all sorts of hats, but flowers never come into the world of fashion unattended, ribbons and laces always accompany them.

A little study of the three hats shown here—typical of the mode—will reveal that headwear, like all other apparel, is growing more dainty and more elaborate. Except for the plain felt sports hat, in high colors, or white, about everything in millinery is trimmed one way or another and even on these felts, clusters of flowers or flat rosettes of ribbon are used in the dressier types of sports hats.

There is a pretty fad for wearing a button-hole bouquet of flowers to match those on the hat, or at least including a flower like those in the hat trimming. Sometimes this small nosegay is attached to the hat by a length of very narrow ribbon, one end sewed in the head size and the other tied to the boutonniere. Or a cluster of flowers is worn on the cuff or lapel of the coat.

Business men who desire to carry over their stocks to another season do not need to advertise them.
