"CHARGE IT"

(By Dr. J. W. Holland.)

A lady whose husband has a moderate income stood in a department store. When the dress was brought she said, "Charge It."

A young husband stood in a garage ready to sign the contract for a car that he could get along well without. He mortgaged his home for the first payment, and arranged the remainder of the installment plan, paying about 16 per cent for his money. "Charge It."

A city wanted some improvements to meet the pace set by another city which went into debt. They issued bonds for 50 years for their improvements, so that their grandchildren will finish paying for the improvements long after they are out of date or worn out. "Charge It."

A farmer was getting along very well, but wanted some new buildings. He got the buildings and said,
"Charge It."

A group of world-wide nations started out over a half century ago in commercial rivalries. Finally a dispute arose, and they brought on a war which is called "The World War." Ten million boys and men were slain. Those nations bonded the next two centuries by their folly. "Charge It."

A young man wanted more pleasures than can legitimately come in the average happy life, so he filled his stomach with moonshine, climbed into a half paid for car, got a dame of the super-lip-stick variety, and speeded nature beyond her limits of safety. He said to his constitution,
"Charge It."

What happened? The husband of the lady in the department store got tired of being in debt for foolishness, laid down the law and his wife left him.

The young husband lost his home which he mortgaged, and became a

Bolshevik because of his foolish debts.

The city wanted other improvements more necessary than those which they had gone into debt for, and so the life of the city had to lag behind her sister cities, while she paid up her debts.

The farmer was compelled to sell his farm at a sacrifice to satisfy the mortgages. He is now in the city as a common laborer in a garage.

The nations that went into debt for folly will burden the great grandchildren of the present generation of babies in trying to repay the war money lenders.

The young fellow who charged his debauchery to his constitution, lost out in the race of life, died of paresis brought on by unmovable disease.

A little book which I often tuck under my pillow at night says this,
"Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." We may "Charge It," and seemingly get by for awhile but PAY DAY always comes.

Often the calamities that come upon us are the "Pay Days" of God when we settle for the things we foolishly "charged."

Debt for necessities is often wise, but debt for vanities and follies and sins, bring on a "Pay Day" that makes man trouble.

Misses Elma and Mable Kullander of Independence visited this week at the home of their brother, A. L. Kull-ander.

Kullander and Misses Elma and Mable Kullander took in the rose show in Portland Tuesday.

Don't Let 'Em "Gyp" You

Doesn't it cost you enough to operate your car as it is without letting "gyp" tire and accessory dealers lure you into their trap?
When we sell you TIRES or TUBES we are not selling "seconds." Every one carries a mileage guarantee—and we are here to make good if the tires don't. If you buy from the cheap mail-order tire and accessory dealers you have to put up with what they send you.

YOU WOULDN'T BE SATISFIED WITH
"SECONDS" IN SUGAR OR MEAT.
WHY NOT BE AS PARTICULAR
ABOUT THE MONEY YOU
SPEND ON TIRES?

We'll Save You Money

on anything that goes on your auto—and we can save you money on repairs. We've a line of the BEST tires and accessories—the kind that are cheapest in the long run because they are BEST in the first-place.
Don't tinker with your car and do something that will make a bigger bill later on—let an expert look after it and save both the life of the car and your money
