Character then is ours to make.
Therefore, one of the essential elements that goes to complete a life or make it worthwhile is that we keep our character above reproach.
Keep clean, physically, clean thinking, clean in our conversation.

My dear friends, you who compose the class of 1925 of the Vernonia high school are soon to take your place in the affairs of life. In other words you are going to play a part in life's great drama, and I am confident that you want to play your part well. Upon you and each of you rest responsibilities which, if carried rightly, will bless your life and bring a final reward. I bring to you this motto that I think is in keeping with the occasion which we today celebrate. "You have crossed the bar; the ocean lies before you." The college doors open to you; embrace the opportunity. More fully qualify yourselves to meet and work out the problems of life. First, you will be responsible for the manner in which you live. You will also be responsible for your natural and acquired talents. One might have a bright and penetrating genius; another a discerning judgment; a third an eloquent tongue; a fourth a flaming intellect and a fifth a vivid and fertile imagination. One has acquired exclusive knowledge, while others may be more intimate with the wonders of nature or the discoveries of art. For all of these we are responsible. Use them then my friends, to help others.

Responsible for our Influence.
Responsible for our Privilege.
Responsible for our Time.
Privilege.—How numerous are these and therein lies our revelation our duty toward our fellow men.
The right use of educational advantages for the uplift of humanity.
"Influence.—That is power to affect others and this is possessed more or less by every human being.
"Our Time.—That is the blood of Jesus Christ; the most precious blessing we possess, are seed time; or our period of probation, are only days of preparation for the scenes of a solemn eternity. It is wonderful when we think that on this short span hangs everlasting results.
"To Whom Responsible.—Be true to yourselves, to God and to your fellow man; have the courage to face problems and tackle them. Life is development. We cannot stand still.
I could fit no wise close this address without referring you to the standard of life, the great book of God and commend you to the love of his son who has become our Savior and friend.

To Class Alone.
You have come to the week of your graduation. You are going forth from the high school into the world. The world into which you go is one of complex forces and problems. Force was never so forceful and never so complex and problems never so perplexing as the problems which concern existence. They concern a relationship of man-to-man.
These problems you are to understand. You are to go forth as human beings, great, strong, high in purpose, having patience yet free from rashness, of tireless patience of undying determination to do your part toward making a better and conditions more agreeable. May you not merely halt at a high school education, but may you seek the halls of higher learning, fitting and qualifying yourself more thoroughly for the world and its problems.
